Total Cost of Building Set Up in Plans at Approximately $33,000

TO BE THREE FLOORS
Municipal Building Will Front B Street on 8th Street Location

News that the Public Works administration has approved application by North Wilkesboro for a city hall project was received here this week with much interest by those interested in the project.

A wire received by I. H. McNeill, Jr., city clerk, said that the application for a grant of $14,850 had been given final approval and PWA officials urged that plans for the construction of the building be rushed in order that work may begin before the January 1 deadline on PWA projects.

The total cost of the building will be approximately $33,000, of which 45 per cent is represented by the PWA grant and 55 per cent to be paid by the city. However, city bonds sufficient to cover the sponsor's part may be issued without an election, that amount being less than the amount of bonds retired during the past year.
The building will be located on Eighth street fronting B street on that portion of Eighth street, which has never been used as a thoroughfare and was condemned by an act in the special session of the legislature.

It will be approximately 45 feet wide by 85 feet long and there will be an open space of 7 1/2 feet on each side.

Tentative plans call for use of the ground floor for police department, the city jail, the water department and for warehouse and storage.

On the street floor will be the clerk's office, the Wilkes county public library and the fire department.

The top floor will be the hall and courtroom, which will seat 300. There will also be two small conference rooms on the top floor.

As soon as plans and specifications are completed the city will advertise for bids.

His report called attention to the recent religious census recently taken of all the children in the North Wilkesboro school and the Chairman believes this can be used to fine advantage. He states that the Woman's Club is sponsoring the making of a park and tennis court for the boys and girls of the community and he thinks when they are opened that members of the club should attend.

Under-Privileged Child chairman J. B. Williams reported that his committee in conjunction with Mrs. Bell and Dr. Hubbard are working on a project to get a crippled children's clinic here in the near future. Such a clinic would perhaps cost locally about one hundred dollars and it is suggested that the club should sponsor the raising of this amount. It is indicated that Dr. Miller, of Charlotte would likely be the orthopaedic surgeon for the clinic.

The Lyceum courses to be held here November 25 and December 2, 9 and 16, under auspices of the club were discussed. It was decided that season tickets for adults would be $1.00 and for school children .50, and singles would be 35 and 15 cents. Wilkes county board of commissioners in recent session made application to the Public Works administration for a project calling for installation of an automatic heating system for the county courthouse.

Total cost of the project was set up at approximately $5,200, 45 per cent of which would be financed by a direct grant from the federal government and 55 per cent to be furnished by the county.

Proposals to install a heating system in the courthouse have been under consideration for some time and grand juries on several occasions have recommended that a plant be installed. The opinion has been expressed that a stoker and heating plant can be operated more economically than the present antedated manner of providing heat from open fireplaces and stoves.

Few Diphtheria Cases Reported

Health Officer Warns Of Dangers of Epidemic; Urges Vaccination

Dr. A. J. Eller, county health officer, said today that a number of diphtheria cases have been reported in widely separated sections of Wilkes county, sufficient in number to cause considerable anxiety among parents.

However, he said that there is no immediate threat of an epidemic of the disease, which he described as 85 per cent preventable through vaccination and particularly urged that parents have their babies vaccinated when they reach the age of six months. Any children who have not been vaccinated should be at the earliest possible date, he said, because several weeks must elapse before the vaccination makes the child immune. Those who are in doubt relative to the effectiveness of previous vaccinations may have the Schick test administered. The test tells conclusively whether or not a child is immune to the disease.

BIDS SATISFACTORY
Kiker and Yount Will Build Structures On Section For $64,479.20

The state highway and public works commission on Tuesday received low bids on more than one million dollars worth of road construction.

Of particular interest to the people of this section was the letting of a project calling for construction of highway 268 between this city and Roaring River, a distance of approximately ten miles.

Nello Teer, Durham contractor who has constructed many of the leading highways in this section and a great part of the Blue Ridge Parkway, was low bidder for grading and crushed stone surfacing in the amount of $166,529.70. The contract for the structures will go to Kiker and Yount, of Reidsville, who placed the low bid of $64,479.20.

The chief engineer of the commission, W. Vance Baise, said that bids on all the projects appeared very satisfactory and contracts may be awarded as soon as final approval is given by the federal bureau of roads.

There were two other projects let in the eighth division, one calling for construction of about two miles of highway 16 between Warrensville and the Watauga county line and the other widening of about one and one-fourth miles of highway 421 west of Winston-Salem. Blithe Brothers bid off the Ashe county project and the other went to a Winston-Salem firm.

Right-of-way has been secured by the city of North Wilkesboro for an entrance of highway 268 by way of second street. Second street will be graded and surfaced through to highway 18 northward in addition to the spur connecting with highway 268 a short distance from the present intersection of the temporary highway and highway 18. At each intersection two lanes will be constructed entering into present highways in such manner as to lessen danger of accidents.
