Last Rites Held For I. S. Call At Wilkesboro Today

Native of Wilkes Passes Suddenly In Hotel Room In Harrisburg, Pa.

WAS BUSINESS LEADER

Brother of Late Clarence and B. S. Call; Entered Business Here

Funeral services were conducted this morning from St. Paul's Episcopal church in Wilkesboro for I. S. Call, of Scranton, Pa., who was found dead in his room at Hotel LaFayette in Harrisburg, Pa., Tuesday morning. B. M. Lackey, of Lenoir, rector of St. Paul's, and Rev. C. W. Robinson, venerable Presbyterian minister, were in charge of the service.

Mr. Call, a native of Wilkes county, had been making his home at Scranton, Pa. for two years. He was on a business trip to Harrisburg and apparently was in the best of health when he retired Monday night. Heart trouble was believed to have been the cause of death.

Isaac Slater Call was a son of the late Isaac and Martha Call, of Wilkesboro, and was one of seven children, only one of whom, Mrs. A. S. Cooper, of Brownwood, now survives. He was a brother of the late Clarence Call and the late B. S. Call, long prominent in business and political circles in this section of the state. Three sisters, Mrs. Alice A. Prevette, Mrs. Frank Davis and Lollie Call, preceded him to the grave.

Mr. Call was 52 years of age. Beginning his business career in Wilkesboro, Mr. Call was associated with his brother, Clarence, for five years. He then sold his interest in the business and accepted a position as traveling representative for the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company. Three years later he moved to Savannah, Ga. where he organized the Call Bakers' Service Corporation. Mr. Call continued in this business until his death and his corporation had offices in New York City, Chicago, Ill., Boston, Mass., Cleveland, Ohio, Scranton, Pa. and Savannah.

In August of 1906, Mr. Call was married to Miss Gertrude Norton, of Savannah, Ga., who survives him.

Mr. Call was the last of the three Call brothers, all of whom were long prominent in the business life of this section. He had, however, been residing out of the state for so many years that he was not so well known locally as his two brothers.

The body of Mr. Call arrived in Winston-Salem early today and was met there by Mr. and Mrs. John E. Justice, Mrs. Clarence Call and Mr. and Mrs. Savage.

Mr. A. T. Jones and son, Sam, of Harmony, were visitors in the city this morning.

Thieves Purloin Car At Traphill

Miss Pearl Holbrook Loses 1933 Model Chevrolet; Taken From Garage

A 1933 model Chevrolet coach, owned by Miss Pearl Holbrook, was stolen from the garage at the home of Miss Holbrook's grandmother, Mrs. Fannie C. Holbrook, at Traphill Tuesday night.

Efforts to find some trace of the stolen automobile have been unsuccessful, there being no clue left by the thieves.

Clark Recovers

Injured Man Able To Leave Duke Hospital Last Week

Paul Clark, of Granite Falls, who was injured some time ago when he was shot in the head during a scuffle with Louie Blackburn over a pistol, was able to return to his home last week and spent the week-end near here with friends.

Clark's recovery was remarkable in view of the fact that the bullet entered his head back of the right ear and lodged under the left eye. His mind was not affected and his eye-sight was completely regained.

After treatment at the Wilkes Hospital, he was carried to Duke Hospital at Durham where he was a patient for several days.

Mountain Lions Meet Ramblers Here Tomorrow

Season's Outstanding Gridiron Contest To Be Staged At Fairgrounds

TO START AT 3:30 P. M.

Alumni of North Wilkesboro and Wilkesboro high schools are expected to gather here in large numbers tomorrow afternoon for the gridiron contest between the Mountain Lions and Ramblers. The kickoff is scheduled for 3:30 o'clock.

Rivals in sports for many years, the teams representing the two schools can be counted upon to battle their hardest in the fifth renewal of gridiron rivalry.

Recent performances seem to indicate that the Mountain Lions have the edge over the Ramblers, but observers point out that Wilkesboro may always be depended upon to force the Mountain Lions to extend themselves to win.

The interest shown by alumni of the two schools is indication that the largest football audience of the season will witness the clash tomorrow afternoon.

Kiwanis To Be Host To Ladies

E. G. Finley Planning Home-Talent Program of Humorous Nature

Wives and sweethearts of Kiwanians will be entertained at a dinner meeting of the Kiwanis Club tomorrow evening at Hotel Wilkes. The meeting will begin at 7 o'clock.

E. G. Finley, program chairman, is planning a home-talent program of a humorous nature and business will be outlaid for the duration of the meeting. The various features will be kept a secret until the meeting and an evening of fun and merriment is assured.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wrenn, 9-year-old son of Mrs. Ida Whitley, of Dehart, was taken by death Tuesday. Funeral services were held at Oak Ridge church today at 11 o'clock.

