Congress Plans to Crack Down On Bootleggers

Washington, May 10.—Congress moved today toward swift enactment of a batch of treasury bills designed to provide the government with new weapons for cracking down on liquor tax evaders.

Chairman Doughton, Democrat, North Carolina, arranged for hearings Monday before his house ways and means committee on three measures directed against domestic tax evaders. Asked if he thought the bills would reach the statute books before Congress adjourned, Doughton replied: "of course."

The new bills deal purely with internal tax evaders. Some of their provisions:

For the seizure and forfeiture of bootleg containers of liquor. Declaring it illegal for those who have intoxicating liquors in their possession, in violation of laws, to have at the same time smoke screen devices or dangerous weapons.

Permitting imprisonment from 5 to 20 years of those who are caught with bootleg liquor while carrying machine guns or sawed off shotguns or rifles less than 18 inches long.

Adding to the list of intoxicating liquors denatured alcohol or rum not produced for commercial purposes.

Commencement At Ferguson

School Patrons and Public Well Pleased With Closing Performances

FERGUSON SCHOOL, May 11.—Judged by the comment made by the people who were present, the Ferguson commencement which was held on May 9 and 10, was a success from start to finish. An operetta, "The Wedding of the Flowers," given Thursday in which more than sixty children in the first, second and third grades participated was one of the best performances ever seen in this community. One was reminded of the uniform step of soldiers getting ready for battle.

This was followed by a contest by the children of the fourth and fifth grades, which was conducted by Mr. Earp. The natural way in which the children performed was by no means to be unnoticed.

Three contests were held by the high school students for gold medals. One in recitation, one in declamation, and one in reading (original compositions). The winners were Miss Melba McNeill, Martin Phillips, and Miss Joy Belle Foster, respectively. The medals were furnished by Brane Drug Company, Abshers, Inc., and Attorney Andrew H. Casey. At 8 p. m. Thursday evening, the play, "Be Yourself," conducted by Miss Cotner, was given. Notwithstanding the fact that all the players were amateur performers, much natural talent was exhibited, and all the people were well pleased with the performances. On Friday morning at 10 a. m. the seventh grade graduating exercises were held. To a person who did not otherwise know, one would have thought that a senior class was giving their graduating exercises.

This was followed by a very able address by Dr. Cotner, of State College, on the subject, "Preparation for Life." The certificates of perfect attendance, the diplomas, and medals were awarded by the principal, C. M. Dickson. The faculty and the school as a whole feel grateful for the generosity of the business men of North Wilkesboro for the contribution of the medals, as well as for the support given in furnishing stage settings for the performances, or in any way contributed to the success of the school; by any individual. One very noticeable thing was the good behavior throughout the entire exercises. Some one jestingly remarked: "Those who came to scoff remained to pray."

Five Cents No Good

A little girl walked into a drug store and put down a five cent piece asked for the usual 5-cent bar of chocolate. "No," says the fellow behind the counter, "that costs 6 cents now."

"Then, let me have that package of gum."

"I'm sorry, miss; that costs 6 cents now also."

"Then, let me have that bottle of soda water."

"Really, I'm sorry; that, too, costs 6 cents now."

Greatly disappointed the little girl walks out. At the door the soda man halts her and says, "Say young lady, you left your nickel on the counter."

"That's all right," she says, "you may have it. It can't buy anything any-more anyway."
