

New Bern Daily Times.

E. HUBBS, Editor. T. A. HENRY, Associate.

Union, Liberty and Equality before the Law.

The Times has been designated as an official organ of the United States.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1873.

Messrs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co., Pettingill & Co., A. Menet, and Dauchy & Co., are our Advertising Agents in New York.

Mr. R. H. GRIFFIN, Newspaper Advertising Agent, No. 4 South Street, Baltimore Md., is duly authorized to contract for Advertisements at our lowest rates. Advertisers in that city are requested to favor their favors with this house.

S. M. PETERSON & Co., 10 State Street, Boston; 27 Park Row, New York, and 701 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, are our Agents for procuring advertisements for the Daily and Weekly Times in the above cities, authorized to contract for advertising at our lowest rates.

It is nearly time to plant compost heaps and set out fence posts. The one to start the next crop with, and the other to preserve it from the stray cattle of your neighbors.

Cotton as a success for a whole crop, is so clearly demonstrated to be a failure this year, that we have some hopes that our planters who have the cotton fever on the brain, will hereafter turn their attention to a variety of crops and raise their own hay, grain and pork, as well as a supply of succulent roots for cattle food.

THE LIFE SAVING STATIONS. The importance of these stations along our coast have been fully tested and their assistance to the shipwrecked mariner has resulted in saving thousands of lives.

The men appointed to them will be all seamen, and selected for their skill and ability as seamen by a competitive examination in seamanship, handling and launching boats, and working rocket batteries, passing lines, &c.

AGRICULTURAL CONTRIBUTIONS SOLICITED.

We propose from time to time to publish agricultural articles in this paper of special interest to our farmers, and would thank any of our readers for contributions on this subject. An editor is not only dependent upon his readers in a great measure for information, but cannot make a good readable paper unless his readers take an interest in furnishing him items of news and samples of their experience in the various occupations which they follow. Short and concise articles are what we and the people require. All such sent us, will be thankfully received and put in proper shape for publication.

FEMALE SOCIETY.

What is it that makes all those men who associate habitually with women superior to others who do not? Solely because they are in the habit of free, graceful, continued conversations with the other sex. Women in this way lose their frivolity, their faculties awaken their delicacies and peculiarities unfold all their beauty and captivation in the spirit of intellectual rivalry. And men lose their pedantic, rude, declamatory, or sullen manner. The coin of the understanding and the heart changes continually. Their asperities are rubbed off, their better materials polished and brightened and their richness, like the gold, is wrought into finer workmanship by the fingers of women than it ever could be by those of men. The iron and steel of their characters are hidden, like the character and armor of a giant, by studs and knots of precious stones, when they are not wanted in actual warfare.

The following letter from Judge Watts to the Era, we commend to some of our friends of the legal profession, with this inquiry: Which will more conduce to the material prosperity of their neighbors, the devotion of their leisure to the pursuits of agriculture or to partisan politics? One of North Carolina's most able jurists was also the best farmer in the State.

The following is the letter: "To the Editor of the Era: 'I have seen several notices in the State papers concerning my cotton. I have made no publication in regard to it myself, nor have I authorized any. I have entered four varieties, and will have it on exhibition at the State Fair, when and where all can see it. I think my two varieties, Continental and Deckacarp, with proper care in cultivation, on highly improved land, will make 4 bales to the acre.

The Continental is a large plant and prolific bearer—will average 100 bolls of the stalk planted at a distance of 3 feet each way. This plant was imported from a tropical climate three years ago, and amalgamated with the Eureka variety.

"The Deckacarp, or Twin Tripple variety, is the offspring of three varieties planted together for three years, to wit: Eureka, Sugar Loaf and Leach cotton. This cotton grows on a stalk about 32 inches high, has no limbs, cotton makes its appearance on stems from 4 to 6 inches long, each stem has from 4 to 6 bolls, and each boll is double or twin, frequently treble. The cotton from this variety is very heavy, turning out 40 pounds of lint to the 100 pounds of seed cotton.

"My reason for publishing this communication is to inform my friends that I can supply them with the Continental in small quantities, and Eureka, the parent of the Deckacarp, by the bushel. The Eureka may also be called the Peatateuch, meaning five lobes to the boll. "Truly yours, S. W. Watts."

State Agt Journal.

