T. U. To Thursday
The regular meeting of the W. U. will be held on Thursday afternoon at 3:30 at the home of Mrs. Coffey, Sr. All members are urged to be present.

Saw Puzzle
A delightful jig-saw puzzle was given by Mrs. W. H. at her home on Friday evening, honoring her sister-in-law, Carrie Clark, of Greensboro, N. C., who is spending some time here in the Clark home. Games were worked at three o'clock after which the hostess, with the assistance of Miss Sallie Ganser served tempting refreshments.

Mrs. Percy Walters Club Hostess
Mrs. Percy Walters was hostess of the members of the Busy Bee sewing club at her home on Friday evening. The time was spent in making a quilt, which had been previously pieced by members of the club. The quilt, when finished, will be presented to Miss Lucy Stout, whose home was burned sometime ago. At the close of the needlework session, the ten guests were served delightful refreshments by Mrs. Walters.

Presbyterians Go To Winston-Salem Meet
A number of young people from the Presbyterian church went to Winston-Salem Friday to attend a three-day conference held there in the First Presbyterian church of the Presbyterian Young People. Several noted speakers appeared on the program, among those being Dr. Darby Fulton, of Africa; Mr. D. Miller, in charge of home mission work, and Mr. Carr, of Mooresville, who is in charge of the young peoples' work. A banquet was given Saturday evening for the young people attending the conference. Those going from here were Paul and Elizabeth Cashlon, Kate, Clara and Sam Ogilvie, Hilda Meade, Mary Lane, Sue Moring Clements, Mary Wyn Williams, Margaret Faw, Sara Coffey and Frank McNeill, Mrs. A. A. Cashlon, Mrs. D. C. and Mrs. J. L. Clements accompanied the young people there.

Mrs. Gordon Forester Entertains at Bridge
Mrs. Gordon Forester entertained at a pretty club party at her home on Friday evening, having as guests the members of the Wilkesboro Bridge club. Jonquils and other spring flowers made a colorful background for the room where two tables were placed for the game. A series of spirited progressions resulted in the high score award going to Miss Elizabeth Winkler, which was two dainty linen handkerchiefs. After the removal of cards the hostess, aided by her sister, Miss Mable Hendren, served a tempting salad course.

Mrs. J. R. Hix Is Friday Club Hostess
With Mrs. J. R. Hix as hostess, members of the Friday club were delightfully entertained at her home on Friday afternoon. The president, Mrs. C. E. Jenkins, presided and the roll call was made by Miss Lizzie Hixle, with current events of designed interest being given as responses. Following this the guests enjoyed a period of working jig-saw puzzles. To close the happy afternoon the hostess, with the aid of her daughter, Miss Virginia Hix, and Miss Mabel Topping, served delicious refreshments. Mrs. W. P. Horton, a former member, was welcomed back into the club. Visitors of the club were Mesdames P. J. Brame and J. E. Spainhour.

Mrs. C. A. Jackson Is Feted Here
A delightful courtesy was shown Mrs. C. A. Jackson, of Eastman, Ga., on Thursday afternoon when her daughter, Mrs. R. G. Finley, entertained at an informal tea honoring Mrs. Jackson. Twelve guests enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Finley. Mrs. Jackson had been here on an extended visit with her daughter and other relatives, but returned to her home Friday.

Wilkesboro W. M. S. in Meeting Thursday
Mrs. George Johnson and Mrs. R. L. Wellborn combined their hospitality to the members of the Wilkesboro Baptist Missionary society on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Johnson. Sixteen members and five visitors were present and heard the splendid program given by Mrs. G. T. Mitchell and Mrs. P. J. Mitchell on "The World Peace" with the prayer.

Mrs. F. G. Holman, in the chair, the regular routine of business was transacted. The members of the society will meet at the church tomorrow to beautify the church grounds in setting out shrubbery and doing other work towards the improvement of the grounds. An offering for home missions was taken. Following the meeting a delectable salad course was served during the pleasant social hour.

