Beauty of Brushy Mountain Forests Praised By Graeber

blossoms which equal, in the opinion of many, the cherry blossom beauty of Washington, D. C. It is not easy to conceive of a more picturesque scene than the Brushies present when the orchards are blooming and nature breathes the air of spring. Later there are the azalia and the dogwood which abundantly sprinkle the mountain-sides with a beauty that is indescribable.

In the fall when the forest is go through the range of natural colors—the time when Mr. Graeber sees the Brushies in their unequalled beauty—there is also the fruit crop—harvest time for the orchardists.

An all-year-round attraction is the mineral water.

The suggestion has been made that a forest festival, if one could be staged at a reasonable cost, would do more to give the Brushies and this section the advertising that it deserves than anything else. The money would be well spent and would yield large returns on the investment, local people believe.

The letter which Mr. McCoy received from Mr. Graeber reads as follows: "You will recall that I have commented to you on several occasions about the scenic beauty of the Brushy mountains in the fall when the leaves are making their changes in color. I cannot see why the people of your section of the state don't do something to call this beauty spot to the attention of the people of North Carolina and other sections."

"I notice that each year thousands of people make a visit to the Magnolia and Middleton Gardens at Charleston, South Carolina, the railroads and bus companies offering special inducements to have people make this trip, and, in my opinion, these gardens do not approach the beauty of the forests of the Brushy Mountain section at the season mentioned. Due to the excellent air drainage in the Brushies, the leaves are permitted to go through their natural range of colors without being affected by frost, therefore you have more vivid colors than at any place that I know."

"Mr. W. R. Mattoon of the U. S. Forest Service, visited this section with me two years ago, and made the statement that he had seen the change of color in leaves in all parts of America but had not witnessed anything that was equal to the Brushies."

"I believe that it would be entirely practical and profitable for Wilkes and Alexander counties and their principal towns, and perhaps Caldwell, to join together in putting on some kind of a forest festival the last days of October, to attract people to this section. As a means of giving you some idea as to what might be done perhaps on a smaller scale, I am enclosing herewith a booklet issued by the Mountain State Forest Festival of Elkins, W. Virginia. After you have looked this over and have conferred with other interested parties, I would be glad for you to return this booklet to me. If there is any assistance that I could give you in creating interest along this line it would be a pleasure to have you call on me."

Boy Faces Trial For Tying Youth And Killing Him

New York, May 8.—A 16-year-old boy went on trial for murder in Kings county court today, charged with stabbing to death a 12-year-old youth because he allegedly was a "tattle-tale."

While his mother wept, Harry Murch, fair haired, blue-eyed and chubby, and apparently unconcerned as prospective jurors were asked whether they realized "that the only penalty for this crime is death."

Murch, according to a statement in the hands of the police, admitted killing 12-year-old William Bender with a carving knife he had taken from the Murch kitchen. The Bender boy disappeared on January 31, and almost two weeks later his body bound with rope was found in one of a row of partly completed houses by a building inspector.

Learning of ill-feeling existing between young Bender and Murch, police questioned the latter and he confessed, they said.

Murch, according to the police statement, said he lured Bender to the vacant house on the statement that he wanted to show him how he was going to tie up a peanut peddler he planned to hold up. Bender, however, was suspicious so Murch said he also took with him another boy, John Miller, aged 10, and tied him up first. He then released Miller, tied up young Bender and stabbed him in the heart, it is charged.

Three Records In "State of Wilkes"

Interesting Bulletin Is Issued By Department At Raleigh

An interesting bulletin, depicting the changes that have taken place in Wilkes county during the past three decades, was issued a few days ago by the North Carolina and United States departments of Agriculture. It was given the title, "Wilkes County, the Long-Time Record Holder."

A drawing, showing C. C. Wright, who became superintendent of the Wilkes county school system in 1899, visiting the schools in a buggy, is of interest. It calls attention to the long service—34 years—of Mr. Wright.

Mention is also made of the long record of service of A. G. Hendren, county farm agent. Mr. Hendren has served in that capacity for 22 years.

