The Christmas Spirit

We are happy only as we share our happiness with others. If we would be happy at this Christmas time it should be our aim to spread happiness and to pass on to others a part of the joy that should be ours in observing the anniversary of the birth of the Prince of Peace.

Regardless of what the celebration of the event may include, no real happiness will be experienced by any person who does not practice giving at this Christmas time.

And here we would not want to be misunderstood. We do not mean giving expensive gifts. Giving gifts is enjoyable to those who can. Yet this Christmas time, as has been the case with all others, finds many underprivileged people unable to give gifts and who do not have wealthy or well-to-do friends to give to them.

There are many children whose joy of Christmas will be dimmed because of the lack of toys, playthings, or the delicacies which naturally are associated with the holidays. There are many aged people who are shut in because of infirmities. Some of them are poor and do not have means with which to purchase some of the things they childishly long for at Christmas time.

Those who would be the happiest this Christmas will not forget to visit these people. It is well and good to contribute to associated charities and thus help in a material way. But the real joy comes from a personal visit. Is there not some poor, unfortunate person who had rather have a visit from you than almost anything in the world?

It does not take a lot of money to be able to give. If by your manner of living you spread the true spirit of Christmas, fellowship, peace and goodwill, you have given the greatest gifts and those which cannot be valued by monetary standards.

Peace On The Earth

"Peace on the Earth!" When legions tramp
 The weary soil with bloody feet?
 When armored cars and battle tanks
 Pursue their way in Nazareth's street?

"Peace on the earth!" When tyrants rule
 With clanking sword and iron hand?
 When Freedom skulks into the night,
 Afraid to speak across the land?

"Peace on the earth!" When steel machines
 Monopolize the labor mart?
 When capital has knifed the poor,
 The common man, and rent his heart?

"Peace on the earth!" When muscles strong
 Have balked at toil? When sodden brains
 Have staged the game of "sit and take,"
 Or labor used its tools for canes?

"Peace on the earth!" It yet shall be;
 For every day the Christ is born
 In other hearts o'er all the world,
 And timid souls await the morn.

"Peace on the earth!" Christ is the way.
 He is the Truth. He is the Life.
 The battle-axe of love He wields,
 And love supreme will conquer strife.

North Carolina's cotton yield per acre of 385 pounds of lint was the largest yield in the State's history with the exception of 1911, when an average of 343 pounds was harvested, W. H. Rhodes, chief statistician for the State Department of Agriculture, reports.

A lesson seldom learned—that preparing to live is actually preparing to die.

Watch Your Kidneys!

High blood pressure, the blood of Haraudal Body Waste
 Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. If kidney function is impaired, waste matter is not so efficiently eliminated. This may lead to serious complications that, if neglected, may poison the system and upset the whole body mechanism.

Doan's Pills are the most effective remedy for kidney trouble. They are gentle on the stomach, and do not cause constipation. They are the only pills that are guaranteed to give relief in all cases of kidney trouble.

Misrepresentation Of A Main Character of "Rain on The Just"

May I have the strict attention of the past, present, and future readers of Kathleen Morehouse's "Rain On The Just" regarding the fact that the authoress has misled the people of the Brushy Mountains and surrounding communities.

The authoress states, "The plot, characters, the typical namings are fiction." Still the characters and plot are based upon real people and true happenings. To prove my statement kindly turn to page fifty-six and read paragraphs six and seven. Then turn back to page fifty-five and read paragraph six.

This will prove to you that Kathleen Morehouse was conscious of a real family name, because when she was preparing material for this book she stated on one page "Big Dolly Allen" and another "Big Dolly Adams." The older people of the Brushies know that there was a Dolly Adams.

The Adams' who are aware of the fact think this is an uncomplimentary criticism toward the older family.

LUCILLE ADAMS.

Judging from the red tape that is used to join people together in church weddings, it would seem that it would be impossible for the knot to be severed even at Reno
