WHEN WILL ROGERS WEPT

ered Will with chagrin to have been caught in such a surrender to his deep emotions. A few months later he was on his way to his poetic death.

I had known that he was always doing good deeds in secret but only by accident was it shown that he regarded the provoking of laughter as a sacred mission. Even when his heart was breaking with pity he kept his sorrow to himself.

Too many people hide cold hearts behind long faces and solemn phrases. Will Rogers was a glorious clown who forbade his tears to flow and let his heart bleed inside him lest the knowledge of his grief should mar the perfect art, the priceless medicine and relief of laughter unrestrained. There is a saintliness, a majesty in such a comedian and no memorial can be too magnificent for Will Rogers, who scattered laughter like a rain-god blessing a thirsty sultry world.

Millions now have an opportunity to contribute to the memory of Will Rogers. Famous friends have organized The Will Rogers Memorial Commission. It is hoped every one who smiled with Rogers will come forward with a subscription. Take it or send it to your bank—or any bank—or use the accompanying coupon to send your subscription to this office. Every cent subscribed will be used for memorials to be selected by Henry Ford, Herbert Hoover, Alfred E. Smith, Will H. Hays, Jesse H. Jones, Owen D. Young, Vice President John N. Garner and other men and women of national prestige and respect. The memorials will depend on the number of friends who contribute—but they will be used for charitable, educational and humanitarian purposes. There will be no cold shaft of marble to honor the memory of his warm, friendly man. They will be living, continuing memorials.

Relief Work Will Continue

Washington, Nov. 19.—Works Progress Administrator Harry Hopkins today promised continued government relief through the years to those "on the bottom of the heap," in reply to many reputed reports the New Deal intended to abandon relief next July 1.

He promised the U. S. Conference of Mayors that the government intended to keep its hands on relief and "never take them away."

"These people at the bottom of the heap are going to get care," he said.

U. S. To Permit No Starvation, Says Roosevelt

Washington, Nov. 19.—"No starvation" federal relief policy was asserted to American mayors today by President Roosevelt.

Simultaneously, he proposed a winter conference looking toward "a better system of taxation, state municipal and federal."

Nearly half a hundred members of the United States Conference of Mayors gathered in the Chief Executive's office applauded when Mr. Roosevelt repeated a question asked at his earlier press conference, "Is the government going to stop direct relief next July?" and retold his reply:

"My answer was that the federal government, and I am sure your answer will be the same for the city governments, does not propose to let people starve after the first of July any more than during the past few years."

During the earlier meeting with newsmen, the President had expressed the hope the federal dole would end substantially by December 1. The original deadline for stopping direct relief was November 1.

When asked by newsmen if his statement meant projection of the work-relief program beyond July 1, Mr. Roosevelt said that would of a last minute check of relief depend upon conditions. He spoke needs before submitting next year's budget in Congress.

A number of the conference mayors, including Hoan of Milwaukee, their president, had stated earlier that cities could not assume the full burden of direct relief December 1. After the White House call, Hoan and his colleagues appeared encouraged by the "no starvation" statement.

"It was a fine talk," Hoan said, "and we are all glad to have these assurances from President Roosevelt."

At earlier meetings of the mayors, federal relief policies rode a turbulent sea of criticism and defense, with Harry L. Hopkins asserting that criticism of his work program sprang from "ignorance, deliberate maliciousness and knowing misrepresentation."

Discusses Taxation
Mr. Roosevelt told the mayors "taxes have grown up like Topsy in this country," adding:

"We are stepping on each other's toes, especially in the past five, ten or fifteen years. In fact, virtually since the beginning of the World War the general tax situation in the United States has become not only more complicated but has called for revision.

"We haven't had a revision and I think the time is coming—not this coming session of Congress because we hope that it will be a very short session—but by the following year, when all of us can get together and sit around a table and work out a better system of taxation, state, municipal and federal.

"Late this winter we are going to ask you to come down and talk about that subject around the table. I suppose this meeting will be dignified by the name of a tax conference but I would rather keep it informal and have it become a continuing study which will bring forth an intelligent report before the close of the year 1936. . . . We will have to think of taxes in a non-partisan way."

Some Oddities In The News

Savannah, Ga. — Whether or not he should pardon a young man serving a six to 12 years sentence for robbery so the young man can be tried in Florida for another holdup in which another young man was fatally shot, is the problem confronting Gov. Eugene Talmadge.

The young man is Edward Scott who was convicted last month of taking part in the hold-up of a soft drink and barbecue stand here.

Scott is also wanted for trial in connection with several hold-ups in Florida. In one of these, the holdup of a Tampa grocery, Wesley Dean, a Savannah youth, was fatally shot.

GAS STATION MEN STAGE GUN BATTLE

Morganton, Nov. 19.—A gun battle between neighboring service station operators near here resulted in serious injury for Sol Williams and the arrest of Vester Mull. Mull was released on $2,000 bond.

Williams was taken to a Charlotte hospital yesterday with a 32-caliber pistol ball lodged at the base of the skull. While his condition is serious, he is expected to recover.

Details of the affair could not be learned, both men declined to discuss the case, but it is understood that the disagreement arose at Mull's service station and climaxed with the shooting of Williams at the latter's station.

Youth Is Fatally Crushed by Limb

West Jefferson, Nov. 19.—An unusual tragedy occurred near here yesterday afternoon when Ralph Howell, 31, was crushed to death by the limb of a tree on which he was sawing, and his bruised and broken body was hurled into New River. The young man, a resident of the Fleetwood community, had gone with his father to get firewood. They had planned to cut a maple tree that grew out over the river so far that it was not good for anything but firewood. The boy was cutting a "huge limb above him when it crashed suddenly. The distracted father, as the boy toppled and fell sprang into the river below and caught the body as it went under water. Young Howell's chest was so badly mangled that he was dead before he struck the water. His father, of small build, was unable to swim back to the shore with his burden and was forced to stand in icy water waist deep, holding the dead boy, until help came over an hour after the accident.
