Cecilia Music Club Monthly Meeting
The Cecilia Music Club was delightfully entertained Friday evening by Katharine Hendren, Mrs. Joe Guthrie, and Lillian Lamy, at the home of Mrs. F. B. Hendren.

After a brief business session, with Virginia Laws presiding, the interesting program was given in two parts. The first part was a study of Frederick Chopin and some of his piano literature. Talks on his life and compositions were made by Mrs. F. B. Hendren and Lucile Hartley. Melvina Williams played a Chopin "Mazurka," and Lucile Hartley played the brilliant Chopin "Waltz in D Flat."

The second part of the program was devoted to American composers and their music. Katharine Hendren sketched the life of Louis Gottschalk of New Orleans, and played his "Printemps d'Amour." Arthur Lowe talked interestingly of Stephen Foister.

and played "Old Folks at Home." Selections by other American composers were played by Nell Henderson, Madge Jennings, Ella May Moore and George Ogilvie. Two of Cadman's songs were rendered by Howard Pharr and Forest Church. Virginia Laws read an article on Lamar Stringfield, North Carolina's most noted composer.

The U. D. C. Held An Interesting Meet Monday

The life of Sidney Lanier and a study of some of his poems occupied the feature place on the program given at the U. D. C. meeting of the Wilkes Valley Guards Chapter on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. P. E. Brown in Wilkesboro with Mrs. J. W. Neal as associate hostess. The program was given in honor of Lanier's birthday which was February third. In the absence of the president, Mrs. B. R. Underwood, the meeting was presided over by Miss Nell Rousseau. The regular routine of business was transacted.

The history of Lanier's life, who was a southern poet and a native of Georgia, was given by Mrs. Brown. Attention was called to the fact that a movement is under way to have his name placed in the Hall of History in 1936. Miss Ellen Robinson sang, "Into the Woods My Master Went," and Mrs. F. G. Holman read, "The Song of Chattahoochee."

In observance of George Washington's birthday, Mrs. C. D. Coffey, Sr., told about some interesting incidents connected with his life. Mrs. Brown showed a newspaper printed at the time of his death carrying a full account of the funeral, names of pall bearers, and a diagram of the funeral procession.

the month was an article read by Mrs. C. E. Jenkins, about Mr. Lowery Dula, who is now 83 years of age. He lives near Ferguson. To close the program Miss Ursula Blevins rendered a beautiful piano solo. A pleasant social hour followed the meeting.

Wilkesboro Y. W. A. Met With Miss Eula Lowe

Miss Eula Lowe was hostess to the members of the Wilkesboro Baptist Y. W. A. in their monthly meeting at her home on Monday evening. A short business session preceded the program with Miss Mable Hendren in the chair. Miss Katherine Hendren, with the assistance of a number of the members, gave a splendid program. Delicious refreshments were served to the fourteen members attending at the close of the evening. Names were drawn by the members to play Pollyanna to each other during the month.

Mrs. Frank Tomlinson Gave Delightful Party

A pretty party of the week was the one given by Mrs. Frank Tomlinson at her lovely home on Memorial Avenue Saturday evening when she entertained a number of her friends at bridge and rook. Four tables of bridge and one of rook were arranged in a setting of blooming plants and greenery. A series of spirited progressions resulted in the high score award in bridge going to Mrs. J. E. Turner. Mrs. E. E. Eller proved to be the most successful at rook.

Mrs. Joe Pearson and Mrs. Bryan Gilreath, brides of last November, were remembered with beautiful gifts by Mrs. Tomlinson. Mrs. Pearson before her marriage was Miss Laura Miller, of Todd, and Mrs. Gilreath was formerly Miss Gail Bumgarner, of Wilkesboro.

At the conclusion of play tempting refreshments, with touches of the Valentine season, were served by the hostess with the aid of Mrs. Weaver Starr and Miss Virginia Tomlinson. The tatty cards were also in Valentine design.

Y. W. A. Met With Mrs. Tal Barnes Monday Night

Seventeen members and two visitors were on hand for the February meeting of the North Wilkesboro Baptist Y. W. A. that was held at the home of Mrs. Tal Barnes on Monday evening. Miss Lola Church presided for routine business. Program leader for the evening was Miss Mary Ella McCradie, who used as a theme, "Marching With the Heroes." Those taking part on the program were Misses Dare Bumgarner, Lunda Hendren, Mozelle Cochran, Lola Foster, and Mrs. Bernard Williams. A social hour was enjoyed at the end of the program.

