Superior Court. The fall term of the Craven County Superior Court, Judge W. J. Clarke presiding, I. E. West, Clark, convened in the Court House yeste: day moraing.

The Judge charged the jury in his usual able marner, after which the court adjourned to meet this morning.

Sober Second Thought. A day or two since a colored boy went gunning and bagged a nice lot of birds. While passing the vicinity of the Depot he was over baoled by a gentleman (an epicure, by the way:) and the birds were purchased.

In due time the birds were put upon the table in the form of a nice pie, and the epicure with gusto, commenced bis meal. He had taken the first mouthful when a terrible thought occurred: The birds perhaps had been killed in the vicinity of Rhems cotton field, where they had probably fed upon the cotton worms, who were being killed with Paris Green, and wasn't it possible that the birds were poiconed. Faugh sputtering out the mouthful not fully mas icated the unfortunate pie was ordered off the table and s good dinner for that day completely spoiled.