The youth is survived by his mother, two brothers, J. R. and Blaine, and one sister, Eva.

County Basketball Tournament Will Get Under Way Early Next Month

Plans Are Made At Meeting of Wilkes County Schoolmasters Club; Rules and Regulations Are Specified; B. T. Henderson Delivers Address To The Club

Plans for the annual basketball tournament for the high schools of the county were made at the November meeting of the Wilkes County Schoolmasters Club Monday evening. It was announced that the tournament will get under way December 7 and continue in progress for 12 weeks.

The schoolmasters held their meeting in the rooms of the Home Economics Department of Wilkesboro high school. A delightful dinner was served by members of the Home Economics class.

Johnson Will Go After Firms Not Observing Code

Recovery Administrator Is Determined To Obtain Better Compliance

CONDITIONS ARE "BAD"

Hope To Overcome Objections of Labor In Code At Hearing Soon

Washington, Nov. 15.—Hugh S. Johnson came back from his mid-western swing today voicing determination to obtain better compliance with blue eagle agreements and codes and announced tonight that, beginning December 12, NRA would conduct public hearings on charges of profiteering.

Johnson told newspapermen he had found compliance conditions "bad" and that steps would have to be taken at once to correct the situation. He took that report to President Roosevelt, when at the luncheon table, he described in detail his findings on a ten-day speaking trip that took him from Chicago and Minneapolis as far south as Fort Worth.

The profiteering investigation, at which anybody's complaint that is backed up by suitable evidence will be received, was announced as "purely a fact finding inquiry at which all interested parties will be given ample opportunity for the preparation and presentation of any facts bearing on the subject."

At the hearings individual consumers will have a chance to lodge complaints against dealers, and any of the latter who have a grievance against manufacturers likewise will be allowed to do so.

Simultaneously, NRA moved today into the differences between labor and employer groups over the construction code, announcing that a public hearing would be held Monday over revised copies of the master code for the industry and supplementary compact. Officials said that in the revision many of organized labor's objections would be met and others would be left for action after public discussion.

Monte Weaver Is Visitor In City

Washington Pitching Star Guest of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Goss Thursday

Monte Weaver, of Lansing, Ashe county, star pitcher of the Washington Senators of the American League, was a visitor in the city Thursday. Mr. Weaver hurled one game for Washington in the World Series and the success of the Senators next season will depend to no little extent upon his big right arm.

While in the county, Mr. Weaver was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Goss, of Wilkesboro.

Eugene Whitley Dies

Eugene Whitley, 9-year-old son of Mrs. Ida Whitley, of Dehart, was taken by death Tuesday. Funeral services were held at Oak Ridge church today at 11 o'clock.

The youth is survived by his mother, two brothers, J. R. and Blaine, and one sister, Eva.

LOSERS 22 SONS

Croydon, Eng.—The tragedy of motherhood has fallen heavily on "Nanny" Heartfield, 80.

She has had 22 sons and lost them all. Ten were killed in the World War, three were killed by a runaway horse and the other nine have died of various illnesses.—From the Winston-Salem Journal.

Each team will play 12 games, six at home and six away from home. One game will be played each week, this to be played on Thursday afternoon. The regulation was also included that no player who is not

Hot Lunch Program Inaugurated In County Schools By Relief Director

Federal Court Begins Monday

Judge Johnson J. Hayes To Preside; Lanier Case To Be Tried At Term

Federal court for the trial of criminal cases originating in the division composed of Wilkes, Ashe, Alleghany and Watauga will convene at the courthouse in Wilkesboro Monday with Judge Johnson J. Hayes, of Greensboro, United States middle district of North Carolina jurist, presiding. The docket is largely composed of cases for violation of the national prohibition laws.

The trial of John Thomas Lanier, of Winston-Salem, charged with attempting to extort $10,000 from Richard J. Reynolds under a threat to kidnap Mrs. Reynolds, is to be held during the term. The case was moved here from Winston-Salem.

ODD NEWS BITS

Contrary to what one might reasonably expect, the infant death rate in North Carolina is less in the more remote and inaccessible districts than in the urban and more densely populated and accessible rural districts. Here are some comparisons taken from the North Carolina Health Bulletin for October: Alamance has an infant death rate of 68.8 for each thousand of live births, while Alexander's rate is only 45 to the thousand. Alamance is semi-urban while Alexander is a mountain county. Continuing the comparison, we find an infant death rate in Anson of 71.1 and in Alleghany a rate of 60.2. The rate in Caldwell is 52.6 and that in Camden 94. These comparisons could be continued to show that in general the infant death rate is much higher in the eastern and middle counties than in the western counties.—Upton G. Wilson in the Winston-Salem Journal.

