Dellaplane and Roaring River Route 2 News

A successful revival was in progress last week at Cranberry church. The pastor, Rev. L. T. Younger, was assisted by Rev. N. T. Jarvis and Rev. J. B. Ray.

Mrs. Leonard Harris has been very ill.

A successful revival was held two weeks ago at Antioch church. The pastor, Rev. Ed O. Miller, was assisted by Rev. J. B. Ray and other ministers.

Mr. Alvin Sturdivant and father-in-law, Mr. Caldwell, both of Wilkesboro; Mr. Sturdivant's uncle-in-law, Mr. Paul Morris, of Ohio; a small son of Mr. Sturdivant; and Miss Ruth Linney, of this neighborhood, spent Monday of last week in Watauga county at Boone, Deep Gap, Grand View and other points and were the dinner guests of a Mrs. Grier, near Deep Gap. It was this correspondent's first visit to Watauga county, though her mother, the former Laura Martin, and her uncle, Julius C. Martin, taught at Cove Creek 50 years ago.

Miss Ella Mae Staley, who had been staying with Mrs. Laura Linney, is staying with her aunt-in-law, Mrs. Leonard Harris, who has been very ill.

Mrs. Frank Sparks, son, Rex, and some grandchildren, have been spending a few days with Mrs. Sparks' mother, Mrs. Ida Call.

Miss Pauline Sparks has been staying with Mrs. Laura Linney. Mr. Bob Edmiston is sawing near the old Tilly mill.

Mrs. D. S. Lane, Mrs. Virginia Lane Mobley, Miss Mary Lane, and Mrs. Turner Church, all of North Wilkesboro, spent Thursday with Rev. N. T. Jarvis and Mrs. Lois Roberts and attended services at Cranberry.

Mr. L. M. Jarvis and son, L. M. Jr., of the Cranberry vicinity attended the mass meeting at the courthouse Tuesday night. Mr. Jack Hoots, from the other side of the Yadkin, also attended it.

Mrs. Turner Church, a nurse at the Wilkes Hospital, who was on her vacation, visited her sister, Mrs. Gwyn Walker, in Ekin, and her father, Rev. N. T. Jarvis, in the Cranberry settlement last week.

Mrs. J. L. Mastin staid with Mrs. Lois Roberts last week and helped her with her housework during the Cranberry revival, when Mrs. Roberts had many guests.

Rev. N. T. Jarvis visited Rev. J. N. Binkley at Harmony recently. Rev. Mr. Binkley, though the age of Mr. Jarvis and a veteran minister in the late sixties, can read without glasses. Mrs. Laura Linney could also read without glasses before suffering two strokes of paralysis the past year.

No change seems to be noted in the condition of Mrs. Laura Linney, who has been very ill for four and a half months, since her second stroke, March 27. She is quite active, however.

Miss Ruth Linney spent a few minutes Monday of last week with her cousin, Miss Lillian Linney, a student of the summer session of A. S. T. C., Boone.

Mrs. Dick Sale, of Winston-Salem, has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Jarvis, and attending the Cranberry revival. She also attended the mass meeting at Wilkesboro.

Miss Ruth Linney was among those from this part of the county attending the mass meeting at the court house last Tuesday night.

Special Offer Oil Burning Heaters

For the remainder of this month the Mark-Down Fuel Oil Company is offering 50 gallons of oil free with each pure case of Albers' or Coleman's oil burning heater.

The firm states that you may make a small down payment now and get advantage of the free oil offer, and pay the balance when the heater is installed.

This offer, the management of the Mark-Down states, is good only during the month of August, so if you are planning to buy one of these new oil heaters for this winter's use you will get the 50 gallons of oil free of all costs by buying before the end of the month.

Local People See Ball Game In Washington

Several local people joined with other North Carolinians on the excursion operated from Charlotte to Washington, D. C. over the week end. The excursion was in connection with a double-header ball game played between the Boston Red Sox and the Washington Senators.

Those going from this city were Mr. and Mrs. I. H. McNeill, Jr., Miss Myrtle Norris, Messrs. Harley Ellis, Gwyn Kilby, W. Q. Mentenhip, C. S. Hudson, Grady Church and Bill Johnson.

Clifford Church Held In Death Of His Wife

West Jefferson, Aug. 18.—In a hearing here today before Magistrate H. C. Tucker and Paul Williams, Clifford Church was bound over to the October term of the Ashe Superior court on a first degree murder charge of shooting and killing his wife on Sunday night, July 23.

By agreement with attorneys for both sides, Church was given the privilege of being released from jail by giving certified bond of $5,000. Witnesses testified during the hearing here this morning that Mrs. Church was shot and died instantly in the bedroom of her home in Warrensville. There were no eye witnesses to the shooting except the defendant, who did not take the stand. Dr. D. E. Peeves, county coroner, said that when he reached the Church home about an hour after the shooting occurred he found the woman's body lying on the bed with a bullet through her right eye and her head lying in a pool of blood. Church, he said, was in an intoxicated condition and was pacing the floor and crying. He quoted the defendant as saying his wife had committed suicide. Sheriff Ed Miller testified that there was no pistol in the room and that Church refused to tell him what had been done with the gun.

S. N. Baldwin, of Lansing, said that he found a pistol the next day under the house and that the gun had been fired one time. A fingerprint expert, F. A. Dotson, of Galax, Va., swore that he found seven distinct prints on the pistol and that all of them corresponded with those of the defendant. Others testifying were Dr. Manly Belevins, W. M. Greer, who declared that the Churches had been quarreling that day.
