

THE WILSONS BOUNCED.

Last week Governor Russell forwarded to Messrs. J. W. and S. Otho Wilson his letter of formal dismissal from their offices as Railway Commissioners. As our readers well know they were charged of complicity in fraud by Governor Russell and his man Friday, Marion Butler. Their dismissal is a surprise to no one, for it was agreed upon from the beginning that this would be the final verdict of the Governor and his man Friday.

The matter will be tested in the courts and no matter which side loses the other will carry the matter up to the United States Supreme Court, if necessary. Maj. Wilson's reply to Governor Russell is very unique, to say the least, and we give it as follows: "Your favor of the 23rd is hereby acknowledged. In reply will say I shall disregard your order to suspend, but will continue to do business at the old stand until removed by a tribunal other than a self-constituted star chamber." Otho Wilson simply made acknowledgement of the letter addressed to him, without any remark or comment. His answer to a reporter who interviewed him upon the matter and asked him this question: "What will you do when Senator Butler comes to you to explain?" To which Otho replied: "Mash his mouth, and I have already sent him word to that effect."

Railroad Commissioner Abbott says: "The charges against my associates on the commission are so frivolous that they can only be made from political motives." It is further asserted that the Governor is weakening in his case and expects to come out loser in the end.

The Governor has appointed Messrs. John H. Pearson of Burke and L. C. Caldwell of Iredell to serve out the unexpired terms of J. W. Wilson and Otho Wilson, respectively. According to a wag, and this expresses it very well, "Pearson is a Russell democrat and Caldwell is a Butler populist." As to the first we know very little about, but we are well acquainted with Caldwell, and we have no doubt but that the populists of this county remember him very well from the caustic campaign he waged against them and Bill Teague in this county in '94. He is a renegade of the bitterest type, and this goes a long way with the gang who holds the reins of State government, and this perhaps, was considered in the appointment.

It is perfectly apparent to every ordinary reasoner that the reason the two Wilsons were removed, were not so much because they were, by certain arrangements, disqualified to act without prejudice in the discharge of their duties, but it was because Governor Russell and his man Friday could not wrap them around their finger like so much cloth. They want men whose every action they can boss. Whether or not they can boss the new men, remains to be seen, provided however they ever get to be Railway Commissioners.

The Governor has certainly run against snags a great number of times for the period he has been in the gubernatorial chair, and this one promises, from present indications, to be the most serious one he has yet encountered.

We are sorry to lose brother T. G. Cobb who has so ably edited the Morganton Herald for some time, and hope our loss will be his gain. To Mr. J. W. Count, his successor we extend our hand and welcome him among the poor.

The State bank of the city of Davenport, Nebraska, closed its doors a few days ago because it could not find borrowers for its surplus. The reason the banks in this part of the country close their doors is because the bank can't find its borrowers, and cashiers. There is a great difference between the banks of Nebraska and those of this country.

The situation in the yellow fever districts are becoming alarming. The daily papers bring in reports just a little worse than the day previous. 'Tis true that the different health officers are handling the epidemic with consummate skill but with all their skill and all their precautions "yellow jack" has a firm foothold in Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama that nothing but the propitious touch of "jack frost" will eradicate. It has blocked the wheels of commerce and stagnated business wherever it has made its appearance. We, who live in this God favored section where we are in no danger of such a pestilence don't know how much we are really indebted to an Alwise providence.

The penitentiary management is so terribly inefficient, that the question for some days past, has been seriously considered to lease the whole business out. Day by day the State debt through this channel is being increased. They came into office in this institution with nearly $100,000.00 in money and supplies to their credit, and a month or more ago that large amount had "taken wings and flown" to the four corners of the earth. And a debt of $13,000.00 per month is now being contracted, and yet in the face of this some of the directors assert that the penitentiary "was about self-sustaining." Mr. Leazer the efficient ex-superintendent proposed to take this institution off of the State's hands for ten years, and give any kind of bond they might desire, and that said institution should not cost the State one cent. But this did not suit the political henchmen throughout the State, and the proposition was rejected. They wanted the penitentiary "in politics," just as they have every other State institution for the purpose of debauchery, pillage and plunder. The management is inefficient, and that's the end of it.

The Grandest Remedy.

Mr. R. B. Greeve, merchant of Chatham, Va., certifies that he had consumption, was given up to die, sought all medical treatment that money could procure, tried all such remedies he heard of, but got no relief until many nights sitting up in a chair, was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery, and was cured by use of two bottles. For past three years has been attending to business, and says Dr. King's New Discovery is the grandest remedy ever made, as it has done so much for him and also for others in his community. Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed for Coughs, Colds and Consumption. It don't fail. Trial bottles free at T. R. Abernethy's Drug Store.

Near Home.

Yellow fever is getting so near home now as to alarm some of the natives.

A gentleman, whose name we withhold by request, who came in this morning, tells us that a yellow fever patient attempted to evade quarantine regulations yesterday and get to a higher country. He had succeeded in boarding a freight and had gotten as far as midway between Charlotte and Columbia when it was discovered that he was not only from the yellow fever district, but that he was a victim himself of the fever. It did not take the train force long after making this discovery, to get him off the train and make provisions for his comfort elsewhere. Our informant did not remember the station at which the gentleman in question was put off, but it was probably nearer Columbia than Charlotte.