Master Joe Hunt Is Host to Group
Master Joe Hunt was host to the members of the Children's Missionary society of the North Wilkesboro Methodist church at his home on Wednesday afternoon. Eleven members and one visitor, Pat Hunt, enjoyed the African stories told them by their leader, Mrs. J. D. Schafer. The host and his mother, Mrs. Murphy Hunt, served the little folk ice cream and cake at the close of the meeting.

Mrs. Tip McNeill Entertains Group
The monthly meeting of the business team of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Baptist church was held on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Tip McNeill. An impressive devotional was led by Mrs. Mabel Lottes, after which the business session was held. At this time several important matters of interest claimed the attention of the members with the president, Mrs. Chal McNeill presiding. An enjoyable social hour followed the meeting and the 20 members attending were served sandwiches and coffee.

At The First Baptist Church
(By Eugene Olive, pastor)
The pastor and his family are now located in the church residence on "D" street. The house has been completely renewed inside and out. The Ladies' Aid Society, the deacons, the unemployment relief agencies and others have worked together to make it a comfortable and attractive place in which to live. Hitherto the pastor has been at home with the E. M. Blackburn's, and a finer, more genial and thoughtful family in which to be a sojourner would be difficult to find. Gratitude is hereby expressed to them and to all those who have so generously helped to make our coming to North Wilkesboro happy and full of promise for the finest sort of relationship between pastor and people.

This week the Baptist Young People's and Adult Unions are engaged in study course work, meeting each night at 7:15 in the church. The young people and adults, under the leadership of the pastor, are studying "The Plan of Salvation." Junior and intermediate groups are studying manuals of methods.

The mid-week service was led last week by Mr. J. H. Whicker. Splendid reports as to attendance and concerning the talk made by Mr. Whicker have reached the pastor who was in Chapel Hill making ready to move household goods. The service this week will be led by the pastor.

The ordinance of the Lord's Supper will be observed at the morning service next Sunday. If every member of the church make an effort to be present for this inspiring memorial.

The choir is making preparation for the presentation on Easter Sunday evening of the cantata "The Holy City." Gail, Mrs. Rhodes is directing the rehearsals, assisted by Mrs. Andrew Kilby, director of the choir. One of the most popular of all the cantatas, "The Holy City" will be well rendered by the splendid choir and solo voices of the church, under the splendid leadership of Mrs. Rhodes. The public is invited to attend.

Announcement was made last Sunday morning that a special offering of old gold and silver will be taken at the service on Easter Sunday morning. "Gathering Up the Fragments" is the title being given to this enterprise throughout the Southern Baptist Convention, the proceeds of which will be used to reduce the indebtedness of our Home and Foreign Mission Boards. Any article from an old collar button to a gold watch or wedding ring can be put into the crucible, the gold extracted and converted into money to be applied to this object.

Silent Majority
Rhodes—Poor Bassler; he has just joined the "silent majority."
Rhodes—What do you mean? He hasn't died, has he?
Rhodes—No, but he's just got died.

May Help Forests By Culling Wood

Fuel Should Be Secured From Diseased, Crippled and Crowded Trees

The landowner with a good acreage of farm forests may use his cull trees to develop a regular trade in fuel wood and improve his timber supply by removing the trees so marketed. "We have said this many times before, but we are finding increasing evidence to support the soundness of the argument," says R. W. Graeber, extension forester at State college. "I recently visited Charles Goslin who lives 13 miles from Winston-Salem in Forsyth county. Mr. Goslin determined to size up the possibilities of his farm woodland and to go into the fuel supply industry on a business basis. Therefore, he has been thinning out his weed trees, the cull trees and over-crowded trees for sale in this way. Through the past two seasons he has been carrying on a systematic harvest of his wood for fuel purposes and has been selling about 300 cords of wood a year."