The Baltimore American, always high-toned and sensible in its political utterances, truthfully says that the campaign in this State is becoming lively and somewhat violent, the "invocation to voters in the Democratic papers having an exaggerated, blood-and-thunder military style about them that would be absolutely ridiculous outside of Virginia. One of the ways of preparing for the election, which takes place on Tuesday, the 4th proximo, is by forming Kemper Campaign Clubs, a kind of organization whose alliterative title brings forcibly to mind that other of the three K's, which has done such good service for the Conservative cause in the South since the war. As the object of the party is to make the election a contest between the races, the selection of the initials quoted, and with which all the calls for meetings are headed, is very suggestive. We had hoped Virginia was done, with this foolishness and would make a square fight on political grounds."

A PROCLAMATION.

By the President of the United States of America.

The approaching close of another year brings with it the occasion for renewed thanksgiving and acknowledgment to the Almighty Ruler of the Universe for the unnumbered mercies which He has bestowed upon us.

Abundant harvests have been among the rewards of industry. With local exceptions health has been among the many blessings enjoyed. Tranquility at home and peace with other nations have prevailed. Frugal industry is regaining its merited recognition and its merited rewards.

Gradually, but, under the providence of God, surely, as we trust, the nation is recovering from the lingering results of a dreadful civil strife.

For these and all the other mercies vouchsafed, it becomes us as a people to return heartfelt and grateful acknowledgments, and with our thanksgiving for blessings we may unite prayers for the cessation of local and temporary sufferings.

I, therefore, recommend that on Thursday, the twenty-seventh day of November next, the people meet in their respective places of worship, to make their acknowledgments to Almighty God for His bounties and His protection, and to offer to Him prayers for their continuance.

In witness whereof I have herewith set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington this 14th day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three, and of the independence of the United States the ninety-seventh.

U. S. GRANT.

By the President: HAMILTON FISH, Secretary of State.

Death Warrant of Jesus Christ.

"Chance," says the Courier des Etats Unis, "has just put into our hands the most imposing and interesting judicial document to all Christians that has ever been recorded in human annals, that is, the original death warrant of Jesus Christ." The document was faithfully transcribed by the editor in these words:

Sentence rendered by Pontius Pilate, acting Governor of Lower Galilee, stating that Jesus of Nazareth shall suffer on the cross. In the year seventeen of the Emperor Tiberius Cæsar, and the 27th day of March, in the city of the holy Jerusalem, Anna and Capita being priests, sacrificator of the people of God—Pontius Pilate, Governor of Lower Galilee, sitting in the Presidential chair of the Prætorium, condemns Jesus of Nazareth to die on the cross between two thieves—the great and notorious voice of the people saying:

- 1. Jesus is a seducer. 2. He is re ligious. 3. He is an enemy of the law. 4. He calls himself, falsely, the Son of God. 5. He entered into the temple, followed by a multitude bearing palm branches in their hands.

Order the first centurion, Quilnus Cornelius, to lead him to the place of execution. Forbid any person, whomsoever, rich or poor, to interfere with the death of Jesus Christ.

The witnesses who signed the condemnation of Jesus are:

- 1. Daniel Robani, a Pharisee. 2. Joanna Robani. 3. Raphael Robani. 4. Capen, a citizen.

Jesus shall go out of the city of Jerusalem through the gate Stryenes. The above sentence is engraved on copper; on one side are written the words: "A similar plate is sent to each tribe." It was found in an antique vase of white marble, while excavating in the ancient city of Aquila, in the Kingdom of Naples, in the year 1810, and was discovered by the Commissioners of Art of the French armies. The French translation was made by the Commissioner of Art. The original is in the Hebrew language.

A Thrilling Adventure with a Snake.

Yesterday a family residing on Market street were alarmed by the cries of a servant in the yard, and upon going out she stated that a large snake was protruding its head from an open space between the ceiling and weatherboarding of the house. They looked in the direction indicated just in time to see his snakeship, who had become frightened, inverting its position and ascending the ceiling. The servant stated that when she first discovered the reptile a little child belonging to the family was striking it on the head with a bone which he held in his hand, while the venomous creature was twisting its head to and fro and protruding its fangs as if in the greatest anger.

She immediately sprang to the child, snatched it away and shrieked for help. The child, upon being questioned, said he thought the snake was a piece of his mother's carpet. A portion of the weather boarding was subsequently removed from the house for the purpose of discovering the serpent, but at last accounts he had not been found. The family were naturally very much alarmed, and will continue to be to some extent until his snakeship can be found and despatched. The family saw the snake distinctly as it was going up the ceiling.—Wil. Star 29th.
