The demonstration this month was "Refinishing Furniture." This demonstration was given by Home Agent, Miss Harriet McGoggan. She demonstrated two methods of removing old paint and varnish. One was with a homemade remover, the other a commercial varnish remover: "Successful refinishing," Miss McGoggan said, "depends largely upon thoroughness and care with which hold finish is removed."

Miss McGoggan also displayed the drawers from an old chest which she had partly refinished, showing the various steps in refinishing. She remarked that the majority of people had old corner cupboards, beds, tables and chests made from the very best and most expensive woods, such as walnut, cherry, and oak, that have become scarred from use and been discarded, while if one had the time and patience to refinish it, it would prove to be the nicest furniture one owned.

Miss McGlamery, then served refreshments, assisted by her sisters, Misses Katrynia and Ella J. McGlamery, and the club adjourned to meet again the first Thursday in May.
