Methodist Church Notes
One of the most inspiring sights was witnessed Sunday morning when the church auditorium was crowded with men. The occasion was the culmination of the interdenominational exchange of teachers of men's classes. Rev. Eugene Olive taught the lesson on "The Lordship of Jesus." The writer heartily commends the presidents of the three classes for this unique and successful enterprise. It was fine! The lesson was taught with skill and high interest.

At the morning service Mother's Day was observed. The church was decorated with red and white peonies. A congregation that filled the auditorium greeted the preacher who spoke on "Mothers and Children." The offertory was sung by Mrs. Lucille Farmer, who used, "Little Mother, O Mine." Miss Lois Scroggs played "Mother Macree," at the anthem period. The congregation stood for thirty seconds of silence in memory of the mothers who have died during the year. At the closing another thirty seconds of silence was observed in honor of living mothers. Mrs. A. E. Spainhour offered the prayer of the morning and Mrs. W. P. Horton read the Scripture Lesson. Al Smith Will Not Run
New York, May 14.—Alfred E. Smith, four times governor of New York and once a presidential candidate, tonight definitely declared his refusal to run for mayor of New York in the November election.

In a crisply-worded statement he ended all doubt about his position by saying he would not under any circumstances accept "any nomination for that office or any other office" in next fall's municipal ballot contest.

"There is no compulsion or persuasion that can affect my decision; this is final," he stated.

Nearly 100,000 persons use the elevators of a single building in New York every day.

It is estimated that at least a hundred persons in New York make a living by examining clothes in smart shop windows and sketching those which can be copied.
