We have news this morning of another case of paralysis. Augustus W. Steele, a private banker in Fayettevil e, had a stroke the other day, we learn. This is one of several cases that have recently occurred down in that costion. A gentleman in this city attributes its section. A gentleman in this city attributes its cause sometimes to the constant use of a steel ben in writing He says that President Felton of Harvard College, Cambridge, Massachusetts, warned him against the use of a steel pen for this very reason, some ten years ago The professor alleging that the steel pen and the ink form a galvanic battery that shoots a kind of electricity up the arm. - Era.

We have heard before of cases of this kind well as many that have suffered from swellen or varicose veins in the hand. A sure remedy against both of the above diseases is to wrap the iron portion of the pen holder with tape, renewing it from time to time as it becomes unfit for use by being saturated with ink.
The remedy is simple but efficacious.

Goldsmith the enterprising Tobacconist, has "got the start" of our city authorities on the oyster shell question." We not e that he has planted several loads upon the walk fronting his store on South Front Street; but we fear that unless he makes use of a pertle, the pedetentous gentry who wear thin boats will circle around the premises to the detriment of those who ride. We wish our city fathers could read the newspapers as well as Mr. Goldsmith. Let our next city convention assembled to nomin. ate municipal candidates, be bosted as to whether the nominee reads the daily papers n blished in New Berne, in order to know the wants of those who are to vo'e for him. Allen Eubanks, Esq., is another enterprising individual who reads the DAILY TIMES. We notice that he, in his youthful age, is becoming somewhat extravagant—though if be prefers banks knows that mud is much cheaper than brick, but he seems determined that Zung the tailor, on Craven street, shall have a walk suitable to the taste of those who patronize him. Senator King from Lenvir, who is a subscriber for the Times, came to town yesterday and about the first order given by him, was for his man Robert to "pitch in" and make the Club House side walk navigable for those extravagant citizens who prefer a material more It grieves us to note the fact that private citizens who read the Times, are taking advantage of our city fathers in forestalling their good intentions in the noticeable manner exhibited by several parties on yesterday. Since writing the above, it has been sugges ted that if Mr. Goldsmith, the Tobacconist, d. sires to exhibit another act of extravagance, and at the same time obviate the use of a westle. he should turn those ovster shells outside upthen some might think he paved his walk with

WETTER G.

Will it be over to day or to-morrow ! Will it last for a week or a month, or a year This trance that is neither a joy nor a sorrow, This waiting that is not a hope nor a fear !

While I am waiting the end draws near, It will come before I am dead some day; Shall I feel it, I wonder, when it is here? Its coming seems like going away.

It is only that watching has made me weary, And that being weary has made me dream; But in dreams the world is not so dream And in dreams things are not as they seem

And indeed I am not tired yet, I have strength to wait what is vet to see, What the hours I know will not forget, The end of the watch that is set for me.

It is the end that has made me strong, Lest I say when it comes it is come too late Then till it came I should find it long; I have forgotten for what I wait.

Then why are my thoughts bound up to this By a bond that I neither feel nor see, While the world goes by in bale or bliss, Do I think the world keeps watch with me?

And leave no trace in the empty air: When it is over none will know, And I hardly think that I shall care.

A Polygior Business.—The wide-spread in fluence of American skill and enterprise has outs ripped the comprehensions of the Americans themselves. The fabrics of our mills clothe the savages of both continents. They wrap the loins of Africa, and the tawny skins of South American pampas, But wider still are spread the products of our skill in medicines. A late visit to Dr. J. C. AYES & Co.'s laboratory and office in Lowell, showed us that the whole surface of the habitable globe pays its tribute there; there they cater to and serve the requirements of almost all hatlous, Their publications are in the many tongues that wide ly severed peoples use. Their letters must be read from and written in many tongues, for which there sit a long range of correspondents with the indispensible accomplishments for their duties. Their daily mail of half a bushel of letters brings them advices, orders and remittances from the circle of the world.