The following comment was made:

"It was in 1921 that the Commissioners of Wilkes County decided that the farm census reports were of doubtful value and use. At the suggestion of one member, a talk was made to them. Since then, their reports have been consistently excellent, averaging 96.6 percent for eleven years. These surveys have proven to be a paying investment to that county."

"This county hugs up against the Blue Ridge Mountains on the west and north, while the Brushy Mountains border on the south. The Yadkin River valley provides fertile farming lands. On the mountain sides are apple orchards. Cattle and pastures are common, though not nearly as extensive as on the west side of the mountains. The barn above is the outline of Wilkes county."

"Mr. C. C. Wright has been Superintendent of Schools for about thirty-four years. This is another record. He is interested in all practical and educational endeavors, including such basic information as crop reports and the farm census surveys provide. His agricultural teachers have long used these as a part of their regular class work in addition to their community talks and farmer night classes. Mr. Wright was one of the first ardent Boys' Corn Club supporters."

"Mr. A. G. Hendren was the original Farm Agent and has served so for twenty-two years. Here is a third record. He, as well as the educational forces, finds the annual farm survey inventories ideal for farm outlook plans, diversification, study township projects and comparisons, county analyses and for other helpful information."

"We are proud of the 'State of Wilkes.' No difficulty is experienced in maintaining voluntary crop reporters there. They have no appreciable cash crops, but enjoy good living, due to their livestock, fruit, vegetables and grain crops. Of the 122,000 acres of plowable land, 25 percent was idle last year, 16 percent was in improved pasture land, leaving 71,000 acres of crop land. This was divided as follows: Corn 52 percent; wheat 15; hays 12; rye 8; cowpeas and soy beans for seed 6 percent. Cotton and tobacco occupied only half of 1 percent of the cultivated land. Fruit trees showed 300,000 of bearing age. Milk cows numbered 7,000 and all cattle over 13,000. Hogs were about 7,000, but only 716 sows for their 5,300 farm owners."

"This and other mountainous counties has a surplus of cattle, hay, corn, fruit, rye and vegetables, to sell. By making yearly surveys not only is the Farm Agent enabled to "diagnose" problems, but other counties and states may also appreciate its advantages. Thus, an advertising service is performed. Instead of it being the former isolated county, even the mountain cove farmer is almost on the highway, so far as an outlet for his products is concerned. Yes, it has become a township and even an individual farmer aid in Wilkes county."

ADULTERY IS CHARGED

Lenoir, May 8.—Six years ago Garfield Nelson, furniture factory employe, and Ella Glenn began living together on route No. 5 as man and wife, but today Nelson was in jail pending the posting of $500 bond for adultery because, the woman says, he failed to go through with the ceremony of a wedding. They have one child.

RESOLUTION IS PASSED BY LOCAL LEGION POST

Following is a copy of the resolution passed by the Wilkes County Post 125, American Legion, at its meeting last Friday evening:

"Mr. Commander—Comrades: We deem it time to make due acknowledgement of the services rendered by the Building Committee and friends of this Post for the part they took in the erection and completion of 'The Hut,' and in making this acknowledgement we offer the following resolution—

"Therefore be it resolved; That the members of Wilkes County Post No. 125 of The American Legion take this opportunity of conveying to the members of the Building Committee, A. F. Kilby, Mrs. A. W. Horton and A. G. Finley our sincere appreciations and gratitude for their faithful and efficient services rendered in the fulfillment of the task placed upon them by this organization."

"Whereas be it resolved; That this Post Express to Sergeant I. E. Valentine its thanks for the valuable service rendered in salvaging the old building in Wilkesboro, and for his time spent, advice and suggestions given during the construction of this building. We also express to other members of the American Legion and The Legion Auxiliary our appreciations for their assistance in this work."

"Be it further resolved; That this Post thank, both the City and County Welfare Departments, for the valuable assistance in making this structure possible at this time. Neither would we fail to remember those individuals who have toiled so faithfully in the erection of this building, and have given us a quality of workmanship far in excess of the wages received."

