

Cafes in Wilkes Rated By Howie

Only two cafes in Wilkes rated an "A" grade for the past month, a list of ratings released Friday by H. B. Howie, county sanitation, showed.

In discussion the decline in grades, Mr. Howie said that several cafes received lower grades because of the lack of adequate toilet facilities.

Meat markets were found to be in good condition, the sanitarian said.

Following are grades for the cafes, meat markets and hotels:

Prices For Dodge Passenger Models Lower Than 1939

Detroit, Sept. 18.—Prices for 1940 Dodge passenger car models, showing decreases up to $15 as compared with prices of three comparable models for 1939 and no change on other 1940 models, were announced here today by Dodge Division of Chrysler Corporation.

For 1940 Dodge offers two series of models—Special and DeLuxe—with "ready-to-run-at-Detroit-factory" prices, including all Federal taxes, as follows:

Special—Coupe $755; 2-Door Sedan $815; 4-Door Sedan $875.
DeLuxe—Coupe $803; 4-Door Sedan $855 ($5 reduction from 1939); 2-Door Sedan $860 ($5 reduction from 1939); 4-Door Sedan $905; 7-Passenger Sedan $1095; 7-Passenger Limousine $1170 ($15 reduction from 1939).

Prices include all federal taxes and all standard equipment such as bumpers, bumper guards, spare tire and wheel, two tail lights, safety glass, fenders and sheet metal painted to match standard body color, and also "Airfoam" seat cushions in DeLuxe models. Cost of transportation, state and local taxes, if any, are additional to the prices as announced.

While prices of certain 1940 models are reduced and others remain unchanged, it was pointed out by Dodge executives that the announced prices represent enhanced values owing to the numerous improvements that have been incorporated in the new 1940 offerings. These include innovation in design which give materially longer wheelbase without increase of over-all length; wider more spacious seats and bodies; doors which give greater ease of entry and exit from rear seats; improved weight distribution and numerous other improvements which contribute to increased smoothness and riding comfort—the full-floating "ride" improved instruments which flash green amber and red safety signals to the driver; increased employment of Amola steel; as developed by Dodge, in gears, axles and other vital mechanical parts.

Dodge officials announced that shipments of new 1940 models to dealers are already well under way.

Tent Revival In The City Closes

Whisnant Campaign Declared A Success; Many Professions Reported

The Whisnant revival which began in a tent tabernacle near the new city hall on July 29, closed on Sunday night.

The services during the extended campaign were largely attended and much interest was shown. The evangelist said that over 200 have made professions of faith in Christ and will unite with the various churches and that over 100 rededicated their lives to Christ.

As an outgrowth of the meeting a permanent evangelistic organization is considered and will hold meetings twice weekly for the purpose of soul winning, Bible study and church extension.

Rev. Mr. Whisnant said that all appreciated the support of the various denominations and that he was leaving North Wilkesboro with extreme regret because of the kindness and cooperation shown by the people.

Clean Up Drive For Beer Dealers Well Under Way

Raleigh.—The "clean up or close up" drive, which the Brewers and North Carolina Beer Distributors Committee is waging against law-violating retail beer outlets, was carried into Wayne county today when the Board of Commissioners revoked the licenses of four beer dealers for improper conduct of their establishments.

The commissioners heard affidavits submitted by Colonel Edgar H. Bain, State Director of the Committee, which alleged that his investigator had found evidence of law violations by J. R. Daniels, M. Williams, John Cannon and Marvin Worrell. City and county officers also testified as to the reputation and character of the places involved.

"The Wayne County commissioners have acted in the public interest and we are deeply appreciative of their support," Colonel Bain said. "The beer industry does not want to be associated with places operating in opposition to law and order."

The license of a former Wilmington beer retailer was also revoked last week after Colonel Bain had called attention to the fact that the licensee's place of business was still operating despite the fact that he was sentenced in the July term of New Hanover superior court and is now serving a one to two year term on the roads for larceny.

The Committee is seeking revocations of two other Wilmington beer retailers for law violations. A Mecklenburg county beer retailer surrendered her license this week following Colonel Bain's petition to the county commissioners that it be revoked for the illegal sale of whiskey.

