FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1874.

The election is now over and the returns flowing in rapidly. Enough has been already received, to prove that Grant and Wilson, the standard bearers of the Republican principles, have been elected by such an overwhelming majority as to strike the opposition dumb and silent.

OSTRACISM.
The meaning of the word which heads this article is too well understood by our readers to require any definition from us; and though we desire not to comment upon the word itself, yet we would through illustrative comments show to the so-called "Northern adventurers" who may have happened by desire, or necessity through past events, to locate themselves in the South for the purpose of gaining an honest livelihood, that they are looked upon by a large portion of the Southern white people as intruders.

By His Excellency, the Governor of North Carolina.
WHEREAS, It is meet and eminent, proper that the people of a great State should return heartfelt thanks to Almighty God for the many privileges and blessings vouchsafed unto them through His infinite mercy and goodness, and by devout prayer and supplication, to seek for a continuance of the same:

the society from whence they came, as we often see it proclaimed in scurrilous communications through the Press, we could not blame them for nursing the idea of exclusiveness, which they may feel toward those who have recently settled here in the South; still it would seem that those possessing education, ability and true gentility together with an honest desire for the prosperity of, not only the South, but the whole nation, might be shown that respect due to Christian virtues. The boasted civility of the Southern people, in connection with their uncharitable acts toward those who may not happen to be born South of Mason's and Dixon's line, does not by any means make them more chivalrous, or more worthy of the esteem of mankind.

The London Standard takes occasion to emit a sample of its venom, while commenting upon the re-election of President Grant, and makes the assertion that neither Grant nor Greeley were fit for President, the Standard may know more about American politics than some of its contemporaries, but we are rather inclined to the opinion that it exhibits a more thorough knowledge of how a newspaper may display its assanine qualities than it does knowledge about an American Presidential election.

THE ORGAN.
It will be observed by our telegraphic dispatches, that Horace Greeley assumes editorial control of the "Tribune" today, which will be no longer "an organ," but an independent paper. We presume this step to be taken in consequence of his overwhelming defeat, and he will now pitch into the Liberals and Democrats "who would not eat crow."

REDEMPTION OF UNUSED STAMPS.
Persons who have documentary stamps on hand, which have been unused, can have them redeemed by sending them to the Internal Revenue Bureau in Washington. The stamps will be sent at the risk and expense of the person sending them. They should be accompanied by an affidavit showing that they have never been used, to whom they belong, and where it is practicable, when and of whom they were procured.

Patents having blank instruments with stamps imprinted thereon which they desire to have redeemed or exchanged, may forward the same to be examined, counted and cancelled. The instruments will be returned to the owner if he requests it, but at his risk and expense. The cancellation will not be such as to render the blanks unfit for use.

By His Excellency, the Governor of North Carolina.
WHEREAS, It is meet and eminent, proper that the people of a great State should return heartfelt thanks to Almighty God for the many privileges and blessings vouchsafed unto them through His infinite mercy and goodness, and by devout prayer and supplication, to seek for a continuance of the same:

By the Governor:
JOHN B. NEATHERY,
Private Secretary.

MANLY DISPOSITION.
The well-known Groton Junction, on the great thoroughfare of the Northern Lines to Boston, has ceased to be. With a large and increasing population, proud as well as prosperous, its citizens, in mass meeting assembled, have voted to change the name of their town to "AYER," after one of the best known men in America, Dr. J. C. AYER, of Lowell; and the Legislature of Massachusetts has enacted this decision into law. We commend their choice, for not only is the name short and distinctive, but Dr. Ayer's Medicines have made it generally known to the end of the earth. Probably no living man has carried relief to such countless multitudes of the sick as he, and this high honor, from his neighbor, tells the estimation in which he is held by those who know him.—Bristol Times.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have frequent headaches, mouth tastes bad, poor appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver or "Biliousness," and nothing will cure you so speedily and permanently as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Sold by all druggists.

A DELECTABLE SORBEZ.—Ladies whose faces are clouded by superficial discolorations, and who have resolved to try HAZEL'S MAGNOLIA BALM as a remedy have no idea of the welcome surprise they will receive from their mirrors after a few applications of this healthful purifier of the complexion. If at all excitable, they will scream with rapture on beholding the change: whether the blemish it is desired to remove be sallowness, blotches, pimples, freckles, roughness, or an unnatural pallor, it is bound to disappear under the tonic operation of this wonderful agent. To say that the blemish disappears, does not, however, convey any idea of the effect produced by this celebrated beautifier. The unsightly tinge, whether diffused over the whole countenance or in spots, or patches, is replaced by a uniform, pearly bloom, to which no description can do justice.

Reasonable Suggestions.
The heavy mists and cold night dews which characterize the present season are very trying to delicate organizations, and in low-lying and swampy localities they produce an enormous crop of intermittent fevers of various types and degrees of intensity. At this very time there are probably half a million of people in the United States suffering from periodical fevers by miasmatic fogs and exhalations. What makes the prevalence of this evil the more deplorable is the fact that it might in all cases be easily prevented. Malaria and damp prostration little or no effect upon the system produced by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Every fall and spring hundreds of letters are received from persons residing in fever and ague districts, who state that while their neighbors are incapacitated for labor by that debilitating disease, they have been happily exempted from attack by the regular use of the great vegetable antidote to miasma. As a choleric or specific for intermittent and remittent fevers the Bitters may be justly accounted infallible. They eradicate the complaints in their most obstinate forms, but the wisest course is to forestall attack by taking the preparation as a preventive. The amount of protracted labor withdrawn from active service during several months in the year by malarial maladies is immense, and the pecuniary losses to individuals, families, and the nation from this cause is incalculable. Bear in mind that by toning and regulating the system with Hostetter's Bitters before the calamity comes, it may always be escaped; and let it also be remembered that indigestion, general debility, biliousness, constipation, nervous complaints, and indeed almost all disturbances and derangements of the physical system are controllable by this genial restorative.
