Child Welfare Work Made Possible By Poppy Sale Funds

When the citizens of North Wilkesboro put on their memorial poppies on Poppy Day, May 25, to honor the World War dead, they will be helping children of dead and disabled veterans to a fair start in life, according to Mrs. Andrew Kilby, child welfare chairman of Wilkes County Unit number 125 of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Money contributed for the poppies will help maintain the Auxiliary's child welfare activities during the coming year, she explained. Much of it will go into emergency aid for families left dependent by the death or disability of a veteran, helping keep the home together until a permanent means of support can be found, keeping the children in school and preventing the father's patriotic sacrifices from handicapping their development.

In their joint child welfare program last year, the Legion and Auxiliary brought aid to 395,342 children of veterans. A total of $1,968,632.28 from Legion and Auxiliary resources was expended in this program. Much of this money was made up of the dimes, quarters and dollars placed in the contribution boxes on Poppy Day.

"Hardships and exposures of war service are striking down many of our veterans in the prime of life," said Mrs. Andrew Kilby. "Almost every veteran now dying or becoming disabled has dependent children. Unless he has established legally that he was disabled in the war, the government can do nothing for his family. The Auxiliary is determined that no children shall be left in need because their fathers served the country, and with the help of the patriotic citizens who wear poppies on Poppy Day, we are able to carry out this determination."

Ask Farmers To Place Orders For Winter Peas Now

All farmers who own river bottom land and creek land that has become covered over with sand to the extent that the fertility of the land is damaged, are urged to take advantage of the Austrian Winter Peas that are made available through the AAA office at Wilkesboro, N. C.

The practice of seeding Austrian Winter Peas for reclaiming land and as a green manure crop is endorsed by the State Extension Department of North Carolina.

These seeds are made available under a government contract price of 5c per pound, and in 100 pound bags. One bag will seed up to 5 acres of cropland, which will give 5 units payment on the AAA program. This payment will amount to $7.50, which will purchase the seed to 5 acres of cropland and will give him $2.50 for his work, besides producing a heavy green manure crop.

Farmers are urged to file their orders at the earliest date, in order that Wilkes County may be able to get enough orders on file for a car load, since there are only 475,000 pounds available now in storage to the entire state of North Carolina.

Bold Buck Benny Rides Herd Hard In Daffy Western

It's a hard riding, straight shooting, two-fisted Jack Benny, a mighty tough hombre, who appears in "Buck Benny Rides Again," the newest screen vehicle of the famous film and radio comedian, which Paramount will present today and Tuesday at the Liberty Theatre. Wild Bill Hickok and Billy the kid were tenderfoot by comparison with the rip-snorting buckaroo, the terror of the plains, the mad man of the west, Buck Benny of Bar None.

It's a new dynamic Benny, with a scowl on his face and a glint in his eye—a hero to everyone except his valet, who happens to be Rochester. Rustlers quail at his approach—they were paid to quail and they earned their money. Redmen cower, and raise their hands furiously to their own scalps—the tribes were scoured for braves who really knew how to cower in a pinch. Buck Benny rules the range—through extensive bribery.

Poses As Bud Man
For "Buck Benny Rides Again" tells the story of a harmless, inoffensive radio performer, Jack Benny played by himself, who discovers that his girl friend adores the West, and the only way to win her is to make like Hopalong Cassidy.

With the aid of Andy Devine, who actually owns a dude ranch in the West, Benny is enabled to pose as a rancher of the old school. He pays Andy's cowhands to pose as bandits, so that he can put them to rout. He bribes them to let him bully them in Badman style. Everything works out until Benny, who hates horses, is forced to mount one of the diabolical animals for the roundup. His performance on horseback gives the show away, but he redeems himself—if accidentally—when genuine bandits appear on the scene.

Benny's supporting cast includes virtually all the members of his radio program, with the exception of Mary Livingston, who joins his old rival, Fred Allen, in some off-screen heckling. Ellen Drew, Paramount's new star, plays the feminine lead, with Virginia Dale and Lillian Cornell in other principal feminine roles. Eddie "Rochester" Anderson, Phil Harris, Andy Devine and Dennis Day play the radio characters they have made famous. Carmichael, the polar bear, has a bit part.

The picture is based on a story by Arthur Stringer, adapted by Zion Myers, and with the screen play by William Morrow and Edmund Beloin. Mark Sandrich, Paramount producer, also directed.

Miss Crutchfield Is Taken By Death

Miss Crutchfield, 43, well and favorably known resident of this city, died at her home Friday evening, 1 o'clock, after a very brief illness.

She was apparently in normal health until she was taken suddenly ill and died within thirty minutes.

Miss Crutchfield was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John J. Crutchfield, of Randolph county, but had made her home here for many years, where she had acquired many friends and the respect and admiration of many acquaintances.

Of her immediate family there are two surviving brothers, J. R. Crutchfield, of Pittsburg, and W. J. Crutchfield, of Orangeburg, S. C. Also surviving are two nephews, Charles Crutchfield, of New York City, and Colbert Crutchfield, of Raleigh, who were reared in Miss Crutchfield's home.

Funeral service was held Sunday afternoon at the North Wilkesboro Presbyterian church with the pastor, Rev. W. M. Cooper, in charge and burial was in Mountain Park cemetery.

ENLIST In the Campaign To Elect

I wish to express again my sincere appreciation for the splendid majority vote that was cast for me in the Congressional race two years ago. The voters of our Eighth District honored me with the leading vote in eight counties and a splendid vote in the other four. For this expression of confidence, I shall always feel deeply grateful.

C. B. Deane TO CONGRESS

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF WILKES COUNTY,

In my travels the last several weeks throughout Wilkes and every county in the district, the being given my candidacy in the present race is such as to make me very happy. Our former friends remain loyal and in addition scores of strong leaders and voters in general who did not vote for me in the former race are now some of my most active and staunch supporters because they, too, feel we won in the former election.

Active Support

Earnestly do I solicit the continued active support of both men and women voters of Wilkes county who can assist so very much in electing me to Congress. I pledge unceasingly to serve the best interest of every voter in Wilkes and our District and to unselfishly support our great Democratic party—a party we all love and for which many of us have made great sacrifices.

Sincerely and appreciatively yours,

C. B. Deane
