Friends of Mr. J. M. Bentley will be glad to know that his hand, which has been under the care of physicians for the past three weeks on account of poison ivy, is improving.

The home of Mrs. J. C. Wallace was the scene of a delightful affair Saturday night, April 20, when Mrs. Wallace's daughter, Alma, entertained at a surprise birthday party in celebration of the birthday anniversary of her father, Mr. J. C. Wallace, and houseguest, Mr. A. G. Hart, of Hampton, Tenn. Lovely spring flowers were used effectively throughout the home and formed a colorful background of the attractive party. A variety of games were enjoyed. Supper was served on a large table attractively arranged in the dining room, loaded with a bountiful supply of tempting food and refreshments. Two large cakes with pink and blue candles were the center attractions. Mr. Wallace and Mr. Hart received several nice and useful gifts.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

Washington, May 1. (Auto-caster)—Congress is heading in to a legislative jam which looks as if it might become the most confusing situation in ten years. Nobody who bets his good money that this, that or the other piece of Administration legislation will pass, with or without amendments, stands an excellent chance of becoming an applicant for relief. Some legislation which the President wants will get through, of course, but which particular Administration bills, and in what final form, nobody can predict. And a lot will be left over for next session.

There are several reasons for this confused state of things.

First is the overwhelming desire of most members of both houses to get back home and find out just what their constituents are thinking about. There has been a heavy influx of disquieting reports from all parts of the country, resulting in unsettling the minds of many good Democratic members of both Senate and House. A situation has thus been created in which they are at sea as to just how far they will be upheld by the voters back home if they give undivided loyalty to the New Deal. Numerous of the most ardent New Dealers in Congress have begun to express themselves openly as being "afraid of the cars." No Congressman likes to get run over.

Early June Adjournment

The desire to end the session as speedily as possible is, therefore, growing so strong that it is almost irresistible. There is little likelihood that Congress will adjourn by mid-June, as some predict. It can't possibly pass the essential annual and biennial appropriation bills by that time. It is equally unlikely that it will remain in session most of the summer, as some of the Progressives desire. The movement for a protracted session originates with the group that hopes to put through some radical new tax legislation, but the majority of members is not ready to talk about that yet. So the outlook is for adjournment about the 3rd of July, with a lot of New Deal legislation still pending.

Another impelling reason for the desire to let everything lie over that can possibly be postponed, is that there probably will be no apportionment of the huge work-relief fund until after Congress adjourns, and members do not wish to be on record as voting in opposition to the President's desire on Administration legislation, until after the fund has been allotted to the states and districts. As a matter of fact, there is no clear plan yet worked out for the spending of the work-relief money. It seems doubtful if much of it can get into action this year.

Dodging Issues

Never before have Senators and Representatives done so much dodging of issues and so much voting with tongue in cheek, as it were. The scheme works this way: the leaders of one house make sure that the other house will not approve a bill in the form in which it comes to them; then they proceed to pass it, certain that it will be amended, defeated or held up when it gets to the other end of the Capitol. Thus there was an overwhelming vote for the Social Security bill in the House, but few even of its ardent supporters believe that the Senate will pass anything like the measure which got through the lower House.

The criticism of and attacks upon NRA are having such an effect that there is not much chance of a new NRA measure being drafted or even attempted at this session, unless the President puts the screws on tighter than he now seems inclined to do. The best judgment here is that Congress may by a simple joint resolution to continue the present NRA set-up for another year from June 16th, unless the Supreme Court, in the meantime, declares the whole thing unconstitutional. The general feeling is that NRA is dead, anyway, except for a few large industries.

Opposition to AAA

There is a more decided attitude of opposition toward any strengthening of the AAA. The revolt against the processing taxes has become acute, especially in the case of cotton, both North and South. Drouth and dust-storms in the West have made the feeble efforts of AAA to limit production look ridiculous compared with what Nature can do when it takes a hand. There is great concern on Capitol Hill over the reports of a revolt beginning "at the grass roots" against the increased prices of commodities affected by the processing taxes. Congressmen don't want to be forced to vote again for any sort of crop control, or for taxes that every voter can feel nibbling at his own pocket-book.

The additional billion and a half for the HOLC to aid distressed home-owners in refinancing their mortgages is practically through both houses. Much attention is being given

HENRY FORD POURS MORE MILLIONS IN HIS AUTO BUSINESS

Detroit, April 29. — Henry Ford, who announced a few months ago that "the depression is over as far as the Ford Motor company is concerned," added a few more millions of dollars today to the company's investment in production equipment with the letting of contracts for two more great batteries of coke by-products ovens.

