Blevins-Chenault
On Saturday afternoon, June 18, at 4 o'clock, Miss Grace Blevins and Mr. James Ivanson Chenault were married at the home of the bride's mother in Wilkesboro. Reverend Landreth Blevins, uncle of the bride, was the officiating minister.

A program of nuptial music was rendered prior to the ceremony. The bride's sister, Mrs. Mack Proffitt, pianist, played "Liebestraum" (Liszt) Miss Erline Hunter, of Westfield, sang "O Promise Me," (De Koven) and "I Love You Truly" (Bond). "To a Wild Rose" was played while the vows were spoken. The traditional professional and recessional were used.

Mrs. Chenault is the daughter of Mrs. Oliver F. Blevins and the late Mr. Blevins, of Wilkesboro. She received her education at Queen's College and Appalachian State Teachers College, and is now a member of the faculty of the Copeland high school near Dobson. Mr. Chenault is the son of Mr. Albert Chenault and the late Mrs. Chenault of Dobson. He is connected with the State Highway Commission.
Mr. and Mrs. Chenault will make their home at Dobson, North Carolina.
No cards are being issued.

Miss Virginia Bullis Is Wed To Mr. Johnson
A wedding beautiful in its simplicity and of cordial interest here was that of Miss Virginia McNeil Bullis and William Oliver Johnson which was solemnized Sunday morning, June 19, at nine o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bullis, 408 E Street.
The minister of the First Baptist church, Rev. Eugene Olive, who is the bride's pastor, officiated, using the impressive ring ceremony. Only immediate members of the families were present. The home was decorated with a variety of garden flowers forming a pretty nuptial setting.
Wedding music was provided by Miss Helen Blevins, soloist, and Miss Elsie Nichols, pianist. Miss Blevins sang "I Love You Truly" and during the ceremony Miss Nichols softly played "sweetest Story Ever Told."

The bride was lovely in a blue dress of chiffon with which she used white accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of Sweetheart roses showered with lillies of the valley.
Immediately following the ceremony the young couple left for a wedding trip through the Valley of Virginia after which they will be at home in North Wilkesboro where the groom holds a position with the Forest Furniture Company. Mr. Johnson is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Johnson, of this city.
Mrs. Johnson is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bullis, of this city, her father being a former mayor of North Wilkesboro. She has a position in the office of Belk's Store.

Jarvis-Church
A wedding of much interest took place at the home of Rev. N. T. Jarvis, Sunday, May the 19, at 9 a. m. when Minnie Sue Jarvis became the bride of Turner Church of North Wilkesboro. The bride's father officiated, using the impressive ring ceremony.
The attractive bride is the daughter of Rev. N. T. Jarvis and the late Mrs. Nellie Mastin Jarvis.
She is a graduate nurse from Davis Hospital, Statesville, also a registered nurse having past the State Board of Nurses, and for the past several months has been working at the Wilkes Hospital.
The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Martha Church and the late Alex. Church.
After a short tour to Washington, D. C. and other unannounced points they will be at home at North Wilkesboro.

Birthday Dinner
Mrs. C. M. Brown was very pleasantly surprised recently after having been taken her on a trip over a portion of the Parkway and returned to find a large gathering of friends and a long table spread with an abundance of delicious food.
About 206 of her friends and neighbors joined in singing "Happy Birthday" and her pastor, Rev. S. L. Blevins, made an inspiring talk and led in prayer. Those attending from outside the community included Mrs. Georgia Whitlington and daughter, Lena Gray, Mrs. Mae Todd and children, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Caudill and son, Jack Hadley, Mr. and Mrs. Finley Harrold and daughters, Frances and Edna; Mrs. Ottilidge and daughter, Christine, of Winston-Salem, and Clyde Finley, of California. The occasion was very much enjoyed.

UNDERCOVER WORK NETS FORTY ARRESTS IN WILKES COUNTY

office of the alcohol tax unit, was with the officers assisting in the roundup and although he did not disclose details of the work he said that the efforts of special agents during the past few months had been very successful. He refused to express an opinion relative to the number who may ultimately face the court on liquor charges as result of the special work which has been going on.

However, he did say that ordinary efforts had failed to break up the liquor business and that raiding of stills had had little effect. Thursday's coup was the result of getting into the "inside" of the business and learning of its manipulations from the hired hands to the highest ups.

