A. G. Segraves Killed On Tuesday By Rowan Deputy

Wilkes Man Was Fleeing From Blocked Car When Shooting Occurred HEARING ON JULY 1 Deputy Claims Self Defense; Funeral To Be Held Friday Morning

A. G. (Pete) Segraves, age 48, widely known citizen of the Delaplane section of Wilkes county, was shot and killed by a deputy sheriff of Rowan county Tuesday night. The shooting took place on the old Concord road near Bostain's cross roads. Deputy Sam P. Ford, of Kannapolis, who fired the shot, claimed that he shot in self defense.

Ford, in company with three other deputies, W. B. Demarcus, chief of police at China Grove, J. H. Bernhardt of Kannapolis, and J. G. Dayvault of Landis, was lying in wait for a rum car, and had parked automobiles along the road to intercept the awaited vehicle.

Segraves' car, according to reports of the officers, was driven by Claude Bell. The car ran by one of the parked vehicles to a small bridge where two officers in another car blocked the road. When the driver found the way blocked Segraves jumped and fled with Ford in pursuit.

The deputy claimed that Segraves jumped into a ditch and yelled to him to "stop or I'll kill you." He further claimed that he saw an object in Segraves' hand which he thought was a gun, whereupon he fired. However, Segraves did not have a gun, according to information gained here.

The bullet hit Segraves high above his right eye and went out the back of his head. He died a few minutes later in a hospital in Salisbury. Claude Bell did not leave the car and was arrested, later being released under bond of $500. The officers are said to have found 72 gallons of liquor in the automobile.

Deputy Ford was placed under arrest and filled bond in the sum of $2,500 for appearance at a coroner's hearing in Salisbury July 1, two p. m. Funeral services for Mr. Segraves will be held at Antioch church Friday morning, ten o'clock.

He is survived by his wife and eight children as follows: Samuel Segraves, Rising Sun, Md.; Archie, Norwood, Howard, Wallace, Fern, June and Rex Segraves, at home.

Gives Data On Milk Problems Sanitary Inspector Tells Why Milk Ordinance Is To Go Into Effect

Pursuant to the date on which the U. S. milk ordinance is to go into effect in Wilkes county, G. S. Odell, sanitary inspector, has released the following statement dealing with proper handling of milk: "In order to give the public a safe milk supply, every effort is being made by the health department to see that milk is produced right and handled right from the time of production to the time of consumption by the public. It is essential to the public health that all who handle milk in any way be free from germs, such as typhoid carriers, T. B. and many other diseases which, when they come in contact with milk, multiply very rapidly. Milk is one of our best foods when properly produced, and on the contrary, when it is not properly produced it can serve as a medium of spreading diseases, especially diarrhea, dysentery and colitis, among babies and children during summer months. Therefore it is essential to have the proper equipment, and sterilizing facilities to produce a safe milk for the public."

Premium list for the 11th annual exposition of The Great Wilkes Fair to be held the week of September 15 is now off the press and ready for distribution to farmers and housewives of Wilkes and adjoining counties. Following the successful example of recent years the fair association is this year again offering cash prizes in all departments and many premiums in various classes have been increased in order to attract more and better exhibits and thus build up an important phase of the exposition that annually attracts thousands of people from widely separated sections.

The cash premium catalogue offered numerous prizes in various classes of the eight departments, which are as follows: agriculture, cattle, horticulture, poultry, pantry, flower show, boys and girls agricultural clubs and district booths.

The premium list was patterned after the one issued by the North Carolina state fair and, although on a smaller scale, compares very favorably with the catalogue of that institution.

The attractive book which has been printed and which will be distributed by J. C. Wallace, acting secretary, has 46 pages and in addition to a list of premiums gives comprehensive information about the coming gala event for northwestern North Carolina counties.

The officers of the Great Wilkes Fair Association are W. A. McNeil, president and general manager, A. E. Johnston, vice president, and J. C. Wallace, acting secretary-treasurer.

Name Candidates For 3 State Offices

Main Interest Centered in Race For Governorship Nomination

TICKETS DISTRIBUTED Absentee Ballot Applications May Be Obtained From Registrars

Preparations are under way for the second primary to be held on Saturday, July 4, at which time Democratic voters in North Carolina will vote in the run-off primary for candidates for nominations to three major state offices—governor, lieutenant governor and secretary of state.

James M. Anderson, chairman of the Wilkes county board of elections, has received from the state board a supply of tickets to be voted on July 4 and the tickets, along with other supplies, will be distributed to the registrars of the 28 Wilkes precincts Friday (tomorrow).

Due to the fact that many voters will observe the holiday on week-end trips, etc., it is expected that the absentee voting will be quite heavy and applications will be in the hands of the registrars tomorrow or may be obtained from Chief Anderson, chairman of the election board.

It is common knowledge that many absentee voters failed to properly prepare and sign their ballots in the first primary and they are warned to follow instructions carefully in order that their votes may be counted.

there being no Republican run-off races on the county ticket, and the race for the gubernatorial nomination is holding the spotlight.

Clyde R. Hoey, of Shelby, topped Dr. McDonald, of Winston-Salem, by 4,468 votes on June 6, for governorship nomination but lacked a majority. Sandy Graham polled 126,782, and John A. McRae 6,606.

The campaign is already under way and has warmed up to a high pitch of interest as each seeks votes on July 4. In the race for lieutenant governor Paul Grady led the second high, W. P. Horton, by 22,590 votes but was likewise far short of a majority. George McNeil, who was eliminated, receiving 128,661.

The other race to be decided on July 4 by the Democratic voters of the state will be between Stacey W. Wade and Thad Eure for nomination for secretary of state. In the first primary Wade led Eure by 42,717 but lacked a majority over Eure and Mike Duanagan, who with 55,192 votes, was eliminated. The ballots will bear only six names as follows:

- For Governor: Clyde R. Hoey, Dr. Ralph W. McDonald, For Lieutenant Governor: Paul Grady, Wilkins P. Horton, For Secretary of State: Stacey W. Wade, Thad Eure