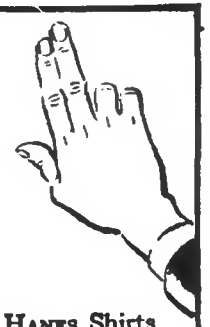

The two new units of 61 ovens each are to cost approximately $4,000,000. Their purchase brings to about $27,000,000 the Ford share of the automobile industry's heaviest expansion investment since the early days of the boom year of 1929.

Salisbury, April 29.—James Smith and C. H. Efrid, local white men, are in jail charged with criminal assault on a young white woman, and Parish Benfield, another local white man, is in jail charged with aiding and abetting in the assault.

The men are said to have offered to take the young woman and a smaller sister and brother home from a carnival late Saturday night and later put the smaller children out of the car. Still later Benfield is said to have left the other men and the woman at a filling station and soon after that the woman claims Smith and Efrid took her to a patch of woods where both assaulted her.

Feels a Lot Better When Black-Draught Relieves Constipation

From many states come reports like the following from Mr. W. M. Henderson, of Jasper, Fla: "I have been taking 'Theodor's Black-Draught' twenty years. I take it for constipation that gives me a dull, tired, aching feeling, and I have headache, too. Black-Draught relieves me of this trouble. After a few doses, I feel as good as new. I keep it in my home. I have a big family. When one of us is ailing (from constipation), we take Black-Draught and almost always feel a lot better. It has been worth its weight in gold to my family." . . . Sold in 25¢ packages. "Children like the Syrup."

to the plight of the southern share-croppers, who have been in perennial distress for a couple of generations. It may take the form of a big appropriation to help them buy farms. There is a strong push behind the Bank-head bill, providing a billion dollars for that purpose.

GOP Stirring Again

Politically, Washington is showing much more interest in the moves to rehabilitate the Republican party. The Middle West is taking the lead, with Henry J. Allen and William A. White of Kansas holding conferences here preliminary to the regional conferences scheduled for this month. The purpose is to try to get the various Republican elements to agree upon a general policy which will not try to be more radical than the New Deal but yet be more liberal than the word "Conservative" implies. How this will work out is anybody's guess, but visiting Republicans the past two or three weeks appear more cheerful than at any time since the 1932 elections.

Housing Projects In 28 Cities Will Be Started Soon, Ickes Announces

Washington, April 29.—Low rental homes for city dwellers and a drive to better the living conditions of farmers who have poor lands were placed high today on the list of projects which President Roosevelt expects to initiate early in the summer.

Talks during the day between the President and some of his chief advisors developed that:

Secretary Ickes has $100,000,000 of housing projects in 23 cities which he hopes to get under way by the middle of August;

Rexford G. Tugwell, director of the rural resettlement program, expects the President to issue an executive order within the next 10 days which will start his agency to functioning;

While the four billion dollar work-relief fund will be used to take persons off relief rolls, and preference will be given to those persons, provision will be made for the employment of some workers who are not on the relief rolls.

New Mecklenburg Twin Succumbs

Charlotte, April 29.—The 22d and 23d children in the family of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Stogner, near here, were twins. Although both were rushed to a baby incubator in a local hospital, one died soon after arrival, but the other today was doing well, weighing all of three and one-half pounds.

KING PRESENTS BILL TO KILL BLUE EAGLE

Washington, April 29.—Long smouldering opposition to NRA within Democratic ranks broke into the open today when Senator King, of Utah, introduced a bill to abolish the recovery administration and transfer its fundamental powers to the federal trade commission.

WHAT BECAME OF THE FIRST THREE MILLION?

9,000,000 electric refrigerators have been sold. Less than 5,000,000 are in use in homes today. What has become of the other 3,000,000?

G-E has built and sold nearly 2,000,000 with sealed-in-steel mechanisms and 97 per cent of these are still serving original owners.

In electric refrigerators performance year after year is more important to you than all other sales features combined. Let's look at the record . . .

Approximately 9,000,000 electric refrigerators have been sold since the first one was made. It is generally admitted that there are less than 6,000,000 in use in homes today. General Electric has made and sold approximately 2,000,000. Figures taken from an impartial survey conducted by R. L. Polk & Co. in key cities from coast to coast show that 97 per cent of the G-E refrigerators in use 5 years are still giving satisfactory service in homes of the original owners. These figures do not include G-E refrigerators still giving satisfactory service but which have been disposed of by their original owners.

No other refrigerator can match the General Electric's record for dependable performance at low cost year after year. The "ageless" G-E sealed-in-steel mechanism is the ONE outstanding feature of refrigeration today.

General Electric was awarded U. S. Government contract for 1935 as a result of competitive tests showing it to be the cheapest operating electric refrigerator.
