Hatchet Slayers Given Sentences 29 To 30 Years

Jersey City, N. J., June 3.—Seventeen-year-old Gladys MacKnight and her former sweetheart, Donald Wightman, 19, made no show of emotion today as Judge Thomas F. Meaney sentenced them to from 29 to 30 years at hard labor in state prison for the hatchet murder of the girl's mother.

Thirty years was the maximum the law allowed under their conviction of second degree murder.

Commutation for good behavior could cut 10 years off the sentence, and after one-third of the term is served they may apply for parole.

If Gladys serves the 30 years, she will be 47 when she emerges from prison—the age of her mother. Mrs. Helen MacKnight, when she was slain in the kitchen of her Bayonne home last July 31.

As sentence was imposed Gladys preserved the calm she has shown since her arrest on the night of the murder and uttered no word.

Also calm, the youth half smiled at his saddened parents.

Defense attorneys indicated they would not appeal.

Pedestrians Like Loose Livestock

(Random thoughts by J. J. Lynch, Safety Crusader)

The jay-walking pedestrian, who cuts corners diagonally, or crosses the street between crosswalks, is in close comparison to the cow, horse or pig, that strolls up onto the highway just about the time an automobile approaches.

The cow and pig are known to have only a one track mind, whereas the horse, is considerably more diversified in his thoughts, but nevertheless, often times tries to outrun an automobile, rather than just to step off to one side. These animals usually have their mind on somebody's hayfield or corn patch, whereas the careless and hurried pedestrian usually has his mind on somebody's pocketbook. If that person be a man, or he might be thinking of the golf course or some good fishing spot. If the pedestrian be a woman, the chances are, that she is trying to hurry to some store to get a particular dress before some other woman gets it, or it might be a hat. Or she might have her mind on a bridge game. So regardless of whether it be man or beast, they have their mind on something else besides the chances they are taking. But; if the animals knew only half as much as humans about the danger of getting hit by an automobile, you couldn't drive them onto a highway if a car was in sight; but the pedestrians who all know the full dangers of such chances, dashes across the street and seldom look to see if a car is coming. So who is more to blame? The human being or the animal.

4 STEEL FACTS in one minute

American Housewife Owns 1/2 Ton of Steel

Housewives own steel in the form of stoves, washing machines, refrigerators, clothes hangers, upholstery springs, kitchen utensils, scissors, electric irons and in many others.

Diamonds Were Once Used to Make Steel
Early research workers proved that steel was iron plus carbon by heating diamonds, the purest form of carbon, and iron in a crucible.

Piano Wire Stronger Than Structural Steel

A pull of 320,000 pounds is necessary to break a bundle of piano wire one inch square, while a square inch of steel used to build a skyscraper can withstand a pull only one-fifth as great.

100,000 Varieties of Steel Products

Steel is used for so many things that steel mills offer about 500 products in 100,000 different sizes, shapes and finishes. Wire for bobby pins, for instance, comes in two shapes, eight thicknesses, seven widths and four finishes.
