

Dellaplane and Roaring River Route 2 News

ROARING RIVER, Nov. 2, Oct. 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Johnson, who left Tuesday to Oxford, where Ernest is contracted with the C. C. Foster, after a brief visit to his father, Mr. J. Rosen Johnson, and other relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson will leave for the winter months to Roaring River, where Mr. Johnson is junior and superintendent of buildings at the school.

Mrs. Laura Martin Linney spent Thursday in North Wilkesboro shopping, looking after business matters and visiting her sister, Mrs. D. S. Lane. She went up with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Johnson, who were enroute to Oxford; and returned with Messrs. Judie and George R. Johnson.

Mrs. Sam Key, of near Mocksville, has been spending two weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Wilson Burdette, and helping her move.

Miss Frances Johnson has been staying a few days with her aunt, Mrs. R. L. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Pardue are moving to Rev. C. M. Call's farm, Wilkesboro, Route 2, instead of to Get ready for the cold weather that is ahead. Get plenty of blankets. We have them for you at right prices. —RHODES-DAY FURNITURE CO.

USE A Want Ad FOR QUICK ACTION

Rates: 1c A Word

(MINIMUM CHARGE 25c)

FOR RENT

FOR RENT: Close in, two unfurnished rooms with private bath, vacant after first of month. Phone 429. 10-25-11

FOR RENT: Three-room apartment, also number of separate rooms. Mrs. M. M. Darlington, 11-1-11

FOR RENT: Furnished rooms for light housekeeping. Phone 265-M. 11-1-11-pd

COUPLE WANTED for four-room apartment. All modern conveniences, including steam heat. Call Journal-Patriot. 11

FOR RENT: Large farm home 6 miles from city on good road, room for two families, beautiful home and grounds. Also 5-room apartment in private residence on Trogon Street. Phone 185-J. 11-1-11

FOR RENT: Five-room house, practically new; all modern conveniences. See or phone Dr. E. S. Cooper, North Wilkesboro, N. C. 10-7-11

FOR SALE

FOR SALE: 1 Small Adding machine, a bargain for cash. Four metal top desks. See W. G. Harrison, over Dr. Taylor's Dental Office, 9th Street.

FOR SALE: Locust posts, seven feet long, only 8 cents each. Also fresh milk cow. A. T. Nichols, Wilkesboro, route 1. 4-19-11

WANTED

WANTED: To do Sewing of all kinds. Mrs. Dan Hudson, Phone 114. 11-1-41

WANTED: Young lady 20 to 25 years of age for highly remunerative work. Must know music. Address "S", care Journal-Patriot. 11-1-11-pd.

RAVLEIGH ROUTE OPEN in North Iredell County, N. C. Products well known there. Dealers in rest of county making good records. Good opportunity for man between 25 and 30 with car to get into well established business. Write Ravleigh's, Dept. NCK-164-1SR, Richmond, Va. Nov. 1-8-15-22-pd.-(M)

MISCELLANEOUS

BEARN BEAUTY CULTURE—Special low rates, cheap place to live. Pastors secured for graduates. Instructor with 18 years experience in Beauty Culture. Write for particulars. Bearn School of Beauty Culture, Box 46, North Wilkesboro, N. C. 8-2-11

It would be impossible to list the prices on our entire stock as the variety is too great. It will pay to bring the whole family to our Great Million Dollar Sale. —The Goodwill Store, The Place for Bargains.

North Wilkesboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gray and children will move to Mrs. Nella Johnson's farm, from which Mr. Rosen Johnson is moving, according to reports.

Mrs. J. J. Johnson, slightly hurt at the fair when her children were so seriously injured, has been suffering very much with her back recently and plans to enter Dr. Trivette's clinic for treatment if she does not improve rapidly.

Mr. Ossie E. Mims, of Cades, S. C. and Roxboro, has been spending about two weeks in this part of the county.

Though a fresh and cold snap are customary in the autumn, the cold weather and heavy rains of this fall have been almost unprecedented. However cold or wet the winter and spring, we usually have long, beautiful autumn months of "harvest moon" and "Indian summer," and it is hoped this frosty and glacial fall is not foreboding of frigid and tragic winter months to come.

"Cold blow the blasts
O'er the top of the mountain,
And bare is the oak on the hill."

