Vol. XXVIII,

Newton, N. C., Thursday September 20, 1906.

No. 19

CLAREMONT HUMMING BIRD.

Chirrup for the Proprietor of Seven Springs to Hunt Her a Worm, special to The Newton Enterprise.

Claremont, N. C., September 10.—The garden spot has had several days of good sunshine during the last week, and the farmers made good use of it, making hay and all kinds of roughness. Most all of the fodder and tops have been made. A great many of the people are beginning to pick cotton. The farmers are getting ready for business.

Come to Claremont, A. S. K. and spend a few days. Wheat is a bushel and cotton head high. Every thing is going Democratic. Be sure and come. I want to hear you tell those funny stories of gone by days—You may say in the days of Ante Bellum. I am sure it would bring a smile on the face of a smoothing iron to listen to you. Say Mr. A. S. K., your springs beat are alarm o'clock 10 to 1. They are just right distance from here. Every night before I go to bed I look towards the Seven Springs and say, get up, Longfellow, and by the way, next morning about four o'clock an echo comes back, saying get up Longfellow; I find the Springs are the genuine remedy. A S. K., how is politics? I think the Garden Spot will go Democratic. The way the Democratic roosters crow around here every morning about 4 o'clock. Nearly all the Republican roosters are sick from paralysis at the crow pipe.

The young people of the Garden Spot surrounded and captured a large time Saturday night at Mr. C. L. Pope's, by serving ice cream and cake. After supper funny games were played, an exhibition of fun was enjoyed by all. The girls are all very entertaining.

Messrs. W. A. Hoke, G. E. Setzer and G. L. Winters of this place went to Newton Saturday night to attend a special meeting of the W. O. W. Poplar Camp 191. The Juniors of Claremont Hall 155, will meet Saturday night, September 15th, at the regular time, 8 o'clock.

Weather report: 11 to 12 falling temperature, 13 to 15 cool for the season, 16, 17 and 18 storm wave, 19 and 20 wind and rain.

Read the ENTERPRISE and be in the ring.

Watch the weather report and you will know when to cut your hay.

Best wishes to A. S. K., the Tarheel in Georgia and the many readers.

"Longfellow."

Mountain Creek News.

Correspondence of The Enterprise.

Fodder pulling is pretty well through, a lot of hay to cut yet. Cotton picking is now going to be the order of the day. Cotton is from two to three weeks late; crop is about 65 to 70 per cent, if not stays off pretty late.

Mr. J. P. Cloninger is canvassing for the ENTERPRISE; wish him much success.

Mr. W. A. Gilliland gets out first bale of cotton. He is also to the front and his work is up-to-date.

Mr. F. L. Little has up a new store house and a nice line of general merchandise at the cross roads where Mr. Joe Punch lives. He is going to name his stand Punchville, and will be glad to serve the people.

Mr. J. T. Punch is finishing hauling his cotton to Maiden, Mr. Henry Hicks lost a good horse a few days ago.

One of our good neighbors bought a yearling calf some few days past, and was ashamed of his good wife seeing it at present and he hid the calf in a patch of woods till over night, and discussed the calf trade to see how his good wife would take it and everything was O. K., and up came the calf.

Mr. Marion Laney is teaching a singing school at Lebanon church, attendance is good and Mr. Laney is a good singer.

With best wishes to the ENTERPRISE and its many readers, and subscribe for the ENTERPRISE.

Miss Elizabeth Colton,

Charlotte Observer.

The New York Tribune of recent date had the following concerning Miss Elizabeth S. Colton, formerly of this city:

"One of the most interesting American members of the colony in Berlin at the present time is Miss Elizabeth S. Colton, who is a student of Orientalism, and comparative religion and mistress of some forty languages went to Germany, that true home of science, last October for the purpose of taking special courses in Sanscrit, Syriac, Assyrian, Hebrew, Pali, Avastan, the language of the Pharaoses and Chinese Sanscrit; she is studying with Dr. Peschell. Every Friday evening a party of eight, all men but Miss Colton, gather around his study table, and they dig up the records of past ages and read the histories of ancient people who lived thousands of years before Christ.

