

Early Construction of Highway 16 Between Glendale Springs and Millers Creek Believed Certain

Chairman E. B. Jeffress Reported to Look With Favor On the Project

IMPROVEMENT NEEDED Would Open Up Shortest and Most Scenic Route To Mountain Section

The highway building program which will get under way this summer with federal funds will include the improvement of the section of Highway No. 16 between Millers Creek and the Wilkes-Ashe line at Glendale Springs, according to current reports.

E. B. Jeffress, chairman of the new prison-highway department, is reported to have looked with favor upon this project since he became highway chairman, but operating with curtailed funds during the depression years he has found it impossible to get to this section of highway. However, with the $11,000,000 now available, it is believed that this will be one of the first projects to claim his attention.

If the Millers Creek-Glendale Springs section of Highway 16 is improved, it is also thought likely that the Warrensville-Trade, Tenn., section will receive consideration. When these links are completed, the shortest route from points in Tennessee to Piedmont North Carolina will be opened up.

Highway 16 is the only important link in the east to west highway system which has not been hardsurfaced. It connects Wilkes with Ashe county.

At the present time, it is in a deplorable condition, many Ashe miles taking the ten or twenty miles longer routes by Fleetwood or Perkinsville, near Boone, to travel to North Wilkesboro.

When Highway 16 is improved and hardsurfaced, one of the most scenic routes in the state will be opened up. The mountain drive to West Jefferson is very scenic, especially when the rhododendron is in bloom. The river drive from Jefferson to the Tennessee line is unsurpassed.

Employment of the number of men who would be required on this project would go far toward relieving the welfare departments in Ashe and Wilkes of their present load, it is believed.

The favorable attitude of Chairman Jeffress is greatly appreciated by Wilkes and Ashe people who have been hoping for action on this road when sufficient funds were made available.

FUNERAL CONDUCTED FOR MELVIN BRYANT

Elkin, June 17.—Funeral rites for Melvin Bryant, 26, of the Fall Creek section of Yadkin county, who died yesterday in the Wilkes Hospital from ulcer of the stomach, were conducted this morning at 11 o'clock from Fall Creek Baptist church by Rev. James Murray, pastor, assisted by Revs. J. W. Bryant, J. G. Allgood and I. W. Vestal. Interment was made in the church cemetery.

Seriously ill only a few days, the death of this esteemed young man came as a blow to a host of friends, no citizen of the community holding a higher place in the hearts of the people than he who was called in the prime of young manhood. He was a member and a regular worshipper at Fall Creek Baptist church, and his life was an example of the religion which he professed in early life.

Surviving are his young wife, Mrs. Ruth Evans Bryant, one four-year-old son, Alden; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bryant and the following sisters and brothers: Misses Merlia, Riddle and Edith Bryant, Herman and a small brother whose name was not given.

The concourse of approximately one thousand friends and the profuse floral tribute bore evidence of the esteem in which he was held.

Gilliam Grissom Expected to Run For Governor

Retiring Revenue Collector Is Mentioned as Republican Candidate

VERY POPULAR OFFICIAL

His Record in Office Will Be Advanced in Cause of G. O. P. Slate

(By W. T. Post in Greensboro Daily News)

Raleigh, June 16.—Retiring Collector Gilliam Grissom is going to run for governor in 1936.

A forthright declaration will in time be made by Mr. Grissom, who is now winding up his work and making ready to turn it over to his Democratic successor. The papers for many years have been intimating that Mr. Grissom might offer himself for the governorship sometime, but nobody expected it so long as he could remain in federal office and make the record on which he will ask the votes of the people. But he is soon to be out. Signs abound that he is working out his final fortnight. There is no joy over the certainty of his outgoing. He moves out with no paper editorially calling him a "good riddance." But Mr. Grissom will begin running for governor very soon after he leaves the federal collectorship.

People have done every possible thing to dissuade him. They tell him that he enters the race with a hopeless handicap. "How can you hope to be elected when there is a majority of 300,000 against you?" they ask him. He answers that he would rather have 300,000 of them than 3,000 of them. The 300,000 are dissatisfied taxpayers, he philosophizes. The 3,000 would be satisfied Democrats.

Mr. Grissom isn't making his announcement, but his plans show his mental operations. He knows now that taxes hurt. He will rely on one thing—the ability to cut the cost of government. For him it will be said that he went into the collector's office during the years of its costliest operation and cut that cost 50 per cent. Then he reduced that operating expense another 50 per cent.

If that doesn't interest, nobody can guess anything what will. The collector has now the greatest district in the United States. Its operation is the lowest in the union. He would guarantee to conduct the state government in the same way.

While his Republican politics would be quite a liability, his fiscal record would be regarded by any Democrat as a great asset. He seems to have gone through these 12 years collecting several billions of dollars without making one taxpayer in North Carolina mad. If anybody ever has insulted him for doing his duty the records are bare of the affront. He has made nobody sore for paying tribute, but he has collected the money.

The collector is probably the only man in the commonwealth who tells the people that they love to pay taxes.

Everybody else tells them that they mortally hate it, but the same people who tease their constituencies by calling them tax dodgers and government liars, tell those people that they pay their ordinary debts with scrupulous regularity and enthusiasm. But Mr. Grissom takes the trouble always to assume that the citizen loves his government and is happy to pay for his part of its upkeep. That is the chief difference between him and the current tax collectors. Others think they tickle the taxpayer by telling him how hard taxes come. Mr. Grissom makes 'em like it when they pay.

Whether the retiring collector operates from Raleigh or from Greensboro or still more, from branch offices, he is certain to operate. The doctors have told him to go to it. Sometime ago he took out some life insurance. The Episcopal psalter told him that he has four more years to live; the insurance company assured him that he should hang around at least 14 more. Immediately Mr. Grissom gave up the church and joined the insurance company.

It must be news to everybody to know what "Griss" as the old timers called him, is going to do

Wake Up Your Liver. Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blasts up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, which often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes these good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get things two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the same Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware of substitutes. 25c at all stores. © 1931, C. M. Co.