AMERICAN LEGION LAUNCHES CAMPAIGN

(Continued from page one)

As a part of the Campaign, literature dealing with safety on the streets and proper methods of driving will be distributed to automobile owners of the county. Attractive posters calling attention to the need of better driving are being obtained and will be displayed throughout the vicinity. Three tall size billboard posters will be used through the courtesy of the C. C. Foster Poster Advertising Company, who have donated the billboard space for this purpose. Booklets entitled "Safe Walking" will be distributed to the school children. In addition to the above, the service men will place in every school room in the county, a very fine booklet on "First Aid," which should prove very helpful. Copies of this booklet will also be placed in the hands of all Boy Scouts and employees of local manufacturing establishments without cost.

Arrangements are being made to have speakers address the schools of the city and county. The service men trust that they will have the endorsement and co-operation of all organizations, schools, churches and citizens of the community and county in their efforts to make everyone "Safety Conscious" in driving, walking and working. "The success of this safety program depends on you and you and you to co-operate safely," Commander Johnson said.

MRS. C. H. SOMERS CLAIMED BY DEATH

(Continued from page one)

Young the family moved to Statesville, where she lived until her marriage on February 24, 1893, with C. H. Somers, who for 16 years was clerk of Wilkes superior court. Soon after her marriage they made their home in Wilkesboro, where she lived until her death.

Although her death was not unexpected, news of her passing created an occasion of sadness among many relatives and a wide circle of friends and acquaintances here and at distant points. Mrs. Somers was a member of the Wilkesboro Methodist church. She is survived by the following children: Mrs. Fred C. Hubbard, North Wilkesboro; Mrs. L. R. Bingham, Knoxville, Tenn.; ex-Sheriff W. B. Somers, James H. Somers, Mrs. Joe R. Barber, Misses Frances and Pattie Somers, all of Wilkesboro, and Albert E. Somers and Mrs. G. P. Dockery, of Elkin. She was preceded in death by one son, Eugene Somers.

Also surviving are one brother and four sisters: Dr. R. K. Bingham, Boone, Mrs. Laura Johnson and Mrs. Walter Harwell, Statesville, and Mrs. A. R. Sherman, of Wilkesboro.

The funeral service will be held at her residence in Wilkesboro Tuesday morning, 10:30, and burial will be in the family plot in Mountain Park cemetery.

GENERAL SHAKEUP IN N.C.S.E.S. OFFICE

(Continued from page one)

has been stenographer and reporting clerk here, has been promoted to the position of senior interviewer.

Mrs. Frances H. Underwood is a new addition to the office staff as receptionist and stenographer for the North Wilkesboro office.

Silas R. Nichols, who has been in charge of the Sparta office, was appointed junior interviewer for the North Wilkesboro branch office.

The highest and the lowest places in the United States are both in California, and only eighty-six miles apart. Mt. Whitney is 14,496 feet above sea level; Death Valley is 276 feet below sea level.

Mrs. McGlamery Funeral Sunday

Mrs. Lissie Taylor McGlamery, wife of F. E. (Gene) McGlamery, passed away at her home near Millers Creek Friday evening, following a lingering illness.

She was the daughter of George W. Taylor and the late Nancy Wyatt Taylor.

She was married to F. E. McGlamery December 22, 1912, and to this union three children were born. Mrs. Clyde Hayes, Mrs. Gwyn Nichols and an infant son who preceded her in death.

Surviving are her father, George W. Taylor, of Wilbar and the following brothers and sisters: Rufus and Alonzo Taylor, of Wilbar; Hamp and Lewis Taylor, of Reddies River; Gailther Taylor, of Winston-Salem; Mrs. Vira Joines, of Sylva; Mrs. Alice Eller, of Roaring River; and Minnie Taylor, of Millers Creek.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon, 2 o'clock, at Charity Methodist church near the home.

Silver Tea Thursday

(Continued from page one)

Gardner on Sixth Street, Thursday afternoon, from 3:30 to 5:30 and that evening from 7:30 to 9:00.

The announcement said: "This tea is of a three-fold purpose—First, to welcome our pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Aycock, who come here from Statesville, to take charge of the Methodist church, and it is hoped that you will give a few minutes of your time on that afternoon or evening to come and meet our pastor and wife and give them a warm welcome.

"Second—We also extend this to be placed on the lawn, in front of our church so that passerby's may know our church, its pastor, etc. We anticipate co-operation of the churches."

"Third—The Garden circle includes a number of enthusiastic young women of our church who are the future builders and leaders. It is said—"No greater tribute can be paid to anyone than for their work to continue after they have slipped beneath the load." These young women are preparing themselves for future activities of the church under the leadership of Mrs. Edd Gardner.

