THE REPUBLICAN WAR GOES MERRILY ON.

Congressman E. Spencer Blackburn won out in his trial in Greensboro last week. After the lawyers had concluded their argument, Judge Goff instructed the jury to find a verdict of not guilty, and the case came to a sudden end.

But while Holton and the other leaders of his faction have failed to convict Blackburn and destroy him politically, he had already accomplished the main object for which the indictment was found.

The trial seems to have widened the breach in the Republican ranks. In his speech to the jury in the Blackburn trial, ex-Judge W. P. Bynum, jr, himself a Republican, said:

"The leaders of the Republican party are a band of political cut-throats and pirates, forever standing with their hands in the pockets of their countrymen."

Chairman Rollins, in a letter to Bynum through the papers, throws a lot of hot stuff back at Bynum, of which the following is a sample:

"Your statement is false and unwarranted and I feel that I would not be doing my duty to myself or the party I have the honor to represent, did I not resent your false and slanderous attack."

Replying to this, Judge Bynum says that in referring to the leaders of the Republican organization as cutthroats and pirates, he did not have one thought of Rollins, for he looks upon him as belonging to neither the leaders nor the rank and file, but is merely a puppet in the hands of Marion Butler and a few others who seek to lead or mislead the Republican party in North Carolina.

And Butler, who once tried to lead the Democratic party, who later did lead the Populist party and is the acknowledged head of the Republican party of this State, is not allowing the men down in North Carolina to do all the mud-slinging. In a letter to the meeting of the Republican League in Washington last Saturday night, he said of Southern Republicans:

"In more than a few States the leadership of the party has been in the hands of men who did not want the party to grow. They wanted it to grow smaller; they wanted their State to stay Democratic as to their State and local governments, and they wanted to have a small coterie of men calling themselves the Republican party who would control and dish out the Federal patronage among themselves."

SEVEN SPRINGS NEWS.

A Visit to Catawba, and the People Talked to in That Lively Town. Seven Springs, N. C., April 24, 1906.—Well, this is fine growing weather isn't it? Every thing is getting green. Some of the farmers are done planting cotton seed, and those that are not do so will get through this week if nothing happens. Some are about through planting corn. All upland corn is planted in this section.

The editor was putting the Mountain Creek colored farmers in the lead, I don't know so well about that, the colored folks in this section have got themselves in good shape, and are good farmers, all own land, and all love to work. And most of them take the good old ENTERPRISE.

Well, I was at Catawba Saturday and found all the boys in fine glee. Most of the young folks went to the Lookout Saturday and had a picnic. They all report having a nice time. Postmaster Harwell went and took his best girl. Look out! Mr. Register of Deeds, he is going to give you a job soon if nothing breaks larger than a shoe string.

Mr. John Herman was as busy as a bee in a tar bucket. He has got lots of nice things in his store; musical goods, cool drinks, warm drinks and fresh fish every Saturday on ice. All you Piney Woods folks that never get any fresh fish, you ought to go to Herman's every Saturday and get you a mess of fish for Sunday. They will make you feel good, and always read the ENTERPRISE and keep posted on something good and fresh. Don't read stale news, it will do you harm.

Well, I went into Mr. J. R. Cline's store. Mr. Cline still holds the championship as best looking man at Catawba. He says the ladies all trade with him because he is the best looking man in town. Mr. Cline has got lots of pretty things in his store, but the prettiest thing I saw while in there was his clerk, Miss Novella Leonard. She is as pretty as red shoes, you bet. She is a daughter of Mr. Z. V. Leonard of Catawba. Catawba is well blest with pretty girls, but the Springs girls are still in the lead for beauty.

The reason Mr. J. H. Trollinger has the finest hogs, he feeds them butter milk and apple pie. That is good rations for pigs, you bet.

Mr. J. U. Long has a broad smile on his face, and grips you hard, and if you talk right, he don't forget to set up to cigars. Mr. Long's head is always level. Mr. Long is a gentleman in every respect.

I had a good talk with the Catawba correspondent. He is still lively and full of jokes as ever. I think he will shoot his gun soon. Then look out boys, he will make it hot for some of you.

The Rev. Mr. Myers has about got his horseless buggy completed. It will be something more to see a buggy running along the road without a horse hitched to it.