Mr. Goslin is also improving his stand of timber by taking out the diseased, crippled, crowded or over-mature trees, Graeber says. He selects each kind of wood, whether pine, hickory or oak for a particular purpose and is preparing the wood according to the needs of his customers. Mr. Graeber says emphatically that Mr. Goslin is not clearing land. There is enough land already cleared on the place. The owner has several hundred acres of woodland and is harvesting the crop systematically.

Mr. Goslin told the forester that there were three things essential in marketing wood. Have dry, sound wood, prepared in the lengths and sizes to suit customers, and make the deliveries when wanted. All wood leaves the Goslin farm on orders and deliveries are made promptly. Farm hands on the Goslin place are used in the woods during their spare hours.

STUDY FOOD SUPPLY FOR FARM HOME

Two years of low prices for farm produce has caused North Carolina farm women to study the question of an adequate and balanced food supply for their families as never before.

In 1932, Miss Mary Thomas, food specialist for the agricultural extension service at State College, says 22,089 women and 12,280 club girls were enrolled in food studies through their organized clubs. There were 16,438 women and 7,349 girls who completed the series of studies as outlined. Especially did these women and girls emphasize a continuation of the live-at-home program and adopt plans leading to the production of adequate foodstuffs on their home farms. "In spite of this," says Miss Thomas, "there are still too many farms in our State which do not produce an adequate amount and variety of food for the family. This is indicated by the prevalence of such nutritional diseases as pellagra, constipation and anemia due to the lack of proper food and information about the relation of food to health. Our club women, however, are studying food selection, better preparation of the food available and more skillful meal planning."

The home demonstration club women have four ultimate goals in view, says Miss Thomas. These are: An adequate supply and variety of foods produced on every farm.

Every member of the family practicing good food selection habits and free from ailments indicating faulty diet. Every family having meals well-planned to meet body needs, foods well-cooked and attractively served. Every family making a food budget and keeping simple records of food costs.

Young People To Give Program At M. E. Church

National Young People's Week will be culminated Sunday night at the Methodist church by a special program for and by youth, Miss Beatrice Pearson is the general director of the program. Dr. P. J. Brame will have charge of the music with a choir of young people. A duet by two youths will furnish the offertory number. Talks by chosen persons will be made. A recent program planned by the young people elicited much favorable comment and it is expected that the Sunday night service will measure up in interest and teachableness.

"Grazing Crops For Poultry," Experiment Station bulletin No. 282 is now available free of charge to citizens of the State on application to the agricultural editor at State College.

A TRIBUTE TO THE TEACHER

(By J. W. Crabtree, Secretary National Education Association.)

There will be no moratorium on education. A moratorium on education would mean a moratorium on civilization. This is one of the reasons why teachers will continue the schools, pay or no pay. The nation, as it becomes aware of the services and sacrifices of teachers and of the great significance of their courage and farsightedness, will show the appreciation that it has shown to its soldiers who sacrificed their lives for their country.

In the crisis of the seventies, I was amazed as a boy at the sacrifices made by the pioneer teacher of that day. Since then, I have observed that whether in time of famine or in time of plenty, the teacher has lived not for self, but for the children and the community. I have noticed that the selfish man or woman seldom remains long in the profession.

When the terrible days of the World War came upon us, who led in food conservation? Who led in the sale of liberty bonds? Who led in collecting food, clothing and funds for the Red Cross? Who kept the schools going whether funds were available or not? And what of the teachers of today? They are serving in a worse crisis than ever before. Their responsibility is greater. The teacher load is almost doubled. In spite of all this, the teacher is again leading in welfare activities. There may be a delay in pay—a month or six months—or the pay may be cut off for the year, yet the work of the school goes on!

Who is it that removes gloom from the lives of children who come from homes filled with sorrow and suffering because of the depression? Who is it that inspires children with courage and ambition? Who teaches them to look forward to better days? Who is it that is saving civilization in these dark hours? All honor, therefore, to the teacher of 1933! Your courage

500 Men Hired To Print New Money Are Through

Washington, March 23.—Nearly 500 temporary employees of the bureau of printing and engraving, hired two weeks ago for the emergency currency issuance, were dismissed today.