"Moreover be it resolved; That we gratefully acknowledge the gifts of our friends in the City and County who have made donations to us, both for furnishing 'The Hut' and for the beautification of the grounds. We can in no way hope to repay you for these valuable gifts, and we only hope you to feel that you have played an important part in this work, and ask that you accept our sincere thanks."

"We respectfully submit this resolution, and move you Mr. Commander that it be placed in the minutes of this Post as acknowledging the services rendered by members and friends of this organization."

BEER'S RETURN HELP AUTOMOBILE SALES

Detroit, Mich.—Concrete evidence of the spurt to automotive sales provided by legalization of 3.2 beer was contained in the report compiled here today showing that Chevrolet dealers sold more than 1,500 new trucks and passenger cars directly to brewers and distributors during the first twenty days of new beer.

Sales ranged from huge van-trailer type trucks capable of hauling several hundred cases of the newly legalized beverage to "Standard Six" passenger cars for use by salesmen and advance advertising men. In the first week dealers reported selling 549 trucks and 76 passenger cars, mostly to distributors, inasmuch as most established breweries already had fleets of trucks and passenger cars in use for local transportation of by-products which they had been manufacturing during the long dry era, officials said.

A considerable volume of additional business was done with industries allied with the breweries, such as sugar suppliers, pretzel makers, bottle and cap manufacturers and kindred lines, it was stated.

Stake and platform bodies mounted on the regular Chevrolet 131-inch and 157-inch wheel-base are in high favor for hauling case beer for retail delivery, while van bodies are preferred by many wholesale bottlers because the closed body keeps out rays of the sun, reduces possibility of theft in transit, and provides an opportunity for advertising display on the side of the body.

A noteworthy feature of the report was that sales in volume resulted only in those states where beer was immediately legalized, distributors in states with pending legislation preferring to wait until they know where they stand before making automotive commitments.

Of the 33,000 acre sof cultivated land in Burke county, 31,000 acres are being used for food and feed crops this season, says R. L. Sloan, county agent.

Three Swarms of Bees From One Stand In 9 Days

Floyd Costner Tells of Unusual Event; Other News of Community

PORES KNOB, Route 1, May 9.—Most of the bee keepers must be having good success with their bees this year. We have already noted several good reports in The Journal-Patriot so here goes another.

Floyd Costner tells us of having three swarms from one stand within a period of nine days. Mr. Elzie Campbell, who has eleven old stands has had ten swarms and thus far only five of his old stands have been swarmed. Many others in this section are also having very good success.

Mrs. Floyd Hendren and little daughter, Cathryn, visited Misses Florence and Rosa Lea Moore, one day last week.

Miss Winnie Childers, of Hidenite, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Childers.

Mr. and Mrs. Odell Moore and family were the welcome guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Parlier, last Sunday afternoon.

Flora Belle Anderson spent Sunday evening with Annie Meadows.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Poole, of Alexander county, spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Poole's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Moore.

We were pleased to see such a large crowd at Sunday school last Sunday. Over a hundred were present and we sincerely hope that the people will continue to take advantage of the beautiful, warm Sundays as they roll around this summer and go to church as much as possible. Our presence means very much to our churches and it is our duty to attend these services. We are always very glad to have visitors with us and we hope they will come every time it is convenient.

Miss Pauline Campbell, of Alexander county, visited her grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Campbell, last week.

Miss Nita Parlier gladly entertained several girl friends at her home last Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Reavis and little daughter, Bettie Joe, spent Sunday with Mrs. Reavis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Hendren.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Moore, motored across the Blue Ridge Mountains, last Sunday, visiting relatives and friends. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Moore.

The farmers in this section are getting along rather slowly just now with their work due to the hard, washing rains we have had for the last few days.

Mr. Virgil Moore, of Gilreath, was the welcome guest of Ray Parlier, Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Frazier and little son, Finley, spent Saturday night with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hubbard.

Hemp, May 8.—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed five store buildings here early yesterday and before it was brought under control threatened to wipe out the entire business section of this Moore county town. The loss was variously estimated at upwards of $50,000 or more.
