Miss Lizzie Hiale Is Book Club Hostess

Miss Lizzie Hiale was hostess at her home on Tenth Street Friday afternoon when she entertained the members of her own book club. Fifteen guests were present for the afternoon and during the roll call by Miss Hiale responded with current events, thoughts for the New Year, and New Year's resolution, all of which were very entertaining. Mrs. Genio Cardwell presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. J. B. Spahnour. In serving tempting salad and sweet course at the close of the afternoon the hostess was aided by Mrs. E. G. Finley.

Miss Elizabeth Winkler is Bridge Club Hostess

The Wilkesboro bridge club members were delightfully entertained Thursday evening with Miss Elizabeth Winkler as hostess at her home in Wilkesboro. Two tables were made up for the game and as a result of play the top score prize was awarded to Mrs. Bryan Gireath. When cards were laid aside the hostess, with the assistance of her sister Miss Helen Winkler, served a delicious salad course. Miss Pearl Bumgarner, who teaches in High Point and was spending the holidays in Wilkesboro with her parents, was a visitor of the club.

Miss Jane Harris is Wed To Mr. Roe

Announcement is made of the wedding in which Miss Jane Harris became the bride of Frank Roe, both of this city, in a ceremony Saturday afternoon, December 21, at Independence, Va., with the Rev. Charles H. Brown officiating.

Mrs. Roe is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Harris and for the past several years she has been employed in the Wilkes Hosiery Mills where she holds a responsible position. For her nuptials the bride was becomingly attired in navy blue suit with delf blue blouse and blue accessories.

Mr. Roe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roe, of Statesville, N. C., and was born in this city forty four years ago. He is now employed by the T. M. Strider Co., of Nashville, on No. 16 at Road Construction. Immediately following the ceremony the couple left for a wedding trip to West Tennessee, after their return they will be at home in North Wilkesboro.

Lucile Gant and Fred Brown Married

A wedding of quite much interest to many friends of both the bride and groom was solemnized on the evening of December 24, when Miss Lucile Gant became the bride of Fred Brown in a ceremony performed at the home of N. D. Tomlin in Statesville. Mrs. Brown is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gant, of Statesville Route 2, and

KIWANIS GREETINGS TO REV. C. W. ROBINSON

"Rev. C. W. Robinson, North Wilkesboro, N. C. "Dear 'Charlie':

"Your fellow-members of the Kiwanis Club, in their first meeting of the New Year, wish to send to you their very warmest greetings. Through the long weeks since your illness has kept you from attending our meetings, we have not only missed you sorely but have also been deeply concerned that you may be speedily restored to health, to your family, to your work and to your numerous friends.

"We hope this new year is going to be one of happiness and health for you. We shall look forward eagerly to the time when we shall have the privilege of seeing you in our meetings again. The people of North Wilkesboro generally are missing you from your church, from their homes, on the streets. Hundreds have prayed for you in your illness and have rejoiced at every encouraging message that has come from your bedside. Your Kiwanis friends wish to be numbered among the multitude of those who love you sincerely and want you to know that their hearts are with you in your days of physical weakness.

With sincerest assurances of our appreciation for you and for the incalculable contribution you have made through many years toward the building of what is best in the life of this community, we greet you heartily today, thanking God for you and saying a hearty and meaningful "God bless you."

"Most cordially yours, "KIWANIS CLUB."

Farm Radio Service Offers 1936 Suggestions

With the arrival of the new year, extension specialists appearing on the Carolina Farm Features radio program are endeavoring through their suggestions to enable farmers and farm women to start 1936 on the right foot.

By listening regularly to these programs of timely farm and home information, it is believed that rural people will be able to keep abreast with the latest developments and improvements in the field of agriculture and home economics. The speakers will, for a short while, attempt to guide the North Carolina farmer in making plans for the new year, which, if carried out, will result in a larger cash income and improved farm and home conditions.

The schedule for the week of January 6-11 is as follows: Monday, Dr. C. D. Grinnells, "Soil Sanitation"; Tuesday, E. B. Morrow, "The Potato Act as it Affects North Carolina"; Wednesday, C. H. Brannon, "Insect Control During the Winter Months"; Thursday, Miss Willie Hunter, "The Help We Receive from a Pattern"; Friday, C. F. Parrish, "Brick Brooder Houses and Brooder House Construction"; and Saturday, W. H. Rankin, "How Farmers and Gardeners May Know More About Their Soil Fertility Problems."

