

Sheriff Leaves For Miami, Fla.

Will Bring Back Clay and Calvin Welborn to Face Robbery Charges

Sheriff W. B. Somers left Tuesday for Miami, Florida, to bring back to the county Clay and Calvin Welborn, who are wanted on a charge of breaking into the home of Carl Redding at Road on November 19 and carrying away $1,200 in cash.

Circulars and fingerprints of the two Welborns were distributed to police departments of several cities and only a few days elapsed before a message was received from Miami stating that the wanted men were being held.

Sheriff Somers was accompanied to Miami by Mrs. Somers and their daughter, Peggy, and D. B. Swearingen, of Traphill. They are expected to return Saturday or Sunday.

ELIGIBLE VOTERS ON BANKHEAD ACT

The Bankhead referendum to be held December 14, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., will give every actual cotton grower an opportunity to vote on whether he wants the act continued in 1935, says Dean I. O. Schaub, of State College.

Any person who signed a cotton contract, any person who was eligible for tax-exemption certificates this year, any person who shows he has the right to produce cotton on a cotton farm, or any person who has written proof that he has arranged a lease or share-cropping agreement to produce cotton on a cotton farm in 1935 is eligible to vote.

When two or more persons have the right to produce cotton on a cotton farm, all such persons shall be eligible to vote, but no grower may vote more than once even though he may grow cotton in several counties. When several persons, such as husband, wife, and children, produce cotton under one contract or agreement, only the person who entered into the agreement may vote.

A list of eligible voters will be furnished the community committee to conduct the referendum. Any person not listed as eligible, may vote if he thinks he is eligible and place his vote in a sealed envelope which will not be opened until the committee determines whether he is eligible. If eligible, their votes will be counted.

The Cotton Production Control Association in each county will name the community committees, designate the voting places, furnish lists of eligible voters, and supply ballots and forms for tabulating the vote. Announcements will be made of where the voting places will be located.

The returns on the referendum will be announced as soon as possible after the votes have been tabulated.
