Miss Victoria Bell
Honored at Dinner-Bridge
Mrs. E. L. Blackman and Mrs. James O'Daniel joined hospital-ity at a lovely dinner bridge at the home of Mrs. Blackman on Thursday evening honoring Miss Victoria Bell, who for several months has been district admin-istrator here in the ERA work but has been transferred to Greensboro. Guests for the evening were composed of the office personnel and the case workers.
A delicious dinner was served at seven-thirty after which four tables were made up for cards, bridge and rook both being played. In the bridge game Mrs. B. E. Underwood won top score prize and in rook Mrs. A. S. Caswell proved to be the most successful. The hostesses presented the honoree with a lovely remembrance.

News From Ronda Route 2 Section

RONDA Route 2, Sept. 2.—Dr. Harding, of Brooks Cross Roads, made his first professional visit to this community last Wednes-day.
Miss Nola Howard last Tuesday morning motored to "Holly Hill" for Misses Mattie and Armisa Sale and carried them to spend the day with herself and mother near old Union church. They did ample justice to a delicately pre-pared lunch at the noonday, fol-lowing a watermelon feast. One has to share the hospitality of this ideal country home to appre-ciate and understand what a so-cial day like this means. Miss Nola is one of the happiest girls in this part of Wilkes, because she so graciously lends a hand to help others along. Recently she carried Mr. and Mrs. Columbus Pardue to visit Mrs. Andrew Par-due and Mrs. Bynum Green, of the Bethel community, giving all a happy day.
Mr. Paul Dobbins, of Cycle, and Miss Edith Crater, of Ronda, were guests of Miss Mary Kate Sales last Thursday night.
Mrs. Gertie Gray Crater has been ill with summer "flu," but is convalescing, we are glad to learn.
Messrs. Worth Sale and Martin Pardue, and Mrs. Verta Boyd, with their families have filled three barns of tobacco in three days, respectively, for the three farms. How busy these farmers are!

Ralph Barker Is Athletic Coach

(By A. W. HIGGS)
Spencer, Sept. 5.—After four years of hard work in the Spencer school Prof. Ralph Barker, well known Spencer young man, has accepted a position as Ath-letic director and teacher mathe-matics in the high schools of North Wilkesboro, effective at once. The position came to Prof. Barker unsolicited and is regard-ed as a compliment to his ability. He will go to North Wilkesboro for the opening of a nine months term of school September 11th.
A graduate of Duke University class of '30 with an A. B. de-gree, prof. Barker took work at once in his home town schools and has been regularly employ-ed since as teacher of mathe-matics.
At Duke Prof. Barker played both baseball and football. He was assistant coach under Jack Coombs during his last two years in school where he won an en-vious record. He is a member of the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity and also a member of Beta Omega Sigma and of the Toombs, an athletic order of note, and was also a member of the Var-sity Club.
During the four years he has been employed in the Spencer schools, Prof. Barker has been coach of both the football and baseball teams which made much progress. Mr. Barker is now im-pire-in-chief of the Carolina Textile League and is regarded as one of the most popular umpires in the league. At North Wilkes-boro he will be assisted by a former Erskine College star.

FEED DAIRY COWS CULL SWEET POTATOES

Unmarketable sweet potatoes may be fed to dairy cattle with excellent results, says R. H. Ruff-ner, head of the animal husban-dry department at State College.
Both the tubers and the vines make a good, palatable feed which will produce milk and butter of high quality.
But livestock men can afford to feed only cull potatoes or those which cannot be marketed for human consumption at a fairly good price, Ruffner points out.
Sweet potatoes about one-fourth the total feed value of an equal weight of corn. Consequently, dairymen cannot afford to allow more than one-fourth the price of corn for the sweet potatoes.
Sweet potatoes may be fed cows in place of corn silage. Since there are 25 pounds of dig-estible nutrients in 100 pounds of potatoes, while an equal weight of silage contains only 17 pounds, the cows will not need as much potato feed as silage.
When sweet potatoes are fed, the cows should also get eight to ten pounds of legume hay to balance the ration, as potatoes consist mostly of starch and sugar.
From 25 to 30 pounds of po-tatoes a day may be fed the average cow, but it is advisable to feed only five to ten pounds a day to start. The quantity may be increased gradually as the cows learn to eat the roots.