Each Monday of the week is devoted to a specialist from the Animal Husbandry and Dairy Department; each Thursday is devoted to the Home Demonstration Department; and each Friday is turned over to the Poultry Department.

Prominent Industrialist Forecasts Increased Building Activities

At the annual sales meeting of The Philip Carey Company held at the Company's General Offices in Cincinnati, Ohio last week, Mr. George D. Crabbs, Chairman of the Board and one of the country's most prominent industrialists, reported that the Company had made very satisfactory gains in 1935 and anticipated a continued improvement for 1936.

The company is one of the leading manufacturers of roofings, heat insulations and many other products used in the construction industry, and the many favorable reports of its district managers from all sections of the country concerning increased residential building activities contributed to the Company's optimistic forecast for the New Year. Carey products are sold locally by Wilkesboro Manufacturing Company.

Swanson Facing Serious Charge

Former Attorney Here Denies Charge of Trying to Burn Own House

Paul Swanson, former attorney here, is facing a charge in Guilford county of attempting to burn a dwelling owned by him in High Point. The charge against Swanson was made by Monroe Tate, tenant in Swanson's house, who claimed that Swanson tried to burn the house Saturday night. Swanson was arrested at 3 o'clock Sunday morning at Winston-Salem as he was loading papers for his daily truck route into North Wilkesboro. He denied the charge and said that he was in Winston-Salem all evening and had not seen his tenant or been to his property since the 28th of December.

Tate, who signed the warrant charging arson, told officers that he and his wife were at home about 8 o'clock in the evening and he was positive in his identification to officers that it was Swanson who had struck a match to some old papers which he said were gasoline soaked and shoved under the kitchen of the little house on Roy street.

Tate said his attention was attracted to something unusual happening outside the house and that he went out in time to see a man strike a match to the papers. He said that when he appeared the man fled but that he pursued him and struck him once, at that time recognizing him, he told police, as Swanson, his landlord, before the latter got into his car and drove away.

Tate said that he went at once to police headquarters and reported the incident and had sworn out the warrant charging Swanson with the crime. Two officers went at once to Winston-Salem and found Swanson there preparing to undertake his morning delivery route.

Swanson vigorously denied the charge and said that he would be able to prove that he was in Winston-Salem all Saturday evening. He said that he had had trouble with Tate over collection of rent of his property and had told him that unless he paid his rent more promptly he would have to ask him to move. He said that at one time he sought to secure his rent by a mortgage on Tate's radio but that Tate and his wife had refused to secure him in that or any other way for rent.

He filled bond of $1,500 pending a hearing Monday.

"Hawaiian Follies" Coming

Bringing something new in stage production, Bell's Hawaiian present a cross-section of traditional South Sea Island songs and dances and the modern version. Haunting melodies and modern jazz are offered by the musicians, playing the typical ukelele and guitar. They appear in an engagement at the Liberty on Tuesday.

While all the players are talented, the Hawaiian "Shirley Temple" or "Baby Joy" receives the greatest hand—and deservedly. She is a tiny mite of a 5-year-old but sings and dances like a veteran. Her vocal numbers include "Here's the Key to My Heart," an interpretation of Ted Lewis singing, "There's a Shanty in Old Shanty Town," hat and all, and Shirley Temple's "Good Ship Lollypop."

License Tag Arrests Scored

Wilmington, Jan. 2.—While state highway patrolmen continued to make arrests here today of vehicle license tag delinquents, Representative Thomas E. Cooper issued a statement in which he demanded that Captain Charles D. Farmer, head of the patrol, "look to the number of highway deaths in 1935 instead of the number of improper tags in 1936."

Cooper called on the patrol to give more time to protecting life and property on the highways and less to "pinching" tag violators. "An automobile is one of the most dangerous things in the world, with or without a tag," he declared.

Armadillo Dead

The Mexican Armadillo, member of the freak animal collection at Forester's Nu-Way zoo, died last week, presumably a victim of the intense cold. The armadillo is a tropical country animal.

The animal died within a few days after being returned to the zoo by some hunters who found it four miles from Wilkesboro. It had been missing from the zoo over three months.

Colored Infant Dies

Dewey Augustus Harris, infant son of Camie and Erle Robbins Harris, colored residents of Wilkesboro Route 2, died Wednesday. Funeral and burial services were held at Damascus church Friday. Surviving are the parents, three brothers and one sister.

Pure water has neither taste nor odor, but it does have color.

