10,000 Veterans at Richmond.

Richmond, Va., May 30.—With the largest number of Confederate veterans gathered together since the war, and the vast horse show building, in which the convention was held, beautiful with flags and bunting and portraits of the leaders of the Confederacy, the twelfth annual reunion of the Confederate veterans began here this morning under the most auspicious conditions.

Since early morning a steady stream of veterans had been pouring into the building and when at 10 o'clock, Gen. Stith Bolling, acting temporarily for General Lee, called the convention to order, almost every chair in the building was occupied and the benches around the sides of the hall were filled with the surviving remnants of the glorious army of the Confederacy.

General Bolling introduced Rev. J. William Jones, chaplain general of the grand camp, who presented Rev. Dr. J. R. Gravatt, of this city, and the latter offered the opening prayer.

Governor Swanson, of Virginia, and the widest enthusiasm, welcomed the veterans to the Old Dominion.

Mayor McCarthy, of Richmond, welcomed the visitors to the city which 45 years ago they defended against the armies of Burnside, Pops, McClellan, Sheridan and Grant.

B. B. Morgan, of the local camp Sons of Veterans, added the welcome of those he represents to the welcome, which already had been expressed.

GENERAL LEE INTRODUCED. General Bolling introduced the commander-in-chief of the Confederate veterans, Gen. Stephen D. Lee, and the old soldiers rose to their feet and received him with the utmost enthusiasm. General Lee assumed the gavel of the presiding officer and delivered his annual address.

He said, among other things, that the coming of a Confederate veteran to Richmond was like the return of a long-absent child to his mother—that Richmond is to the Confederate what Calais was to that French Prince, when compelled to live in England. "When I die, you will find engraved on my heart the one word, 'Calais.'"

At noon the first session of the reunion adjourned for the veterans to take part in the unveiling of the equestrian statue of Gen. J. E. B. Stuart, erected by the cavalry association of the Army of Northern Virginia.

The parade incident to this ceremony started at 2 p. m. and was a brilliant pageant. The weather was beautiful, and the display was witnessed by a vast concourse, estimated to number 75,000 to 80,000.

The people were packed along the whole course of the parade, a distance of about two miles, on the sidewalks, on the porches and in the windows of the buildings on both sides of the street.

The whole number in line and on the sidewalks is estimated at from 125,000 to 150,000. There are about 10,000 actual veterans in the city. Of sons of Veterans and other auxiliary bodies, military and non-military, there are about 20,000 and in addition to these, there are about 20,000 visitors drawn hither by the reunion ceremonies.

At the head of the unveiling parade rode Governor Swanson and his staff. Then in a carriage came the sponsor in chief of the United Confederate Veterans, with her maids-of-honor, and next in line was the Seventieth Virginia Regiment. Next came the Richmond Light Infantry Blues battalion, resplendent in its new dress uniform, and after the blues, the carriages containing the sponsor-in-chief of the Sons of Veterans and her maids-of-honor followed by the marching Sons of Veterans, led by Commander-in-Chief Thomas S. Owens, of Alabama, and his staff. Then the veterans, the divisions indicating the States from which they had proceeded by General S. D. Lee, with his chief marshals and staffs. The first body of veterans was cavalry association of Virginia and next came the Forest Cavalry Corps, under the leadership of Gen. H. A. Taylor, of Kentucky. After Forest's men in the line was the North Carolina brigade, 8,500 strong, and after North Carolina the South Carolina division, numbering 20,000 men.

The States represented in the parade, other than those already mentioned, were Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, Missouri, Arkansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Louisiana, Texas, Ohio, Oregon, Indian Territory and Oklahoma and the District of Columbia.

The second day of the greatest reunion the history of the United Confederate Veterans has been rainy and uncomfortably cool, but the bad weather did not seem to have dampened the ardor of the gray-clad visitors to the capital of the Confederacy. It has tended to check the influx of people from the surrounding country but excursion trains crowded with sightseers have continued to add to the throng within the city's gates. It is officially estimated that there are between 12,000 and 15,000 and 60,000 sightseers.