A high official of the alcohol tax unit described the undercover work as the one big effort to get on the inside of the liquor ring and a special agent by the name of King is said to have gone into the Dellaplaine, Roaring River and Windy Gap communities posing as a bootlegger seeking to outdo all other bootleggers and to be a "big shot."
The ex-bootlegger said to have been used by the undercover agent as a means to gain confidence and "get on the inside" was familiarly known as "Pete" and is said to have hauled liquor from Wilkes to Charlotte on many occasions and was known by some reputed to have been engaged in the liquor business.
For several weeks he worked, buying liquor in wholesale quantities and it was reported unofficially that an ex-bootlegger was used by him in transportation of the purchased contraband spirits. In his "build up" he purchased lots of liquor ranging from a five-gallon can full up to all an automobile could haul. In that capacity the special officer was able to get "inside and work from within," R. R. Wall, of the Baltimore district office, said.
When the investigation had proceeded to the point where such course was deemed advisable and carried out without arousing the slightest suspicion on the part of those taken.
The special officer is said to have told the alleged liquor men that he was ready to handle liquor on a really big scale and in order to consummate his big liquor deal that he would need to deal with men who really had quantities of liquor to sell.
About 20 alcohol tax units were then called in for assistance and the liquor men were engaged to bring in big quantities of moonshine to an appointed spot to be loaded on the truck. Nine of them were there at the appointed time but more than that number of agents were hidden in the immediate surroundings.
While the big deal for the more than 1,200 gallons was actually under way and the participants were ready to divide the spoils the agents closed in rapidly and it was all over at that point.
Warrants were ready for the others in the several communities against whom evidence had been compiled by the special agent. The remainder of the roundup was a matter of serving warrants.
An undercover agent, it was learned on good authority, had been working in eastern Wilkes for several weeks and has purchased liquor in wholesale quantities from a number of people, gathering information all the time about those who were participating in manufacture, sale and transportation of illicit spirits.
The old town of Wilkesboro was a hive of activity as the arrested suspects were placed in the wire enclosed jail to await hearing before U. S. Commissioner Dula. Practically all of them were willing to waive hearing and Mr. Dula was busily engaged in filling out bonds for appearance at the November term of federal court.
Neighbors of those first brought to Wilkesboro early Tuesday came to visit them and some were greeted with warrants as they came unsuspectingly to see relatives or friends lodged temporarily in the jail enclosure until bonds were arranged.
Described as working from the inside out, the liquor buying by the undercover agent culminated when the truck load was gathered at Roaring River and the agents swooped in to make the arrests.
Those who were arrested were: W. O. Blackburn, Teddy Billings, Glena Bagness, J. R. Mathis, Clyde Hemric, Jett Sale, Robert Segraives, Bryant Mathis, Coy Sales, negro, Frank Mathis, Daniel Mathis, Tommie Mathis, John Sales, negro, J. Robert Byrd, Jesse M. Byrd, Thomas Byrd, Chester Mathis, Willard Mathis, Turner Inscore, Thomas Inscore, Will Dimmette, Charlie Williams, Ranso Staley, Clyde McDaniels, James Sale, negro, P. E. (Man) Mathis, Charlie Love, Robert Johnson, Branson Cull, Woodrow Mathis, Will Porter and Enoch Staley, Julius Johnson, Gordon Mathis and Albert Curry.
Warrants issued for persons already under bond in other cases.

included Thurmond Sparks, Robert Sparks, Hugh Sale, Hubert Mathis and Dale Mathis.
All prisoners except John Sales filed bond before Commissioner Dula for appearance in the November term of federal court at Wilkesboro.

Milk Ordinance Will Be Enforced
Under the U. S. Public Health Ordinance, any one wishing to sell sweet milk must have a permit from the county health officer, and to get this permit there must be certain requirements as to sanitation, T. B. testing of cows, cooling of milk, and other requirements.
Ungraded buttermilk can still be sold to private homes, but under no conditions can any buttermilk or sweet milk, except Grade A, be stored or offered for sale in any public eating place.
This is a final warning to anyone who might be violating this Federal Milk Ordinance, which carried a fine of fifty dollars, the county sanitarian said.

Morris Nelson Revue At Liberty Theatre
Revue magnificent is truly a fitting title for the stage attraction showing at the Liberty Theatre for one day—Monday. Revue Magnificent combines every element of comedy, dance, song, music, novelty and surprises. Skillfully blended in a vaudeville revue that smacks of big time, interspersed with a dazzling array of feminine charm it is a show one will feel better for having seen. A glamour attraction offering several big time vaudeville acts, such as the Avalon Troupe, World Famous Seven People Teeter Board and Acrobatic Act, Kite and Hayes comedy team offering a little bit of everything, Dorothy and Rella, twentieth century iron jaw act, McClure Toe Dance Supreme, Miss Florence Laloux, oriental dancer.
Revue Magnificent presents not only excellent vaudeville acts but also an ensemble of beautiful and talented girls, namely, the Lingerie Girls appearing in several routines throughout the revue, among which will be seen the oriental number featuring Miss Florence Laloux in an oriental solo dance, assisted by the Lingerie Girls. Another beautiful number in revue magnificent is the parade number "Maid of Silver" featuring that charming little Miss Margee Noble, not to mention a beautifully costumed opening and finale that is pleasing to the eye and ear as well. Others seen in Revue Magnificent will be Margee and Marie, two young ladies who will entertain with their fast stepping tap routines, also Morris Nelson in his tenor solos. This revue will be presented here for three shows only and patrons who want to see a really high class vaudeville unit will enjoy fifty minutes of real fun and entertainment when they witness this show, the management said.