The benefits from the tea will be used to buy a bulletin board

KIWANIANS ENJOY DISTRICT MEETING

(Continued from page one)

South Carolina in Charlotte Thursday and Friday.

Those attending from North Wilkesboro were President A. A. Finley, A. H. Casey, C. B. Eller, W. K. Sturdivant and J. C. Reins.

A member of the Salisbury club was elected lieutenant governor of this division.

The delegates were unanimous in their praise of the convention, which they described as the best they ever attended in the history of Kiwanis in the district. Good reports came from every division and inspiring programs were carried out at each session.

Poultry Needs Fresh Air, But Not Drafts

Drafts are a source of danger to the poultryman at this time of year, warns T. T. Brown, extension poultry specialist at State College.

The birds need ample air circulation in their houses, but they should not be exposed to direct drafts and dampness, as this frequently results in outbreaks of colds or bronchitis, and sometimes sorehead or pox if the birds have not been vaccinated.

Birds should not be crowded in the laying house, he continued. There should be at least four square feet of floor space for each bird.

Overcrowded birds develop a higher percentage of culls, lay fewer and smaller eggs, and are more susceptible to disease, he pointed out.

"Feed a high quality laying mash—you get more for your money when you buy a good mash," Brown stated. "Check a few pullets occasionally for body weight and regulate the grain feed accordingly."

Keep pullets separated from older hens, as pullets need more grain to build up body weight, and cannot be fed properly when mixed with the older and bigger hens.

Birds that molt late and keep up a good egg production should be marked with colored legbands so they can be selected for breeding purposes next year.

"If you do not plan to buy good chicks from a reliable hatchery, you should arrange to breed only your best birds, as that is the only way you can build up a good, profitable flock," he added.

Indianapolis is the largest city in the world not located on navigable water.

This Week In Washington

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27. (Associated Press)—As the details of the administration's proposed farm program for 1938 are learned, something like a complete picture begins to emerge. It is a picture which shows, for the first time in America history, the great majority of the farmers banded together as a single economic unit.

That is the clear purpose which the Administration has in mind. The manner in which farmers are being organized for participation in the new A.A.A. activities speaks a new relationship for farmers among themselves, with the Government, and in their relation to the nation as a whole.

Under the 1938 Agricultural Conservation program now being perfected, inducement will be held out for more farmers to participate than at any previous time. Every farmer who participates will automatically become a member of his "County Agricultural Conservation Association." These county associations will be tied together through state, regional and National setups.

Farmers United As Never Before This is calculated to create a farmer unity which goes far beyond anything which has ever been attempted in a democracy. If carried through, it will go much farther toward bringing about a community of interest among all farmers of all sections, than any of the existing farm organizations ever dreamed of doing. It will tend to a solidarity exceeding that of any labor organization. It will, in effect, create an agrarian democracy, able to swing Presidential elections and dictate national policies, once the farmers are all brought into line.

There if difference of opinion in Washington as to whether, through this tie-up, the Federal Government will control the farmers or the farmers will control the Federal Government, so far as agriculture is concerned. Spokesmen for the farmers who have been participating in the conferences here speak confidently of the new plan as "our program." Certainly a great deal of political power will flow through the lines it is planned to set up, but it may flow in both directions. Certainly nobody can safely say that anybody controls that power now, nor is it likely that the power which the plan will confer upon farmers as a whole will die with the passing of any person or any political party. The participating farmers represent divergent political and other beliefs. But in meeting together and working together towards a common goal, they are becoming joined together through their "pocket nerves" in such power and want to retain it.

New National Farm Set-up

The farmers themselves help to formulate and administer their problem. They also help to meet the costs. First, the program has been worked out by the A.A.A. officials in Washington in consultation with state Conservation representatives, named by the farmers of their district. Next, the program is applied by county committees of farmers, chosen by the farmers themselves. These county committees, although guided by the National, regional and state programs, have the power to say how the program shall be applied to any individual farmer and to determine the extent of compliance by any individual farmer. The extent of each farmer's compliance determines the size of his benefit payments. If he is not satisfied, he may appeal to the state committee, and from the committee, if still unsatisfied, he may go to the regional director, whose decision is final.

Not the least important part of the whole plan is the regional set-up, which is in line with the proposal made by the President several years ago, that the United States was too large and its regions to diverse in interests to be administered from Washington alone, while the state units are not set up on any economic plan. He suggested that the nation should be divided into a number of administrative regions, each with its sub-White House, as it were, with the elimination of state lines as far as possible. A similar thought prevails in the plan for "seven T.V. A's," for the administration of the national power program. It is understood here that the administrative regions provided for in the new farm plan coincide with those which the President believes should be established in the power matter and in other administrative plans.