Twenty-four Wilkes Boys Enroll In Civilian Conservation Army

They Are Taken To Charlotte For Enlistment Under Direction of Mrs. G. G. Foster; 45 Cases Are Taken Off Wilkes Relief List By The Boys

Twenty-four Wilkes boys, the largest contingent in several weeks, were carried to Charlotte Saturday and enrolled in the Civilian Conservation Corps of the state for a period of six months. There was only one rejection, it was learned.

The enrollment of the 24 boys in the conservation army removed 45 relief cases from the Wilkes list, Mrs. G. G. Foster, county director of federal emergency relief, under whose direction the boys were taken to Charlotte, said.

The following boys were accepted: Carl Blackburn, Doughton; Cecil McNeil, Millers Creek; Curtis Rose, Doughton; Ira Burchett, Traphill; T. Winfield Cooper, Purlear; Wilmer Woodrow Thompson, State Road; Raymond Seymour Pearson, Millers Creek; Woodrow Wilson Johnson, Fore

Teachers Asked To Co-operate In Supplying Lunches For Relief Cases

R. F. C. WILL PAY COST

Success of Movement Is Dependent Upon Teachers, Mrs. Foster Says

Mrs. G. G. Foster, county director of federal emergency relief, stated yesterday that she is endeavoring to inaugurate a hot lunch program for relief cases in all schools of the county.

The success of the program depends almost entirely upon the co-operation of the teachers. Mrs. Foster said. Cards have been mailed to the teachers asking that they work out a program that is workable in their schools and to submit this to her for approval.

"Where schools have a stove with a flat top, it will be comparatively easy to make soup," Mrs. Foster said. "Several plans have been discussed and most of them include a bowl of soup. A glass of milk for each child from a relief family can usually be secured. Or sandwiches may be provided them."

Mrs. Foster said she wished it understood that she would not be able to pay for food furnished any child except those from relief families. She pointed out, however, that some teachers were planning to offer hot lunches to all the children, charging those not on the relief list the actual cost for the lunch.

The hot lunch plan is being worked out in an effort to help the undernourished children from relief families. Cooking utensils and bowls and spoons can usually be secured from homes in the community without cost.

Mrs. Foster said several teachers were planning to let children who were not on the relief list provide materials for soup and in this way pay their part of the cost. Mrs. Foster said she would be glad to confer with the teachers about their lunch program, but that they should work out the best plan for their own schools and have it ready for submission to her when they came in to discuss the matter.

Mrs. Foster said she would be in the county welfare office every day for the next ten days and will be available for conferences with the teachers on this project. She stated also that she will meet the teachers at any time after office hours if they will make an appointment in advance. She is very anxious to get the work started and will devote her entire time to the movement.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT, JURORS BELIEVED IT

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 14.—James Clark's story won him a speedy acquittal on a charge of larceny of an automobile today.

"It was this way," Clark told the jury. "I was very much intoxicated that night and I leaned against the back of the automobile to get relief. The automobile started moving. I didn't notice it and kept on leaning against it, kept moving with it. I didn't want to steal the car."

Red Cross Roll Call In County Now Under Way

Ladies Soliciting Memberships In Residential District of the City

SEEK BIG ENROLLMENT

Business District Is Canvassed By Kiwanians and the Lions Club

The annual Red Cross roll call began in earnest Monday morning as ladies of the city canvassing the residential section and Kiwanians and Lions calling upon the business district.

Rev. Eugene Olive, chairman of the roll call, stated before leaving to attend the State Baptist convention that a large enrollment is sought this year and that every effort possible will be made to obtain a larger membership for the Wilkes chapter than had been previously secured here.

"This will take some sacrifices on the part of individuals," Rev. Mr. Olive stated, "but in view of the large amount of flour, clothing, etc. which Red Cross sent here last year, we cannot afford to do less than give liberally to Red Cross."

C. B. Eller, county superintendent of schools, has charge of the campaign in the rural sections and satisfactory progress is being made, according to early reports.

The campaign in Wilkesboro is under the direction of T. E. Story who plans an intensive campaign prior to the closing of the drive on Thanksgiving Day.

Penney Officials In Hopeful Mood

W. H. Clark, Local Store Manager, Attends Conference At Charlotte, N. C.

Officials of the J. C. Penney company have a "new hopefulness" in regard to business conditions and are looking forward to more prosperous days since the efforts of the government to bring about economic improvement started several months ago. Mr. W. H. Clark, manager of the local Penney store, stated following his return from a two-day conference of Penney representatives at Charlotte Monday and Tuesday.

E. G. Ruffner, of Atlanta, district manager, who attended the conference, was very optimistic, Mr. Clark said.

Fifteen managers from stores in the Carolinas were in attendance and were told of merchandising plans and other activities by Mr. Ruffner, L. A. Martin of the New York office, and James Noble, junior buyer of the New York office.

Business has increased considerably since the stores began operating under the NRA and many employees have been added to the stores. Penney officials stated.