Funeral Rites Held For T. E. Cochran

Funeral services were held Thursday morning, January 2, at Back Creek A. R. P. Church near Newell for Theodore Ernest Cochran, prominent Mecklenburg farmer and dairyman who died suddenly Tuesday night as a result of a heart attack following several days illness of influenza. He was 64 years of age.

Descended from the earliest settlers of Mecklenburg county, Mr. Cochran was a son of the late Jesse C. and Nancy Faulkner Cochran, and was widely known in Mecklenburg and Cabarrus counties.

Surviving relatives include his wife, the former Miss Dean Query, and six children: Mrs. J. C. Walker, Statesville; Mrs. R. P. Casey, North Wilkesboro; Mrs. Lincoln Spainhour, North Wilkesboro; Miss Nan Cochran, Statesville; Frank Cochran, Newell; and Mrs. Guy Williams, Charlotte. Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. J. M. Hunter, Charlotte, Mrs. A. H. Propst, Concord, and one brother, Charles Cochran, Newell. He was preceded in death by one son, E. Banks Cochran, who died in March, 1935.

Last rites were conducted by the pastor, Rev. P. A. Stroupe, assisted by Rev. C. O. Williams, of Charlotte, Rev. Eugene Olive, of North Wilkesboro, and Rev. J. H. Preeley, of Statesville.

Ashe Boy Listed As Worthwhile Citizen Of Western N. C.

Dean Colvard, Teacher in Brevard College Receives Recognition in Asheville Paper

The Asheville Citizen under the heading "Folks Worthwhile in W. N. C.," recently carried the following article which will be of much interest to the readers of this newspaper:

Dean W. Colvard, teacher of agriculture in Brevard College and manager of the college farm, is a native of Grassy Creek, Ashe county, North Carolina. He is a son of W. P. Colvard, of Grassy Creek and a nephew of the late T. R. Colvard, of North Wilkesboro.

Mr. Colvard graduated from Berea college last June with the B. S. degree in agriculture and immediately began his duties at Brevard college. Before his admission to Berea, Mr. Colvard spent four years in the Virginia-Carolina high school. While in high school, he specialized in vocational agriculture under the teaching of W. C. LaRue, one of the ablest agricultural leaders in Virginia has produced.

Held Responsible Positions

During his college career, Mr. Colvard held many positions of responsibility and honor. One year he was business manager of The Pinnacle, college paper. For two years he worked in the office of the business manager of the college and acted as assistant in the zoology laboratory. At the same time he held such positions as president of the agricultural union and chairman of the student-faculty cooperation council. Mr. Colvard came to Brevard college with a background of training and experience which fits him for the various tasks which his position entails. His courses in college called for special study of dairying and bacteriology. During two vacation periods he worked in a modern dairy in Maryland, and for four years worked in the Berea college dairy and creamery.

When Mr. Colvard came to Brevard college he found a farm planted in corn and potatoes but without equipment and without a team. During a period of less than six months the farm has been transformed and a modern dairy, including a herd of purebred Holstein cows, has been established.

established a herd of milk cows, a herd of hogs, and necessary farm machinery have been added. Good Results Obtained Some indication of the success of Mr. Colvard's efforts may be gained from the fact that about 40 tons of soy bean hay have been grown, a silo filled with ensilage, more than 700 bushels of corn harvested, and quantities of potatoes, beans, and other crops produced.

Mr. Colvard was selected for his present position because of his numerous qualifications which include a knowledge of the principle of self-help for college students. During the summer months he had a group of young men at work on the college farm. At present nearly 100 students are employed in various projects under Mr. Colvard's general supervision.

The college administration is committed wholeheartedly to the program which Mr. Colvard has inaugurated. It is expected that the program will be extended to embrace a great many projects in Transylvania and adjoining counties.

Thank You, Friends, For Your Patronage In 1935

Another year has rolled around . . . we again have the opportunity to extend to you, friends and patrons, our sincere thanks and appreciation for the patronage you have given us during 1935, and also to thank you for your loyal co-operation in every way.

This firm numbers among its patrons hundreds and hundreds of the fine citizens of Wilkes and adjoining counties, and without the support we have enjoyed in the past, we would be unable to render you the kind of service that all so richly deserve.

It is with pleasure, indeed, that we use this means of thanking you, one and all, for your kindness and business support, and at the beginning of the New Year we wish to pledge ourselves to give you our very best in service—and in price—in the future.

MAY WE HAVE THE PLEASURE OF SERVING YOU IN 1936?
