N. W. Methodist Circle in Meetings Tuesday

The three circles of the North Wilkesboro Methodist church held meetings of much interest on Tuesday with the Franklin circle meeting at night and Circle No. 1 and the Mary Brame Circle meeting in the afternoon.

Circle No. 1 was entertained by Mrs. Genio Cardwell and Mrs. W. G. Gabriel at the home of Mrs. Cardwell with fifteen members attending. Presiding for the business part of meeting was the chairman, Mrs. Murphy Hunt. Mrs. R. M. Brame gave the devotional.

Hostesses for the Mary Brame Circle were Mrs. J. C. Smoot and Miss Lizzie Hise at their home on Tenth Street. The chairman, Mrs. A. B. Johnston, was in charge and the devotional was led by Mrs. J. C. Smoot. Fifteen members were present.

Lovely Tea Given For Widows Saturday Afternoon

Miss Hattie McLean and Miss Frances Jones, both of Winston-Salem, were charmingly honored Saturday afternoon from four to six when Mrs. F. C. Forester and her daughter, Mrs. Watson Brame, received at an informal tea at their home on D Street. Miss McLean, sister of Mrs. Forester, and Miss Jones were guests of the week-end in the Forester home.

Leah and Mrs. Jones, were Miss Margaret Faw, niece of Mrs. Forester, and her two guests, Miss Eleanor Anthony and Miss Marie Scarborough all three students at Greensboro College, who were here for the week-end with Miss Faw's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Faw.

The interior of the home throughout was decorated with artistic arrangements of yellow jonquills and other spring flowers of the same note. The table was centered by a crystal bowl of exquisite yellow roses about which yellow candles made a frame.

Mrs. Jule Deans and Mrs. Frank Blair, Jr., presided at the tea table and those assisting in the serving were Mrs. Henry Moore, Mrs. Bill Absher, and Miss Grace Dean Forester.

Little Carolyn Moore Celebrated Birthday

Tuesday morning at ten thirty at the kindergarten class, conducted by Mrs. J. L. Clements at her home on Sixth Street, Little Carolyn Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivey Moore, celebrated her sixth birthday anniversary. The children gathered around the birthday table, where the birthday cake held place of honor, and sang happy birthday to the little honoree. Afterwards cream and cake were served to the twenty children present for the occasion. Carolyn received a number of beautiful and useful gifts. Those present besides the kindergarten class were Jane Carter, Margaret Anderson, Eddie Shook and Marjorie Newton.

N. W. Woman's Club Met Monday Afternoon

Mrs. Jack Brame, Mrs. J. D. Schaffer and Mrs. George Forester combined hospitality to the members of the North Wilkesboro Woman's Club in their monthly meeting on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Brame. This meeting marked the close of the club year and with the vice president, Mrs. J. M. Crawford, presiding, the annual reports were given. Mrs. Crawford read the report of the president, Miss Louise Vyne.

Program chairman for the afternoon was Mrs. F. C. Hubbard, who presented the following program. Mrs. J. C. Reins read an article written by Mrs. Roosevelt on gardens, and Mrs. C. E. Jenkins gave several interesting articles from a scrapbook made by Mrs. C. D. Coffey, Sr., pertaining to gardens.

The meeting was well attended and at close of afternoon the hostesses served delicious refreshments during the social hour.

Wilkesboro Y. W. A. Held Meeting Monday Night
The Wilkesboro Y. W. A., of the First Baptist church, held their monthly meeting on Monday evening at the home of Miss Mildred Smithy with Miss Beulah Stewart as associate hostess. The meeting opened with Miss Elizabeth Elyias leading the devotional period after which Mrs. Hazel Johnson and Miss Lollie Harris gave a program on education in the oriental countries.

The business part of the meeting was presided over by the president, Miss Joyce Wellborn, the usual routine of business being transacted. A number of committees were appointed for the year. To close the evening the hostesses served tempting refreshments to the twelve members attending. The April meeting is scheduled to meet with Mrs. Avery Church and Miss Beulah Lowe.

Presbyterian Auxiliary Met Tuesday Afternoon

The meeting Tuesday afternoon of the North Wilkesboro Presbyterian Auxiliary held at the church hut was given over to business matters altogether since the meeting was the last one for the church year. With the president, Mrs. S. P. Mitchell, in the chair yearly reports were presented by the officers, secretaries of causes and circle chairmen. Mrs. Gordon Finley led an impressive devotional period.

The following new officers were elected: vice president, Mrs. J. C. McDiarmid; treasurer, Mrs. Henry Landon; historian, Mrs. C. C. Faw; circle chairmen, No. 1, Miss Norma Stevenson; No. 2, Mrs. Watson Brame; No. 3, Mrs. Gordon Finley; No. 4, Mrs. Bryan Higgins; No. 5, Mrs. Gordon Forester. Around thirty members were present for the meeting.

Improvements Made At New Orpheum

This week workmen began the task of "Spring cleaning," repainting, redecorating and otherwise improving the New Orpheum Theatre.

The New Orpheum has been the source of much favorable comment on its appearance and comfort and the work now being done is designed to add to its good features, according to information gained today from the theatre management.

In addition to thoroughly cleaning and repainting the front and lobby an expert interior decorator has been engaged for work on the inside, which is calculated to further improve the theatre's appearance.
