women will be there to hold conference with our wives and daughters about the great business of keeping the home and making life richer in good things, brighter and better, and more worth living.

Yes, arrange your work so you can knock off Institute day. Say to your wife, "Get ready," to your near neighbor, "Let's go," and to the farmer who follows afar off say, "Come go with us, and it will do you good." But the rest of what we wanted to say is so well said by Editor John A. Oates, in the North Carolina Baptist that we are going to copy it now:

There is a sneering laugh among some folks whenever a Farmer's Institute is named. They prefer the "good old way," as they are pleased to call it, and have no time for the "book farmer." They like to tell it that they plant and plough and reap just as their daddies did, that they have bred the same stock for fifty years, and followed in the way their fathers trod. Well, we like reverence and respect for ancestry, but China has shown to the world that that thing can be carried a little too far—until all the world moves on and leaves the crusty worshiper behind.

The world is moving on industrially at a rapid rate, and the farmer must utilize every invention, every discovery, every improvement he can get hold of to help him make mother earth turn loose the biggest crops that will pay the biggest profits. Well, the agricultural colleges, the experiment stations and the institutes have helped the farmer along wonderfully. They don't turn out fool farmers, who don't know how to do anything but read bulletins and spend money. To be sure they cannot take a blackhead and turn him into a captain of industry, but the advanced ideas in farming do give the farmer a chance to get the most out of his work—and that is what every man ought to do.

We are not afraid of true science. It is the good friend of man. Let us have it in all its thoroughness, in religion, in agriculture. It unlocks the street of nature and makes them the servants of man. He works then in the light rather than in the dark. He learns through speedy experiment lessons that it would take a lifetime to learn through slow experience. The farmer thus becomes the beneficiary of the student who uses the money of the State for the upbuilding of the people.

Don't be afraid of these Institutes. There will be a number of them this summer, held all over the State, for farmers and farmers' wives. Take a day or two off and go. It will pay you. You may be able by a little help from the scientific man to reclaim that washing hillside, to utilize that throw-out meadow, to build up your retrograding stock, to beautify your home, in fact to make life more worth living. Yes, go to the Institute. You, the backbone of the land, are entitled to know all the latest and best things about agriculture, just as much as the doctor and preacher and teacher are to learn the best things in their work.

And best of all, this information, this proffered help, is brought right to your door. Get it and combine it with your own common sense, using here and rejecting there as conditions may demand.

But be sure to take your wife.

In a recent issue the Atlanta Georgian informs its readers how the phrase "the almighty dollar" originated; but no doubt its readers would have been better pleased with a hunch as to how to get hold of it a little easier.—Washington Post.

SOME REASONS

For Collectors in Advance Telephone Exchange Rentals.

To The Public.
To collect in advance telephone exchange rentals is no new departure. Rents are so collected by all telephone companies and have been for many years. This is one of the last companies to adopt this rule.

This company has about 2,500 subscribers, one or two hundred of whom move or go out of business every month and leave the company to hold the bag. These people cannot be found, and if located cannot be collected from. The object is to try to stop this monthly loss.

The State laws require indiscriminate and equity towards its patrons by a corporation. Therefore, to collect in advance from one man, we must collect in advance from all. The person who intends to pay does not object to lend his assistance to make those enjoying like benefits as, he pay for them. The telephone company is not going out of business within thirty days. If it should, or if it fails to give you the service paid for it will refund your money.

You pay in advance for life insurance.

You pay in advance for railroad fares.

You pay in advance for newspapers and magazines.

You pay in advance for theatre and ball games.

You pay in advance for bread tickets, ice tickets, street car tickets, mileage coupons, and many other things very similar to telephone service, and which are hard to collect after the service rendered.

How many bars could a railway conductor collect at the end of his run? Or a gate-keeper at the baseball game is over? Or a life or fire insurance company after the year has expired or the policy has lapsed?

We wish to thank our subscribers for the loyal manner in which they have helped us by paying their bills in advance. Ninety per cent have paid us in every town. We had a few at each place to refuse to pay until they understood thoroughly the cause of the charge. Then these also came manfully to our rescue, for which we are grateful. We are glad to say that on account of not being able to collect in advance, we had to take out or discontinue only a very small percentage of telephones.

We are organized to serve you; it is our pleasure to do so. By being able to collect from our patrons, cutting out loss, we feel we can give you better service in the future. We are at work all the time building new lines and making improvements for the benefit of our patrons, and we charge a reasonable compensation for it, making only a reasonable, conservative return upon the money invested in our business. Yours to serve, Piedmont Tel. Co.

Judge Bennett in a New Role.

