PERFECT STORY BRINGS LLOYD BACK TO FILMS

Prolonged absence of Harold Lloyd from the screen can be attributed to several reasons. The principal one has been a lack of what he regarded as suitable material. When it is considered that Lloyd for fifteen years has been making comedies loaded with gags, and touching almost every conceivable angle of comedy, slowing down in idea development can be expected.

Two years have elapsed since the comedian was seen in "Movie Crazy." During that period Lloyd decided on a definite change in policy. Straight gag comedies, he realized, were becoming passe. He was facing a critical moment in his career which had been one unbroken string of successes. Instead of trying to suppress the gags in "Movie Crazy," Lloyd determined to go in more for story and characterization, which offered comedy possibilities of course.

Whether prolonged absence from the screen has taken a popularity toll, Lloyd believes, will be answered by "The Cat's Paw," which comes to the New Orpheum Theatre Thursday and Friday, Nov. 8 and 9. "This is a fast-moving age," Lloyd says, "and people forget in a hurry, but I am hoping, to say the least, that absence makes the heart grow fonder—providing you have something to give."

Weird Type of Show Coming To Liberty

If the fear and mystery of the unknown awe and inspire you as they do most people, All Baba's Midnight Seance and Ghost Show will probably satisfy every expectation. This is the only show of its kind on the stage. Feeble efforts have been made to imitate but they are lacking in the elements that have made this particular show the success it is. It is not a vaudeville act, and there is nothing to which it can be compared. The entire idea is to furnish the thrill-seekers with an unusual form of diversion, to satisfy a craving for something different. You may not believe in spirits, but when you see a table leave the stage and float out over the heads of the audience, unsupported or see a message not written by human hands, the mummified hand of many other of the miracles of this show, you will seek some explanation for them; and according to the medium who conducts the Seance, "There is no natural explanation," apparently for some of the manifestation. The purpose of the Seance is to delve into the Supernatural. To learn things which we have no right to know.—Deep dark secrets of Life and Death, which in the natural order of Human Understanding have been denied.

If while lights are lowered a cold clammy hand settles itself on your shoulder, be calm, don't get excited; it may be only a friendly spirit trying to get acquainted.

In connection with the Seance there will be a weird, spooky picture.

This program has been especially arranged for Tuesday, November 6th at an unusual midnight show. This particular date has been selected as it is election day.

Ladies' and Misses' unbelievable Coat and Suit values. Popular swagger tweed suits in many styles and colors. New smart Dress Coats with newest fur trims, in all wool crepes and new bark weaves.
