

Say Burgin Will Win in Hearing

Observers Claim Judge Harris Siding With Burgin Point of View

Raleigh, Aug. 31. — Developments today indicated that Judge W. C. Harris would grant W. O. Burgin of Exhington an order directing the state board of elections to declare him the winner of the Democratic congressional nomination in the eighth district.

Close observers made that prediction on the basis of the failure of J. Robert Young of Dunn in an attempt to force the state board to certify him as the winner of the Democratic nomination for solicitor of the fourth district.

Judge Harris upheld a demurrer filed by the board asking that Young's suit be dismissed. "I have gone into this matter (of the board's jurisdiction and powers) thoroughly during the past several days," the jurist commented, "and I am perfectly satisfied that the state board of elections does not have the power to go behind returns filed with it by county boards."

Observers recalled that at a hearing last week, Burgin's attorneys attacked the board's investigation of the eighth district primary and challenged its power to direct county boards to reverse returns.

Original returns gave Burgin a majority of about 100 votes. Following its investigation of alleged irregularities, the board listed returns showing a 23-vote majority for Burgin's opponent, C. B. Deane.

Judge Harris said he would announce a decision in the Burgin case tomorrow or Friday. Whatever the decision, the case will go to the supreme court, as each side has said it would appeal from an adverse ruling.

Young gave notice of appeal. He had sought an order to require the board to void results of the Democratic first primary in Johnston county. He charged that Republicans, nonresidents, and unregistered persons voted in the election.

Judge Harris' action vacated a temporary order restraining the board from certifying Young's opponent, Solicitor C. C. Canady. Attorney-General Harry McMullan said Young's appeal would not keep the temporary order in effect, but that the board would not certify Canady if the supreme court decides the case before time for printing ballots.

If the case is not decided by that time, McMullan said, the board will place Canady's name on the ballots.

In brief arguments before Harris, Meil McK. Salmon of Lillington, attorney for Young, asserted that the Johnston election had been honeycombed with "fraud and irregularities."

"If they (the board members) have the authority to peep behind the election returns in the eighth congressional district," the attorney asked, "why don't they have the authority to go squarely behind the returns in Johnston county?"

Commenting on Judge Harris' seeming indication his decision in the Burgin case, Elections Board Chairman W. A. Lucas, said:

"Regardless of the nature of the ruling, it is important that the entire situation be clarified by a supreme court decision. If the board does not have the power it thinks it has, then it is important not only that the courts let the board know it, but that it let the legislature know it."

Then, the legislature can either remedy the defect or make it plain it does not intend for the board to have any effective supervisory power of any kind."