We are told by a gentleman who came in last night for Atlanta that there is no need for alarm in that city. Every possible precaution has been observed in warding off the contagion and those intimate with the situation do not apprehend any danger.

Was Soon Feeling Better

"For three years I was troubled with my heart and liver. I was run down in health and could hardly walk, I was so weak. I tried many medicines and finally bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was soon feeling better, and after taking a few more bottles I was strong and able to work." W. J. Harris, Cloverdale, Va.

For Infants and Children.

WASHINGTON ITEMS.

Can a Senator or member of Congress live in Washington on his salary? The answer to the question depends upon the man to whom it is addressed. Senator Elkins of West Virginia, who lives in a palace on K street, where the furnishings of the bath room alone would cost almost a year's salary, would say that the $5,000 that the government pays a Senator is but a drop in the bucket. So would Senator McMillan, whose income from his great lumber, manufacturing, and railroad interests, is to his salary as the top of Pike's Peak is to the Nebraska prairie. There are other Senators like Hale and Wetmore whose establishments could not be run on their salaries three months in the year. In fact there are very few Senators to whom the salary is really an important and a vital factor of their position.

It costs more for a Senator to live in Washington than for a Representative. His social position is more pronounced, and if he is married and house keeping, the demands of society upon him are very great. Sometimes a Senator will go to a hotel to save money. Hotel life is also chosen for other reasons. Senator Hanna sent to a hotel because he hoped that Congress would be through by April or May, and because a house would be unnecessary if something should drop in Ohio next fall. Senator Platt, of New York, lives at a hotel because his wife is not well enough to undertake the duties of housekeeping, and Senator Platt, of Connecticut, likes a hotel because but as he has lived in a hotel all his life, one would have to go too far back for any genuine information on the question. Opinions differ as to whether it is cheaper to live in a hotel that to keep house. It all depends upon the hotel.

Some of the Senators live within their salaries and save money. They shun society, and ride in cars instead of in carriages, and neither give or attend dinners. These, however, are the exceptions. A Senator cannot as a rule, live on the salary which the government pays him.

Col. Mulberry Sellers wasn't in it with his patent eyewash along side of the plan of Senator Wilson, of Washington for making money. "Why don't we raise goats?" ask the brier young Senator from Washington.

And there is reason to the Senator's question. The United States imports millions of dollars worth of goatskins every year. The skins come mainly from India, China and South America, and good yellow American gold goes into those countries, which might be kept at home. "Goats" says Mr. Wilson, "are easy to raise they increase rapidly. They are hardy, and every goat skin is worth a dollar and a half. Why is it that we do not raise goats? There isn't a goat in this country that I know of, and yet it seems to me that the industry ought to be profitable. We raise sheep, but sheep are an uncertain quality, being liable to disease, easily killed by severe storms, and requiring great attention if their fleeces is to command a high price."

No charge is made for this suggestion of business like Senator from Washington. Goat raising is now in order.

Before the winter sets in Washington will be better able to resist an attack by water, in case of war, than any other city in the country. Much progress has lately been made in the work of securing the capital from successful attack from sea, and in a few months this city will be thoroughly protected by fortifications constructed down the river. Since last February three powerful 10 inch caliber guns have been mounted. Five 10 inch guns will complete the defenses. The guns are mounted behind massive walls of concrete seventy feet thick, and command the river for five miles on each side of the fort so that a ship would be under heavy fire for at least ten miles. The shipment and mounting of the last two have been conducted with the utmost secrecy. The government is keeping the actual strength of the fortifications a secret, especially from attaches of foreign legations who are always looking for military information in this country. By autumn the new fortress at Fort Washington will be ready for a garrison, and later Fort Sheridan on the opposite side of the river, will be equipped. Fort Monroe on the bay is also nearing a defensive condition.

Around Forts Washington and Sheridan, besides the guns, will be the magnificent system of submarine mines and torpedoes already provided for. The sub-marine for the electric apparatus to discharge the torpedoes and batteries and powder mines has now been placed in readiness and torpedoes could be planted in the mines and worked on a weeks notice of war. No city in the world has been as easily defended, the engineer and ordnance officers say, than this, owing to the channel and the narrowness of the river at the new fortifications.

Every grower of oranges who comes to Washington finds an object of great reverence when he visits the hot houses at the Department of Agriculture. That object is no less than the parent of all the naval orange trees that grow in the United States. In the history of agriculture there is no plant more widely known or more greatly revered than this tree at the Department of Agriculture. Twenty-five years ago Superintendent William Saunders ordered a dozen orange trees from Bahia, Brazil. They were said to bear fruit of excellent quality and seedless. When they arrived after their long voyage, which in that day was not made as quickly as it could be now, two of them were living. Only one of these survived after being planted. Mr. Saunders thought it would be a good thing to see if these trees could be grown in California and Florida. He sent out, under the name of the Bahia naval orange, a few trees grafted from the parent still living, to Mrs. Tibbitts, at Riverside, Calif. Shortly after that what was known as the Riverside naval orange appeared. It produced a finer fruit than had ever been secured from the orange tree in the United States. It was at once taken up by other fruit growers of Calif., whose spirit of enterprise caused them to change its name, in order that Riverside should not get too much credit through its excellence. They called it the Washington naval orange, and they boomed it as only enterprising Californians could. Ever since that time the naval orange has been regarded by fruit dealers every where as par excellence.