Two New Bulletins Printed By College

F. H. Jeter, agricultural editor of State College, has announced two new publications of interest to farmers. They are available free to citizens of the State. One is Extension Circular No. 237, "Making Hay in North Carolina," and the other is Technical Bulletin No. 61 of the North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station, entitled "Production of Firm Pork From Peanut-fed Pigs."

They may be obtained by addressing a request to the Agricultural Editor, State College, Raleigh, and specifying the title and number of the publication.

E. W. Galtner, subject matter analyst, and E. C. Blair, agronomist, of the Extension Service, collaborated in the preparation of the hay circular. Prof. Earl H. Hostetter of the State College Animal Husbandry Department, and J. O. Halverson and F. W. Sherwood of the animal nutrition division of the Experiment Station, are co-authors of the swine bulletin.

Five points in making good hay are listed in the Extension circular, as follows: (1) Use a well adapted crop; (2) prepare a good seed bed, fertilize well, lime if needed, use plenty of seed, and plant on time; (3) harvest early, before full bloom for most legumes and in the milk stage for small grains; (4) cure rapidly and take steps to avoid weather damage; and (5) loose as soon as well cured.

The swine investigations showed that firm pork may be produced with peanut feed when the amount of shelled nuts fed is restricted to 90 to 100 pounds. If 35 to 45-pound pigs are placed on peanuts, they should be taken off that ration when they reach 75 to 85 pounds in weight. With the larger (80 pounds) pigs, the peanuts should be discontinued at a change weight of 90 to 100 pounds.

A German minesweeper, protected by two speedy torpedo boats, plows through the waves of the North Atlantic. The instrument at lower right is a paravane, a device for detecting mines. The anti-aircraft gun crew is all set for action. Minesweepers are an important cog in Germany's navy.

Important Triple-A Announcements

E. Y. Floyd, AAA executive officer of State College, made two important announcements this week which vitally affect the Agricultural Conservation Program in the State.

The first concerned the rate of 1939 conservation payment on cotton. A tentative rate of 2 cents per pound for the allotted acreage times the normal yield was announced last November. But, when more than 90 per cent of the cotton growers in the Nation planted within their acreage allotments, it was found that insufficient funds to make the full 2-cent-per-pound payment were on hand.

The Agricultural Conservation Act allows for a deduction, or increase, of not more than 10 per cent in the payments when such a situation exists. If compliance had been below the estimated figures, there would have been an increase in payment.

Therefore, Floyd said, the rate of payment on cotton will be 1.8 cents per pound for the allotted acreage times the normal yield, a 10 per cent reduction in the rate of payment.

The other announcement by the Triple-A officer was the abandonment of the previously announced plan to make hairy vetch and Austrian winter pea seed available to farmers in 41 Eastern North Carolina counties as a grant-in-aid, similar to the lime and phosphate program in the State.

The plan was abandoned, Floyd said, because of a seed shortage in the Pacific Northwest-producing States, which caused bids on 5,512,000 pounds of seed sought by the AAA to be excessive.

However, Floyd said that county Triple-A committeemen and farm agents are making arrangements with local seed dealers to supply vetch, Austrian winter pea, and crimson clover seed to farmers upon consentment of their soil-building payments. The seed will be from local sources.

Hay Should Be Cut At 'Just Right Time'

No phase of farming requires better timing than the cutting of hay, says John A. Arey, dairy specialist of the State College Extension Service. Hay is one of the best and most economical feeds for dairy cows, but much of the hay being fed in North Carolina is of low quality, and has a correspondingly low nutritive value, Arey added.

The proper time to cut hay crops is when the greatest quantity of digestible nutrients can be obtained. With most crops, the percentage of leafiness and protein content are highest soon after the plant begins to bloom. A little later the protein moves toward the seed, the stems become woody, and the leaves next to the ground begin to fall, the specialist explained.

The best time to cut alfalfa is when the crop is from one-tenth to one-fourth in bloom; lespedeza, when the crop is about one-half in bloom; soybeans, when the pods are well-formed and the seed are about one-half developed; cowpeas, when the first pods begin to yellow; and small grain crops such as wheat, barley, and oats, when in late bloom or the early milk stage.

The grasses, such as timothy, redtop, and orchard grass, should be cut in the early bloom stage. The blooming period of these grasses is short and a few days delay in cutting may result in a coarse, stony, unpalatable hay.