At Camp Gordon 2,000 meals were served yesterday and last night two blankets were issued for each cot.

At Grand Camp Hall this morning proceedings were opened with music by the city school choir, which rendered "Dixie" and "Auld Lang Syne." The veterans joined in the chorus with enthusiasm. General Stephen D. Lee presided and prayer was offered by the Rev. J. Finley, a war-time chaplain. The committee on credentials was announced and it was stated that there were 1,259 camps represented in the convention, the total number of votes being 2,367.

LOVING CUP PRESENTED. General Lee announced the presentation to Champlain General J. William Jones, by the convention, of a silver loving cup. General Stone of Missouri made the presentation speech. Miss Edna Pearl Jewell of Kansas City, Mo., at his request, making the actual presentation to the famous "Fighting Parson." Dr. Jones accepted the gift in eloquent terms.

General Lee then introduced Senator John W. Daniel, as the gallant Confederate "who bears with him a constant reminder of the awful struggle of 1861-1865." Senator Daniel was received with tumultuous cheers and spoke of the gallantry of the Confederate soldiers. "But the gallantry was not confined to the Confederates," he said. "Boys, we are the same race as the Yankee, and the same spirit which made Southern arms glorious, incited the hearts of the Northerners."

Of Jefferson Davis, the senator said: "His name is synonymous with all that is great and all that is virtuous. The fame of the president of the Confederacy is young yet but it is growing so strong that the children of future generations will look to him as a brilliant example."

On the conclusion of Senator Daniel's speech, General Lee presented, amidst a storm of applause, the daughter of President Davis, Mrs. Hayes. She was accompanied by her two children and these came in for a large share of the applause.

Cotton Takes Wild Bounds.

Charlotte Chronicle, May 31. Something approaching pandemonium struck the cotton market to-day and during the entire morning the bulls and bears had a lively game, one that probably parallels anything witnessed since the days of 30 and 40 point jumps, and sometimes more, in the course of a single day.

In Charlotte every wire receiving quotations was kept both hot and busy, and the excitement among local cotton men was intense throughout the day right up to the closing hours. As the day advanced the shake-up seemed to grow worse, and state of affairs continued to get more and more sensational.

The reports from the South and the Southwest came in over the wires almost every instant "conditions deplorable in cotton belt," or "weather worse than for years."

The market got into a wild sort of a swing that reminded the cotton men of some of the experience that took place here and over the country in some of the former years.

There were some big jumps, and trading went on at a feverish pace while the excitement still continued.

The condition of the cotton crop over the entire South is declared to be the most unpromising for years, and the condition on a percentage basis, as given by the government reports, is said to be below anything that has been known in a long time at this season of the year.

Even in Mecklenburg the crop is suffering no little on account of the weather, which is every day adding to the destruction of the crop, and in its deterioration in value.

To-day has proven to be the most startling of the season. The holiday in the North yesterday closed the exchange, but with a 48-hour period to report on, it came with a crash this morning to the cotton men everywhere that things were getting in a serious condition.

The rise to-day has amounted to about 25 points, or a quarter of a cent, all along the line in futures. Spots are up 10 to 15 points.

The weather has served the speculators, if they are really interested in bulling the market, is no small way to-day, although the rise of to-day is believed to be based on actual conditions necessitating the same.

Some men have made small fortunes to-day, as happens each time the market makes a jump, or a slump of as many points as were involved in to-day's activity.

A man who bought 5,000 bales a few days ago, and sells the same to-day at a profit of a quarter of a cent on each pound, will be in about $6,000 while the man who sold at the same figure a few days ago loses a similar sum, when he has to put up.

Outside of this condition in the raw cotton market, it is said that the Southern yarn mills are liable to experience a slump in the prices of their goods pretty soon. A well known local yarn man, who is just back from Philadelphia, says that yarns can be bought in the North cheaper than in Alabama. The trouble as he explains it, is that the yarn mills of the South are rather overconfident over the situation, and believe that they will be able to continue to sell yarns that have prevailed for some months.