Something to know.

It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centres in the stomach, gently stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50c or $1.00 per bottle at T. R. A Kick That Means Something.

Mr. J. S. Leonard of Statesville who was a candidate for postmaster at that place, but was beaten by Pomp Long writes a long wall of lamentation to the Winston Republican of which the following is an extract:

"Those surrounding the pie counter, who have been able with their strong arms to draw the bulk under the shadow of their wings, we will mention as follows: The clerk of the United States Court, who has held a lucrative office for about twenty years, is still doing business at the old stand, and has lately 'taken another horse' by adding to his business that pertaining to the office of United States commissioner. This gives him two offices, and if Uncle Sam has any more to distribute he could perhaps handle as many more. He employs Democratic clerks exclusively and yet he professes to be such an inveterate hater of civil service that he curses it backwards.

His chief clerk is a genteel young man, and it has been suggested by the Reps. of Statesville that a petition might be circulated to have him made clerk, preferring straight goods, all wool and a yard wide, in the name of a Democrat rather than a shoddy cotton Republican in name only.

The next to come in is the clerk of the Superior Court, who was elected by the Republicans and Populists (I redell county jointly). He uses one clerk only and I am informed that he is a straight Democrat, brought in from a good family of an adjoining county. There are some fine business young men—both Republicans and Populists—in this county, but they can't as much see the tracks where the mighty Republican Populist Santer passed along last election.

The third to come in is our worthy postmaster of Statesville. When he was appointed quite a number of the best Republicans of the town made application for position as clerks, but not a single resident of the town got a place except his son, who, I suppose, about thirteen or fourteen years old. He brought his chief clerk from McDowell county. The postmaster is custodian of the public building and the janitor appointed by him is a first rate politician of color, who, I am informed by his race, has figured largely in the past for the success of the Democratic party.

The fourth is the stamp clerk, who deals out revenue stamps to distillers, tobacco manufacturers, &c. He is a native of the extreme western part of the State, is a true blue Republican and was appointed over the heads of four applicants of this county who are as loyal to the party as Collector Harkins dare be, and some of them voted for Grant in the days when many of those who are now getting pie thought the name Republican was a stench in the nostrils of decent humanity.

Gov. Russell has made two appointments in the town of Statesville—both Democrats—one of which made it convenient to inform the writer a few days after the election that he had taken a lot of colored Republicans to the country on the day of the election and purposely kept them away from the polls until it was too late to vote. Of course the Governor was not aware of this fact and I suppose the appointment was made by the recommendation of one of a family famous for seeking office for themselves and their kindred.

These facts give the readers of the Republican a faint idea of how the conscientious Republicans of this county are being treated by those who are "in it for the money," as some of them have expressed themselves. While the writer feels that he will incur the displeasure of those to whom he has reference, he also feels that this may be a warning to them to smother their ways before it is everlastingly too late.

The sterling Republicans of this section have, in the past, been rather modest and quiet as touching the recognition which they have merited, but they are more aroused as their just dues at the present than ever before, and were a meeting to be held at this time to appoint political representatives I have my doubts as to whether one of our so-called leaders of this town could be appointed an alternate to the most insignificant convention imaginable. The outcome of all this discontent will amount to the disintegration of the party or the upheaval of a few who are "in it for the money."

[We know of a number of just such instances in this county but it is a fight that is peculiarly their own and we have no part in them but that of an interested spectator.]

Caring for the Teeth

Do not eat, or do not feed your children on, white bread, which is deficient in phosphate, and causes the teeth to crumble. A little hard food requiring thorough mastication, should be taken at every meal. The teeth should be brushed both night and morning. Avoid sweets. Drink at least two quarts of water a day—a glass the first thing in the morning another the last thing before going to bed, the remaining quantity between meals. Consult a good dentist about every six months.—October Ladies' Home Journal.

It is Thought by Many when the Creator said to woman "in sorrow shalt thou bring forth children," that a curse was pronounced, but the joy felt by every Mother when she first presses to her heart her babe, proves the contrary. Danger and suffering lurk in the pathway of the Expectant Mother, and should be avoided, that she may reach the hour when the hope of her heart is to be realized, in full vigor and strength.

"Mother's Friend"

so relaxes the system that the natural and necessary change takes place without nausea, without headache, without nervous or gloomy foreboding and at the trying hour makes Child-birth easy, as so many happy mothers have experienced. Nothing but "Mother's Friend" does this. Don't be deceived. "Mother's Friend" is the greatest remedy ever put on the market, and all my customers praise it highly.—W. H. KING & Co., Whitehall, Tex.