"Miss Colton will leave Berlin for India during the present month to continue her study of Sanscrit and the religion of the Hindoos. The final purpose of her study is theological and she intends to give lectures later on upon comparative religion with illustrations from the original manuscripts.

"Miss Colton's career as an Orientalist is very different from the one she planned herself. Being gifted with a fine voice, she was sent abroad when quite young to study singing with Manuab Garcia. Upon her return she was engaged to sing with his orchestra and everything was arranged for her debut in New York, when she was suddenly seized with a serious throat affection, which put an end to her career as a singer at once and forever.

"Overcome with disappointment, Miss Colton accepted a place as a teacher of singing in a girl's school, and while there endeavored to distract her mind with the study of languages. She took up Latin and Greek, which she had previously studied with her father, and began Hebrew, attending all the lectures and classes in the school that her time permitted. Hebrew led her into Syriac, Arabic, Chinese and Persian. She was graduated from the institute of Sacred Literature, and then entered Radcliffe for the purpose of continuing her studies in Oriental language and religions.

But as she was the only woman in the college desirous of taking such a course, she was admitted to the men's classes at Harvard and went to Berlin, which is the world's head quarters of Orientalism.

Miss Colton taught in the Presbyterian College here: She is a native of Burke county. Her mother was a Miss Avery of Morganton.

STARVING TO DEATH.

Because her stomach was so weakened by useless drugging that she could not eat, Mrs. Mary H. Walters, of St. Clair St., Columbus, O., was literally starving to death. She writes: "My stomach was so weak from useless drugs that I could not eat, and my nerve so wrecked that I could not sleep; and not before I was given up to die was I induced to try Electric Bitters; with the wonderful result that improvement began at once, and a complete cure followed." Best health tonic on earth 50c. Guaranteed by T. R. Abernethy druggist.

Big Feet For Chinese Women.

Wilmington Messenger.

It is likely that the next generation of Chinese women will have feet of normal size and that the custom of centuries which required the women of the Flowery Kingdom to hobble around on feet the size of infants' caused by the feet being bandaged from the time they are small children will be done away with. Several years ago the dowager empress issued a decree prohibiting the bandaging of the feet of female infants. She has just found that this order has been ignored to a great extent and she has issued another to the same purport and in order to make it effective it is decreed that no man shall be eligible to any office in whose family there is female whose feet were not allowed to grow to the natural size. This franchise qualification will no doubt have the desired effect.

We suppose that in future the bigger the feet of the wife and daughters of a Chinaman the higher he can climb in the scale of public office.

OLD EGYPT UNEARTHED.

The Town of the Shepard Kings dug From Sand of Centuries, London Graphic.

At University College this year the annual exhibition of the year's work that has been in Egypt by the British School of Archaeology and the Egyptian Research Account has very wisely been subdivided as to present distinct foci of interest, so that the intelligent visitor, in surveying the tokens which Prof. Perrie and Mr. Duncan and Mr. Gilbert Smith have brought home, is conscious of the meaning and the implications of the discoveries. The exhibits are elucidated by plans and models, and the rather formal and concentrated descriptions offered by the published reports are supplemented each day by little lectures which are delivered in the morning and afternoon by some one or other of the archaeologists.

Last year the chief work of the British school was along the eastern side of the delta between Cairo and Ismailia, and it has brought to light, after many centuries, the habitations of the most ancient shepherd kings of the Israelites—the Hyskos—and one of the cities that they built. At Tell-el-Yehudiyeh the excavations laid bare a great camp which is certainly older than the eighteenth dynasty, and enshrines within its confines many graves and tombs which are of the period of these shepherd kings of Israel, who ruled 2,500 years before the coming of Christ. The defense of the camp not like a great "fonduk, such now exists in the Sahara as a refuge for traveling caravans, were chiefly earthworks, and it is evident that its dwellers relied on their archers and slingers to keep off the enemy on the long "glacis" of the approaches to the walls.