Money Is the Motive

The motives for farmer participation in the new plan are clear enough. First, there are the benefit payments for soil conservation, which is a term which can be stretched to cover many kinds of regulation of production. These benefits run to $200 or $300 a year for a quarter-section farm. A second reason for farmer particiipation is the expectation of not the guarantee of better prices for any farm products. And a third reason is the conservation of the soil of his farm.

The program is to be justified to the public as promising a continuing and adequate supply, at fair and stable prices, of food for everybody, tobacco and fibers for industry while at the same time conserving the nation's most precious resource, the soil, and making the farmers more contented and more profitable as customers for the products of industry.

While the funds for benefit payments are to come out of the Congressional appropriations under the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, up to five hundred million dollars a year, the costs of local administration of the organization set-up will be prorated among the participating farmers.

Observers who accompanied the President on his western trip are in agreement in reporting the farmers and the population generally of that Northwest as grateful for Government funds already distributed among them, and eager to get more.

L. M. Absher, 79, Passes Suddenly

Louis M. Absher, age 79, died suddenly Friday at his home in the Halls Mills community.

Although he had been in ill health his condition was not considered critical until he was stricken with apoplexy.

He is survived by the following children: Coy and Olin Absher, McGrady; Alfred Absher, North Wilkesboro; Roe and Romie Absher, McGrady; Mrs. Carrie Handy, Hays; Mrs. Flossie Johnson, Roaring River; and one foster daughter, Mrs. Bill Grayson, of this city.

Funeral service was held Saturday and burial was in the Absher cemetery at McGrady.

Men's Clothing, we think we have the world skinned on low prices. Why don't you drop in and let us give you a real fit and surprise you with low prices?—The Goodwill Store, The Place for Bargains.

Ads. get attention—and results!

Right now when winter is in the air, demand is for a Million Dollar Sale. You can profit by taking advantage of this unusual event. —The Goodwill Store, The Place for Bargains.

BLANKETS! BLANKETS! Big selection just received. All prices. —RHODES-DAY FURNITURE CO.

Oldsmobile Sales and Service

Special and Complete Welding, Body and Motor Repairing, Motor Rebuilding and General Automobile Work. Wrecker Service Day or Night.

Williams Motor Co. T. H. WILLIAMS, Owner. 1/2 Mile West, N. Wilkesboro. PHONE 334-J.

CHER UP, BIG BOY, DON'T BE SOCK ALKA-SELTZER DOES THE TRICK

Why don't you try Alka-Seltzer for the relief of—HANGOVER

Stomach Gas, Headache, Acid Stomach, Colds, Neuralgia, Fatigue, Migraine, Rheumatic and Sciatic Pains! Alka-Seltzer has a pleasant, refreshing, tangy taste. It contains an emulsion of Acetylsalicylic Acid, a Bedtime Salt of Aspirin which relieves pain and discomfort, while its vegetable and mineral alkalies help to correct the causes of these minor ailments associated with indigestion of the stomach.

At your drug store, at the soda fountain, and in 3c and 6c packages for home use.

BE WISE—ALKALIZE!

ALKA-SELTZER On Sale At RED CROSS PHARMACY Cut Prices. 10th Street

Faultless No-Belt Pajamas • Superba Cravats

MARLOW'S

WHEN to Stop Advertising

- When every man has become so thoroughly a creature of habit that he will certainly buy this year where he bought last year.
- When younger, and fresher and spunkier concerns in your line cease starting up and using the newspapers in telling the people how much better they can do for them than you can.
- When nobody else thinks "it pays to advertise."
- When population ceases to multiply and the generations that crowd on after you, and never heard of you, come on.
- When you have convinced everybody, whose life will touch yours, that you have better goods and lower prices than they can ever get anywhere outside of your store.
- When you perceive it to be the rule that men who never do and never did advertise are outstripping their neighbors in the same line of business.
- When men stop making fortunes right in your sight, solely through the discreet use of this mighty agent.
- When you can forget the words of the shrewdest and most successful business man concerning the main cause of this prosperity.
- When you would rather have your own way and fail than take advice and win.
- When you want to go out of business with a stock on hand.
- When you want to get rid of the trouble of waiting on customers.

Let Us Help You With Your Advertising Problems

The Journal-Patriot