BEEES NEED CAREFUL ATTENTION IN FALL

The value of next year's honey crop is largely dependent upon the care and management given the bee colonies this fall.
If the colonies are carried through the fall and winter in good shape, they will be ready for heavy production in the spring, says F. B. Meacham, entomolo-gist at State college.
Give all colonies a thorough examination in September, he urges beekeepers, and pay care-ful attention to the condition of the queen, amount of honey, number of bees, and space for brood rearing and nectar storage.
Young queens are best, since they produce a large amount of brood in August, September and part of October. Bees produced at this time are the ones which survive the winter.
Three-banded or leather colored Italian queens, which can be purchased for 50 cents each from reliable breeders, are most des-irable, Meacham states. Replace all queens over a year old, or black and falling queens.
A colony which does not con-tain the equivalent of two or two or three Hoffman frames full of brood on September 1 is hard-ly worth wintering by itself. Often such colonies are not able to survive the winter.
Weak colonies can be united with strong ones by placing them together with a sheet of news-paper between. By the time the bees eat holes through the paper they will have become acquainted with one another and will not fight.
Golden rod, aster or iron weed, and heartease or smart-weed in many sections of the state will yield a few pounds of honey in the fall. This may be added to the winter feed supply, placed on the market, or trans-ferred to colonies whose food is short.

Today and Tomorrow

LIBERTY has laws.
I think of no word that is so often misused and misunderstood as the word "liberty." To many people it seems to mean that they have a right to do as they please regardless of the rights of oth-ers. I do a great deal of motoring, much of it over wide, smooth con-crete highways, and I see many examples of drivers who have no regard whatever for the safety of others.
Liberty, it seems to me, is not the right to violate law or to in-fringe upon other peoples' liberty. Unfortunately, we have in Amer-ica a very large number of peo-ple, not all of them of recent for-ign birth or descent, whose idea is exactly the opposite. It is an extremely prevalent idea among our foreign born population that they don't have to obey any laws at all in this land of liberty to which they have come to escape, in many cases from the rigorous regulation of their native coun-tries.
REGISTRATION of aliens
There is no nation except ours in the world that permits foreign-ers to enter and move about free-ly without identification cards and registration with the police or municipal authorities.
These other nations protect the liberties of their own people a-gainst infringement by foreigners who don't understand or are not inclined to conform to their laws and customs, by keeping the closest tab on everybody who is not a citizen. In most countries a landlord is subject to severe pen-alty if he rents an apartment or a hotel room to an alien without first inspecting the foreigner's passport and other papers and im-mediately reporting the visitor to the police.
I have a strong feeling that the United States would have much less of a crime problem if we kept the same kind of tab on every stranger within our gates.
FINGERPRINTS of all
The suggestion has often been made, and I think the idea is gaining ground, that every child born and a record of those fin-gerprints filed with the proper authorities for possible future identification. I cannot see where it would be an infringement upon individual liberty to require every citizen to carry with him at all times some identification, either a card with his finger-prints and name, or an identifi-cation tag such as are issued to soldiers in war.
A terrible howl goes up from some quarters whenever such a suggestion is made. My observa-tion is that the howls mostly arise from persons or groups who are more interested in evading the law or helping violators of law to go free, than from law-abiding citizens.
RELIEF goes astray
I have seen many statements lately of the number of aliens in the United States who are draw-ing relief money from municipal, state or Federal sources. Some of them, to be sure, have taken out their first papers. One case I heard of recently is that of a man and wife who have never earned a cent since they came to America. She was a widow with five children, he is a widower with six children, and their joint progeny has added another half-dozen or so to the population of America. The man has been sup-ported by charity almost from the time of his entrance into this country.
By any sensible test of qualifi-cations for citizenship, this fam-ily never would have been allow-ed to remain here.

Smith led in the hitting for the locals while Kesler and Reavis led for the winners.