Arey said that weeds and other foreign materials is usually the result of a poor stand of hay crops. Heavy seeding, therefore, is one of the first essentials in producing good hay. Thin stands promote a growth of a coarse stemmed hay in which there is a high percentage of waste.

Soybean Oil Is Found Suitable For Paint

Soybeans as a legume. Soybeans as a livestock feed. And now soybean oil as an ingredient of paint.

Prof. David S. Weaver, Extension agricultural engineer and head of the Department of Agricultural Engineering at State College, sees a great future for the soybean crop in the South, and predicts that an increase in acreage of soybeans in the Nation of three to four million acres will be necessary if the maximum use of soybean oil in paint is obtained.

He explained that all paints are made primarily of two materials—a powder known as pigment, and a liquid known as a vehicle. In the past this vehicle, or liquid, has been primarily linseed oil, an extract from flax seed. However, the decrease in flax production in the United States in recent years has made it necessary to import large quantities of linseed oil from foreign countries.

Scientists of the U. S. Departments of Agriculture and Chemistry have proven that soybean oil is a satisfactory vehicle for paint; in fact, it has certain desirable characteristics not found in linseed oil paints. The chief of these is the non-yellowing with age, and another is that "soya oil paint," as it is called, hardens slowly and thereby reduces cracking and scaling.

Prof. Weaver urges farmers to grow more soybeans, and to demand soya oil paint when he buys on the market. "As soya oil paint becomes better known, and its use increases, the acreage of soybeans in this country may be definitely raised."

"The versatile crop of soybeans may well be looked upon as a partial answer to the agricultural problem of the South," he declared.

Infant Deaths In State Show Drop

Raleigh.—A continued downward trend in infant and maternal mortality in North Carolina was reflected in the August report of the State Board of Health's Division of Vital Statistics, issued Friday.

Last month showed a total of only 348 deaths among babies under one year of age in North Carolina, as compared with 463 in August, 1938, bringing the monthly rate down from 66.7 to 51.4. Maternal deaths dropped from 45 in August, last year, to 32 last month, bringing the rate from 6.5 to 4.7. The total number of deaths in the State last month was 2,284, as compared with 2,703 in August, 1938, or a decrease of 419 in favor of August, 1939. Births last month, the report shows, totaled 6,771, as compared with 6,937 the corresponding month last year, a decrease this year of 166. The death rate for the month dropped from 9.2 to 7.7, while the birth rate fell from 23.5 to 22.7.

For last month, tuberculosis deaths fell from 159 the previous August to 110, while deaths from cancer dropped from 187 to 119. Deaths from automobile accidents, as reported to the State Board of Health's Vital Statistics Division totaled 98, compared with 75 in August, 1938, while deaths from drowning totaled 25 for August of each year, there being no change. Previously this summer, deaths from this cause had shown a marked increase.

There were only 80 deaths from diarrhea and enteritis among children under 2 years of age last month, as compared with 131 the corresponding midsummer month last year, a drop of 51. Suicides jumped from 23 to 29, while homicides for the month fell from 48 to 38.

Says N. C. Travel To Be Increased By War

Travel in North Carolina is going to be materially increased by the present war, which has shut off all travel to Europe, and put a premium on the luxury cruise business, according to Bill Sharpe, manager of the news bureau of the Advertising Division of the Department of Conservation and Development.

Just back from New York, where he talked to travel bureau heads, travel editors, advertising managers and others, Sharpe says that much of the travel heretofore going to Europe is going to stay in the United States, and that North Carolina should get a large share of this tourist business.

There comes a time to everyone when the need for the professional services of the Pharmacist is imperative. Sometimes in your life, possibly many times, a Pharmacist will prepare for you drugs which will relieve you of acute pain, will help restore your health or which may even save your life.

Pharmacy is not a trade nor a business. It is a profession, the practice of which makes the community a better place in which to live.

The drug store is different from other stores. So important are the services rendered to the public that the State has specified rigid requirements for the operation of the drug store. Being a store, continued success does depend on profitable operation—and this necessitates the sale of merchandise.

This is Nationally Advertised Brands Week—a week in which Pharmacists everywhere have united to demonstrate to the public that the drug store is logically the best and safest place in which to buy drug store merchandise. Visit the stores listed below. They are offering real values in merchandise which has won nationwide approval.