Miss Bostic Was Hostess To Junior Woman's Club

The Junior Woman's Club, composed of the members of the younger set, met in the music room of the Wilkesboro high school building for their January meeting on Friday afternoon with Miss Helen Bostic, leader of the group, as hostess. For the business period the president, Miss Marjorie Dula, presided, several important matters coming up for discussion among which was making plans for a play to be given sometime soon.

A splendid musical program was given with Miss Katherine Hendren in charge using for a theme, "Music of the South." Mrs. R. E. Pevette, a guest of the club, delighted the members with a vocal solo, "The Boatman's Song." Miss Helen Dula gave an interesting article on "Music of the South," and Miss Eva Lee Guthrie one on Lamar Stringfield. A piano solo, "Printemps d'Amour" was rendered by Miss Hendren. The last part of the program pertained to Chopin with an article on his works by Miss Kate Ogilvie and a Chopin waltz played by Miss Lucille Hartley.

Friday Book Club Entertained by Mrs. Gwyn

A lovely party of the week was the one given by Mrs. R. W. Gwyn at her home on Sixth street Friday afternoon when she entertained the members of the Friday Book club with a few additional guests. The club president, Mrs. C. E. Jenkins, presided while the roll was called by Miss Lizzie Hisle, the members responding with current events of decided interest. A most entertaining feature of the afternoon was the humorous reading given by Mrs. Elizabeth Wagoner, who in her own charming manner gave, "Mary Carey." The impersonation of Mary by Mrs. Wagoner provoked much laughter from the guests. Visitors of the club were Mrs. W. E. Jones, Mrs. Wagoner and Mrs. J. H. Armbrust, of Hickory, a former member of the club. A tempting salad course followed by sweets was served at the close of the afternoon from small tables attractively arranged in the rooms where the guests were entertained.

Mrs. Don Coffey Is Bridge Club Hostess

Mrs. Don Coffey was charming hostess at her home on Memorial Avenue Friday afternoon entertaining the members of her bridge club. Two tables were placed for the game amid a pretty setting of Narcissus, forsythia and greenery. The game was in play throughout the late hours of the afternoon and was followed by delicious refreshments, consisting of a salad and sweet course. In serving the hostess had the assistance of her daughter, Miss Lura Coffey.

Tea and Topics Club Met With Miss Lola Church

The members of the Tea and Topics club were delightfully entertained by Miss Lola Church on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Rufus Church on the Boone Trail. The guests spent an hour or more informally in sewing and chatting after which the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Church and Mrs. Murphy Hunt, served dainty refreshments in two courses. Mrs. Claude Johnson and Mrs. Church were the only guests of the club. Potted plants made effective decorations for the home.

Dr. E. M. Summerell Died Several Days Ago

Dr. E. M. Summerell, 76, prominent citizen of the Mill Bridge community of Rowan county, and a grandson of Dr. Elisha Mitchell, for whom Mount Mitchell is named and who was buried on top of this highest peak east of the Rockies, died on Jan. 28th. Dr. Summerell had been in ill health for the past several months, and gradually grew weaker until the end came in a Stateville hospital where he had been carried for treatment.

Funeral services were conducted at the Thytira Presbyterian church at Mill Bridge on Monday of last week, the body being taken afterwards to Christ church cemetery at Cleveland for interment.

Dr. Summerell married Miss Lillie Barber early in life, who with six children, survives. Miss Barber was a first cousin of the late W. W. Barber, of Wilkesboro. Mr. and Mrs. William Barber attended the funeral and burial services.

Dr. Summerell was the father of Miss Jane Summerell, a former member of the city school faculty.

FARMERS AGAIN TO GET LOANS

Washington, Feb. 1.—Less than 24 hours after it had been introduced, legislation to make available $34,000,000 to help farmers plant their 1934 crops and another million to feed stock in drought and storm stricken areas was approved today by the house agriculture committee.

Carefully drawn to meet an objection that the government should not lend money to produce more commodities on one hand, and carry out a crop reduction program on the other, the measure is to be expedited to prevent delay in getting the benefit to farmers before the planting season starts.

With farm credit officials saying farmers already were making many applications for loans thru the committee decided to raise from $200 to $250 the limit on individual loans.

Figures showed crop production loans in 1933 totaled $57,457,518, of which $53,734,355 were matured, with collections totaling $39,288,803.

Washington, Feb. 1.—Public Works Administrator Ickes said a "general understanding" had been reached with Comptroller General McCarl under which the $100,000,000 federal emergency housing corporation fund could be freed at once for the construction of model homes.