In this case the yarn merchant thinks that the Southern yarn mills would do well to sell at the best prices they are offered, and that they can easily protect themselves for the future, whether cotton goes up or down. The first real scare of the season has come on however, and things have been waked from any lethargy that might have remained over from the winter season.

There is plenty of goods on hand for immediate wants, but this has little effect on the cotton market, unless the mills are greatly pushed for raw material to supply their spindles with cotton to spin and weave.

Of all the fruits there are in the land, That grow on bush or tree, I would give you the choicest ones For Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea.—T. R. Abernethy.

DELICATE CHILDREN.

Advice to Newton Mothers Who Have Delicate Children.

If we could only make all fathers and mothers in Newton regard what we say there would be fewer sickly, delicate children on our streets.

Rapidly growing children need a great deal of vitality. They grow fast, play hard, and work too hard at school, and many such children are tired, thin, pale and worn when they ought to be robust and rosy.

Every run-down, growing child in Newton should take Vinol, our delicious cod liver preparation without oil. It requires almost no digestion at all and cannot upset delicate, weakened stomachs as old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions. Vinol also contains peptonate of iron.

It strengthens the digestive organs, makes new vitality, sound flesh and muscles tissue, strong bone structure and pure, rich, red blood. Vinol fills out hollow cheeks and makes thin little arms and legs plump and round.

A member of the firm of Abernethy Drug Co. said: "We can't recommend Vinol too highly for puny, weak and ailing children, to build up the run-down, overworked, tired and debilitated or to give renewed vitality to the aged, and we cheerfully refund the money in every case where it fails." Abernethy Drug Co.

NOTE.—While we are sole agents for Vinol in Newton, it is now for sale at the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. Lookout for the Vinol agency in your town. T. R. Abernethy Druggist.

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and my Book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart or the Kidneys. Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the Cause. Weak stomach nerves—the inside nerves—are the source of weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys, as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Waken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for biliousness, flatulency, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me to-day for sample and free Book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by R. P. Freeze.

CHESTNUT BUTTER AND CIDER MADE FROM MELONS.

Denver Dispatch to The New York Herald. Down East farmers should wake with a start when they hear that cider is about to be made from watermelons and that butter similar to peanut butter will be manufactured from Rocky Ford cantaloupes.

G. W. Swink, a State Senator, is the person who is going to give the United States a new kind of cider, which he says will be better and cheaper than apple cider, and who will produce a cantaloupe butter which will give peanut butter a hard race for first place.

Mr. Swink is negotiating for machinery with which to make the cider and butter, and will have the plant in operation next autumn. Expert chemists made tests for Mr. Swink last summer and say that an excellent grade of cider can be made from watermelons and cantaloupe butter will be as good or better than peanut butter.

A Fortunate Texan. Mr. E. W. Goodloe, of 107 St. Louis St., Dallas, Tex., says: "In the past year I have become acquainted with Dr. King's New Life Pills, and no laxative I ever before tried so effectually dispensed of malaria and biliousness." Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It. How To Find Out. Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or scum indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When some Swamp-Root writing mentions this paper, and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

A Scotch Sentiment.

To illustrate the trials of those who die rich, Andrew Carnegie, told at a dinner in New York a Scotch story:

"George Gordon, a rich old Scot," he said, "was taken seriously ill, and decided that he had better draw up his will at once.

"Accordingly, the testament was then and there written out at his dictation, read to him, and placed in his lap for his signature.

"The old man took the pen, wrote 'George Gordon,' and then sank back exhausted.

"The heir hastily raised him again.

"'D, uncle, d.' be prompted. "'Dee?' growled the old man, 'I'll dee when I'm ready, ye avareicious wretch.'"

"This little pig went to market," doesn't amuse tonight. Baby's not well, what's the matter, her dear little cheeks are so white; Poor little tummy is aching, naughty old pain go away. Cascaros mother must give her, then she'll be bright as the day. Sold by T. R. Abernethy and R. P. Freeze.

The Modern Needle's Eye. "Oh, Mr. Milyuna!" "Well?" "Do you think a rich man can go through the eye of a needle?" "I don't know, my boy. However, I will say that my lawyers have dragged me through some very small loopholes."—Kansas City Journal.