Judge Ridsen Tyler Bennett, former member of Congress and Superior Court judge, is the official biographer of Anson county. He writes the obituaries of all his Anson acquaintances and his writings abound in original and quaint expressions. So pleased are the Anson people with the judge's phraseology that they now call on him to write all sorts of things. A few days ago a lady in Anson lost a mule and, as is not unusual in such cases, she decided to ask the public for help. Judge Bennett was asked to write an appeal to head the subscription paper, and what he put down should—and probably did—have promptly secured sufficient funds to buy another mule. Here it is:

"I had a dark bay mule, nine years old, that died July 1, 1907, of kidney colic. I did not ask for help then, but I need help in this state of ill fortune, and I come to you all for such alms as seem good to men and women. A mite would help me. Widowed, poor, disconsolate over the mule that was my friend, I solicit you in my adversity. He that giveth to the poor lendeth unto the Lord. If you like the security to me as best you can,"

Big Lizard at Large.
New York Sun.

Texas, the big iguana in the Bronx Zoo and the last of the lizards to be suspected of breaking the bonds of captivity, had a taste of freedom yesterday. He got his four feet of body over the fence of his pen near the reptile house and put to flight several hundred women and children who were terrified at the sight of the uncanny monster.

Back and forth among the reptile pens shot Texas, his appearance every where being greeted with screams and fanciful displays of hosier. Keeper Snyder soon got on the job and saw that the lizard was more terrified at the display than the women were at the sight of him. He gave chase and the lizard finally scurried away toward the Bronx river. On the bank Snyder caught him and wound his arms about the slippery body. Snyder says Texas was so terrified at the queer sights he saw in his brief period of freedom that he will be satisfied with his little pen in the future.

A Reward Of Faith.

Youths Companion.

A congregation in a hilly district in Ohio bought a small tract of land and erected a church building upon it. Then the question of insurance came up. Mr. Sipes, the wealthiest member, who had contributed more than half the money needed for the new structure, declared that he did not believe in insurance. "This is the Lord's building. He'll take care of it," he said.

His view prevailed and there was no insurance. In a few weeks the building was struck by lightning and almost totally consumed by fire. Another one was erected. Mr. Sipes contributing the greater portion of the fund as before. This time the demand was almost unanimous that it be insured, but Mr. Sipes again objected on the same ground.

"If it burns down again, brethren," he said, "I'll agree to rebuild it myself."

Again he carried his point. In less than a month the new church was struck by lightning again and, although strenuous efforts were made to save it, the loss was almost total.

"Thereupon he employed a force of men to sink a shaft on the site of the twice destroyed church. Within a few days a rich vein of iron ore was found and the church property was sold for many times the amount needed to buy land in another locality and build again.

"I tell you, brethren," said Brother Sipes, "it pays to trust the Lord. He's a great deal better business manager than anybody is this congregation."

The Boy as a Street Loafer.

Landcaster News

About the worst thing for a boy is for him to form the habit of loafing on the streets, for in addition to the habit of idleness that it begets it is sure to lead to other vices. We see very little hope for the boy that habitually stands around on the streets. It will not be long before he will be using profane language, puffing cigarettes, and doing other indecent things which are discredit-able.—Greenwood Journal.

Our esteemed contemporary is exactly right. Many a boy is ruining by habitual street loafing. It is only a question of time when he becomes a disgrace and a menace to society. As a remedy the Journal suggests:

"Give your boy employment. Keep him everlastingly at it and he will be contented and remain at home. We have heard of parents in Greenwood who are seeking employment for their boys with a view to keep them out of mischief. They are to be commended for their thoughtfulness."

Landcaster, like Greenwood, has boys whose parents would do well to put them to some kind of work in order to keep them from constantly loafing on the streets and about the depots. But we do not believe that we have any girl loafers, as seen to be the case with Greenwood, judging from the following deliverance of our contemporary:

"But the girls who loaf! Watch the streets. They will tell the tale. And then take a peep in the homes and see the tired, care-worn mothers! We must be excused from discussing, for the present, the evils of the fair giddy street loafers."

Nearly all old-fashioned Cough Syrups are constipating, especially those that contain opiates. They don't act just right. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup contains no opiates. It drives the cold out of the system by gently moving the bowels. Contains Honey and Tar and tastes nearly as good as maple syrup. Children like it. Sold by T. R. Abernethy and R. P. Freese.

Rings Round Eyes

J-19

The ills peculiar to women, take different forms. Some ladies suffer, every month, from dark rings round their eyes, blotches on their skin and tired feeling. Others suffer agonies of pain, that words can hardly express. Whatever the symptoms, remember there is one medicine that will go beyond mere symptoms, and act on the cause of their troubles, the weakened womanly organs.

Wine of Cardui

Mrs. M. C. Austin, of Memphis, Tenn., writes: "For five (5) years I suffered with every symptom of female disease, but after using the well-known Cardui Home Treatment, I was entirely well."

WRITE US A LETTER. Write today for a free copy of valuable 64-page Illustrated Book for Women. If you need Medical Advice, describe your symptoms, stating age, and reply will be sent in plain sealed envelope. Address: Ladies' Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.
