Belk's Clearance Sale Announced

Annual January Event Will Begin Friday Morning; Values Offered

The annual January clearance sale at Belk's department store in North Wilkesboro will begin on Friday morning.

Belk's clearance sale is an event that is eagerly anticipated by the many customers of the store in all communities in Wilkes and many in adjoining counties who are making North Wilkesboro their trading center.

By referring to the two-page advertisement of Belk's on pages four and five of this newspaper, the reader will notice that prices on hundreds of items of merchandise have been substantially reduced for the clearance sale, which is expected to be one of the largest in the history of the store here.

The sale will cover all departments of the large store with reduced prices in effect and the personnel of the firm invites the public to visit the store as early in the sale as possible. For further details the reader's attention is called to the advertisement.

News From Ronda Route 2 Section

RONDA, Route 2, Jan. 11.—Miss Edith Crater, after spending the holidays with her parents at Ronda, returned Jan. 6, to Mars Hill College.

Miss Polly Pardue, after a week's vacation at her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Pardue returned to her duties at Mr. Fred Vestals, near Jonesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Walker were all day guests with Mr. and Mrs. Worth Sale, January 5.

Mrs. Hettie Myres Green, of Cycle, visited Miss Mary Kate Sale in the afternoon of January fifth.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ford, with their son, John Henry, returned to their home near Brier Creek after spending several days with relatives in Winston-Salem.

Mr. Worth Sale traded his fine sorrel horse for a pair of two year old "fillies." They are twins, a black and a bay, shipped from Missouri.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sebastian, of McComas, W. Va., are spending a few days with his nephew, Mr. Quince Sebastian.

Mr. and Mrs. Gwyn Ford were visited by the stork ten days ago who left in their care a little son. Mother and son doing nicely.

Recently Brier Creek community received a message saying that Mrs. Hynum Pardue Inscore was dead and would be buried at the old church. The grave was prepared as directed, but Mrs. Inscore was buried at Antioch in Winston-Salem. This community of citizens never had the experience of filling up an empty grave before. Mrs. Inscore was converted at this old church, joined the church and was baptized while she with her husband lived on the farm of the late Geo. W. Sale. She has many relatives and friends here who were saddened at her demise.

Mrs. Nancy Walker called and used Miss Armisa Sale's old spinning wheel to twist yarn to knit her a pair of gloves last Friday evening.

The old fashioned gloves knit on needles are serviceable if you don't lose them. There seems to be a widespread epidemic of "glove losing," Mrs. Geo. D. Smith, Mrs. Lizzie Toward, Mrs. Nancy Walker and Miss T. Armisa Sale have each lost a glove during the holidays.

Mr. George Mathis, who returned from near Kernersville with Mr. Clarke Walker, has gone home, after visiting several relatives and friends about Brier Creek and Clingman, who had a warm welcome for him.

Relatives and friends of Mr. James Armstrong are keenly anxious about his health. His wife, Mrs. Fannie Martin Armstrong has written relatives that he continued to suffer with pains in his stomach and decided that he would go to the Southern Pacific Hospital at Sacramento, Calif. On Christmas day his wife had a letter from him saying they were still taking X-Ray pictures of him, hadn't told him anything definite. Mr. Armstrong was reared in Dellaplane community near Antioch. He has been an engineer on the Southern Pacific with headquarters at Sparks, Nevada, for a number of years.

Mr. Worth Sale made a business trip to North Wilkesboro last Friday "by rail".

The roads are almost impassable. The traffic on "Old No. 60 is light. Cars are to "ditch out" or "pull out" often on the hill between Wright's Creek and Gray's Creek. A grocery truck was ditched and crosswise on this hill for nearly a half day last week. The driver went to Mr. Worth Sale for a shovel, he said, "If I can't go forward I'll just have to stay. I can't go backward."

Last Rites Held For J. C. Steele

Mr. John C. Steele, of Grandin, died at 4 o'clock Saturday morning at his home after a declining illness of more than a year.

The funeral was held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Grandin Baptist church, of which Mr. Steele was a member. The pastor, Rev. H. S. Benfield, assisted by Rev. R. L. Isbell and Rev. J. G. Benfield, officiated. Interment was in Grandin Baptist cemetery. Pallbearers, all nephews of the deceased, were: George Steele, Charley Steele, George Barlow, Jessie Grier, Walter Sullivan and G. S. Sherrill.

Mr. Steele was born October 20th, 1853, at Lower Creek, Caldwell county. The son of the late James C. and Margaret T. Steele. He was married to Laura L. Coffey on January 18, 1881, who departed this life October 27, 1927. Surviving Mr. Steele are the following children, Mrs. Edna T. Hartley, Wilkesboro; Edward C. Steele, Louisiana; Mrs. Florence F. Carlton, Goshen and James H. Steele, Yadkin Valley. One brother, Robert L. Steele, of Lower Creek, also survives and thirteen grandchildren.

"We are going to miss his influence and leadership in the community," said Governor Will Newland, life long friend of the deceased, who spoke a few words at the close of the funeral service. "Mr. Steele was a splendid neighbor, very faithful and devoted to duty. He was always dependable and was one of Caldwell county's most beloved citizens."

The Pink Hill establishment has not done as well as expected but is showing a fair profit. The town is on the edge of a large dry territory. The commissioners will decide shortly what to do with $31,000 available from 1925 operations. The stores had been in existence less than six months on December 31.

Two-year-old Helen Murray, of San Diego, Cal., fell 25 feet and landed on her feet. She suffered only slight bruises.

May Reduce Taxes

Kinston, Jan. 13.—Profits from Lenoir county's three liquor stores may enable the commissioners to reduce taxes materially. The stores are making money at the rate of about $85,000 a year. They are in Kinston, LaGrange and Pink Hill.

Two-year-old Helen Murray, of San Diego, Cal., fell 25 feet and landed on her feet. She suffered only slight bruises.