But the camp reveals that the relations between Israel and Egypt were not always such as have been supposed; that time brought its revenges, and that a great wall was built around the camp by the skilled masons of Egypt—a wall of finest limestone, in blocks brought from the hills, twenty-five miles away. Truly, when one contemplates this link of continuity of labor between the pyramids and the Assuan dam, one begins to sympathize with the Egyptians as a race who have never been allowed to cease from their building. A very interesting model of this primeval camp is among the exhibits. Not less fascinating is a piece of temple sculpture representing Rameses II, slaying a Syrian before the Atmu. It formed one of the temple as the Israelite city of Rameses at Tell-el-Retabeh. By the ancient site Ayaris found the great mound and temple which Ouis, the high priest, built. He had fled from the persecutions of Antiochus Epiphanes and come to Egypt about 159 B. C. to found a new Jerusalem where the Jew might worship in peace. One of the most singular discoveries in connection with this temple was a piece of the builders' account showing bricks to have been delivered by a Jew named Abram together with other details, which corroborates these that are set down in the history of Josephus.

THE BREATH OF LIFE.

It's a significant fact that the strongest animal of its size, the gorilla, also has the largest lungs. Powerful lungs means powerful creatures. How to keep the breathing organs right should be man's chief study. Like thousands of others, Mrs. Ora A. Stephens, of Fort Williams, O., has learned how to do this. She writes: "Three bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery stopped my cough of two years and cured me of what my friends thought consumption. O, it's grand for throat and lung troubles." Guaranteed by T. R. Abernethy druggist. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

No Chances For Illusions.

There was no false pride about Lucinda Madden, and she had no illusions at the age of forty-six when she accepted Hiram Gregg's offer marriage. She was a hard-featured and sharp-tongued person, and she knew it.

Also, however, she knew her capabilities as cook and house-keeper, and she was well aware that Gregg's slow wits and shiftless ways had made him anything but a favorite with the feminine portion of the village. She found things to like in Hiram, by looking for them, but she proposed to keep him well in hand.

"Well, Lucindy," said Hiram one evening, two or three days before the wedding, "here we are going to be married, after all, both of us, I guess. Lucindy, I'm about your first offer, ain't I?" "You are," said Lucinda, firmly, "and I'm your last offer, Hiram, and going to be if my health holds out, so we won't make any more talk over that."

When two strong men come to blows, even if they are well matched, it is not a pleasing sight but if the man who gets the worst of it will use DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, he will look better and feel better in short order. Be sure you get DeWitt's. Good for everything a salve is used for, including piles. Sold by T. R. Abernethy and R. P. Freeze.

English of an Ex-educator.

Industrial News.

Far be it from us to assume the role of a carping critic, but the newspaper that delights in shooting at others by its practice in this respect makes itself a legitimate target.

The Catawba County News, in its current issue, devotes a goodly portion of its leading editorial column to criticism of President Roosevelt's spelling. At the head of that same column appears the following:

"Did anybody expect for Bryan to please the Cleveland Democrats? We do not believe any one was so foolish to expect this; if so, let him go and never have any such foolish expectations again."

A newspaper that is able to serve the public with such chaste and classic English as this can be forgiven for any position it may take on the question of orthography.

Against Removal.

Special to The Observer.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Commissioner Yerkes of the internal revenue bureau now has before him the papers in the case of the request for the office of the collector of internal revenue from Asheville to Statesville. It is pretty well understood that he will decide that the office is to remain at Asheville. It is understood to-day that the special agent who was sent down to investigate the matter has reported against a change. Judge Pritchard and other important Republicans have used their influence to have the office remain at Asheville.

A Needle in His Leg.

Marion Democrat.

For some time A. Y. Hicks has suffered severe pains at intervals in the fleshy portion of his leg below his knee. He says he appealed to his physician for an operation but was told he only had rheumatism. One day recently he made an examination and as a result removed a needle from the afflicted limb. The pair ceased and he says he is all right now. The needle was of a medium size, with the eye broken.