Their services are not needed further, it was stated unofficially, because an adequate supply of the new money is in reserve and also because the demand for the emergency currency has lessened. This was viewed as an encouraging symptom in the banking situation.

PLANS HUGE BANK

Washington, March 20.—Creation of a bank of the United States with an initial working capital of $2,000,000,000 is the aim of Representative Lemke, Republican, North Dakota.

This bank, he said in a statement explaining a bill he introduced today, would function similarly to the Bank of North Dakota.

"This bank, since 1919, has saved the people of North Dakota millions upon millions of dollars in furnishing them money at a lower rate of interest," he said. The Bank of the United States would have 48 directors, one from each state; be furnished with two billion dollars of United States bank notes; take for deposit all federal funds now in other banks; be able to establish branches in any state; regulate the value of money through control of its quantity.

A mother, testifying on behalf of her son, swore that he "worked on a farm ever since he was born."

Triumphantly the opposing lawyer leaned over toward her and thundered: "You tell this court that your son worked on a farm ever since he was born."

"I do."
"What did he do the first year?"
"He milked," she answered.

CHECKING UP ON SPORTS

JACK ADAMS

Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette University negro sprinter, eclipsed the world indoor record for the sixty-yard dash in the Central Intercollegiate Conference track and field championship at South Bend, Ind., the other day. He won the event in 0:06.1, one-tenth of a second better than the record set by Loren Murchison in 1923.

Winning eight games and losing but two, Yale won the title for the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League Championship. Cornell landed in the cellar, winning but one game and losing nine.

One no longer hears anything about baseball players holding out for more pay. The bank holiday brought many a player into line.

Baron Bela von Kehrling, veteran Hungarian tennis star, collapsed after losing a tennis match the other day, and physicians said he will never play again. Von Kehrling for years has been champion of his country and No. 1 man in the Hungarian Davis Cup lists.

Edward W. Dunn, the oldest figure skater in the country, and by no means the least agile, is 78 years of age.

What is believed to be a woman's record for duck-pins was recently set by Miss Florence La Barr of Bridgeport, Conn., when she hung up a six-game total of 756. Her single top score was 173.

The Boston Athletic Association has announced that the thirty-seventh annual marathon run will be held as usual on Patriots' Day, April 19, from Hopkinton to Boston.

George H. Corey, well-known Cincinnati sportsman, has prepared the writer of this column with a book on games that was printed in London in 1831. The author traces the history of sports to a period long before the birth of Christ.

The residents of New York spend more money to see sporting events than those of any other city in the world. This last week at a time when many sports are out of season, the city was able to see boxing, ice hockey, indoor polo, indoor tennis and wrestling.

Major league baseball faces the coming season with real confidence. A tight race is looked for in both the National and American leagues. The fans must have their baseball.

Mississippi Sales Tax Brings In Cash

Jackson, Miss., March 20.—Mississippi's nine months old 2 per cent sales tax today topped legislative estimates for a full 12 months yield.

Finance experts had figured the levy would yield $2,000,000 each year.

Figures compiled today for Chairman Alf H. Stone of the state tax commission showed sales tax revenue of $1,987,067.20 collected since June 1. Early mail pushed the total past the full year's estimate, with taxes of March, April and May yet to be added to the year's revenue.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Question: What fertilizer should I use on bunch grapes and how should it be applied?

Answer: A light application of stable manure should be made before the spring plowing. If this is not available Nitrate of Soda may be used and scattered around the vine at the rate of one-half pound per vine. Do not put this material close to the vine but scatter in a circle about one foot away. On light soils, acid phosphate and potash used at the rate of two pounds of phosphate and one-half pound of potash will prove beneficial.

A Question Asked And Answered

Is it better to use newspaper advertising when business is dull or when it is bad?

Advertising experts advance the practical theory that the merchant or business man gets more for his advertising dollar by using newspaper space when business is dull. It is the logical time to attract customers with outstanding values.

This is the logical time to advertise.