Mr. Noah Kale and wife made a flying visit to the Springs Sunday evening with his family of little folks, five in number. Noah has resigned the office as mayor of the town of Catawba. He cuts hair and shaves the public and mends shoes. He guarantees all work to wear out, or money refunded.

"There is so much bad in the best of us, and so much good in the worst of us, that it hardly behooves any of us to talk about the rest of us." Brother Hope, I don't belong to the Sunday school, is the reason I didn't say we.

Miss Pearl and Cordia Loftin visited the madam last week. If you want a good paper, take the old reliable, the ENTERPRISE, the favorite, $1.00 a year.

ASK FOR LUCK.

Plateau News.

Plateau, N. C., April 24, 1906.—All is calm in this corner of our woods at this time. Some people are about done planting, while others have only commenced.

Rev. Shuford put in the night with me last night. We had a pleasant time, as he is a great talker.

Wheat is looking very well in this section, considering the quality of land.

It seems to me there could be something got up to get the old soldiers together this summer, if it was only a foot race among themselves. Confederate soldiers in this neighborhood are getting like Angel's visits, few and far between.

CLAREMONT NEWS.

The Sparks and Sparklines of Claremont Wish to Picnic at Seven Springs. Correspondence of The Enterprise.

Claremont, N. C., April 24, 1906.—By the request of my young friends I put this question before Mr. A. S. Kale, our good old writer, to the newsy paper.

Mr. Kale: We bran and straws feeders of Claremont N. C. would like to visit your place on Ascension day, and would like to hear from you in your next letter what you have to say about it.

We have a nice flock of young men and women who would like to visit Seven Springs on that day. We will eat breakfast before we start and bring our dinner along and leave before supper time and drink water from the Seven Springs.

Claremont is noted for its sparks and sparklines. The sparklines are those who are just starting out.

I am glad to say to the readers of the good old ENTERPRISE that every thing is lovely and the goose hanging high around Claremont. The farmers are all busy planting their crops and the house carpenters are all busy trying to keep up with the work that is before them.

Mr. G. L. Moser of this place is building a nice dwelling house on North College street. It is about completed. Mr. J. H. Moser is also building a good house on North Main for Mr. Stewart, who has moved here from Eufola, N. C.

Several more new houses are being built in this little city. Mr. G. E. Setzer has completed his store house and the post office has been moved into it. Mr. Jacob Iserhour is our new postmaster. He is the best one we have ever had. He will accommodate you better and can tell you better when you will get some mail than any other postmaster in any other country. He also will sell you 13 2 cent stamps for one cent and a quarter. G. E. Setzer will charge you 26 cents for 13 2 cent stamps. I buy all my postage stamps from Jacob.

Some change in one of our main sporting boys of this place. He was out walking with his best girl last Sunday evening and was playing with some small change and happened to swallow a quarter. I will not name him, but if some one will call his name, I will whistle. He tried, but could not cough it out.

We have a night operator at this place now, a Mr. Moore from Jacksonville Fla. He seems to be a fine man. Glad to have him in our little town.

Miss Annie Duke of Newton is having great success with her school here. She is one among the best teachers that ever has taught here. All the little girls and boys love her and a lot of the young men. Will not call any names.

Rev. E. Z. Ray from near Asheville, was in Claremont a few days last week to see his best girl.

Mr. C. A. Sigman of this place is drawing a pension from $500 investments.

I will have to ask A. S. K, how politics is going down in his country. Some of the boys up here are talking of running Pall Haifer for President. I am in favor of that. He is well known around here and most of the people like him. Not to change the subject from politics to strawberries, but we have a young man and a young lady near here who are two peaches. They will soon be a pair. I will congratulate them in advance.

Mr. Emanuel Pope of this place has ordered a car load of smoke which will be here in a few days. Anyone wishing to purchase a few bushels will place their order with Dr. D. M. Moser. He is handling it for Mr. Pope. It was ordered for the purpose of smoking meat. Turn a sack full loose in the smoke house and shut the door and you are all right. Hope Mr. Pope will make a success in his new business.

Well, as Claremont news is scarce, I will cut this out. Hope the many readers of the good old ENTERPRISE a success in all their business what ever it may be.

Long Fellow.
