Miss Willa Jean Hayes Is Wed To Mr. Wanless

Greensboro, June 19.—Duke University chapel, Durham, was setting for a wedding of keen interest to Greensboro and of more than state-wide importance last evening at 8:30 o'clock when Miss Willa Jean Hayes, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Johnson Jay Hayes, of Wilkesboro, became the bride of Julian Thor Wanless, of Springfield, Ill., son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Wanless, of Springfield.

Dr. J. Clyde Turner, pastor of Greensboro First Baptist church, of which the bride is a member and which her family attended during its 12 years in Greensboro, officiated with the bride's uncle, Rev. James M. Hayes, of Winston-Salem, also a Baptist minister. The Duke chapel was chosen for the marriage because the bridal couple became betrothed while both were studying at Duke university, where the bride has just completed her second year and the bridegroom, a graduate of DePauw university, Greencastle, Ind., just received his law degree.

The bride was in magnolia satin with veil of illusion in the same rich white. All her attendants wore silver mist grey net with trimming of blue and the wedding tableau created an effective picture in the magnificent chapel whose chancel was banked with tree ferns and tall baskets of lilies and white gladioli and lighted by white tapers in ecclesiastical candelabra.

Escorted by her father, judge of the United States District court, the bride was attended by Miss Helen Plyler, of Greensboro, maid of honor, by her brother's bride, Mrs. Hayden Hayes, of North Wilkesboro, dame of honor, and by six bridesmaids: Mrs. Henry Barber, of Springfield, Ill., sister of the bridegroom; Miss Anne Hayes, of Greensboro; Mrs. Hadley Hayes and Miss Wendolyn Hubbard, of North Wilkesboro; Miss Susan Hall, of Montclair, N. J., and Miss Janice Cook, of Trenton, N. J. Mr. Wanless' brother, Paul F. Wanless, Springfield, attended as best man. Ushers were Johnson Jay Hayes, Jr., Hayden Hayes and Hadley Hayes, of North Wilkesboro, brothers of the bride; Henry Barber, of Springfield; Robert Tunnell, of Georgetown, Del.; and Elmer Rouzet, of Hagerstown, Md.

Before the ceremony John P. Wagoner sang "Calm as the Night" and "Because." Paul Robinson was at the organ. The wedding gown of magnolia de luxe satin was fashioned with V-neckline, long fitted sleeves, molded waistline, full circular skirt and cathedral-length train. The veil of magnolia illusion fell over the train draping from a cluster of white orchids. The bride carried a bouquet of orchids, swansonia and gypsophila bordered with tulle and wore pearls, gift of her bridegroom.

Dress of the eight bride's attendants were of silver mist grey net made with sweetheart neckline, draped bodice, cap sleeves banded in blue, skirts in three tiers shirred on at the waistline. The blue accent for the honor attendants was Alice blue, for the others waltz blue. They wore silver mist grey mitts, hats of the grey net in pancake style tipped over the eye and trimmed with topknot of the blue. The maid of honor carried a fan-shaped bouquet of Gloria roses, the dame a similar arrangement of Better Times roses. The six bridesmaids had fan-shaped bouquets of summer flowers.

After the ceremony Judge and Mrs. Hayes, who at noon entertained at the wedding breakfast, received several hundred guests at the Washington Duke hotel. The bridegroom's parents stood with them. Mrs. Hayes wore pink-orchid lace with chiffon bodice and lace jacket while Mrs. Wanless was in violet marquisette with bodice of Alencon lace. Both had corsages of gardenias.

The bridal couple left during the evening for a three weeks' trip to Colorado after which they will be at home at Ann Arbor, Mich., while Mr. Wanless prepares for his bar examination at the University of Michigan. After September they will be at home in Springfield where the bridegroom will practice law with his brother, last night's best man. For travel the bride wore a dress of milk chocolate brown chiffon, natural linen torso jacket trimmed with milk chocolate glass buttons, matching straw hat with roll brim, brown shoes and natural bag and gloves.

A number of guests from Greensboro attended the wedding and reception. Those from here who assisted at the reception were Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Plyler, Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Trivette, Maj. and Mrs. L. P. McLendon and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reynolds. Also going from here to assist was Mrs. William Quenzel, of Detroit, Mich., daughter of the Trivettes.

Among those from the Wilkesboros going down for the wedding were Mrs. C. E. Jenkins, Sr., Mrs. F. C. Hubbard, Mrs. Joe Barber, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hubbard, Jr., Mr. Kyle Hayes, Mrs. Warner Miller, Mrs. Cola Parker.

Miss Ve'varee Ellis Weds Sam Pierce

Amid a setting of beauty and simplicity at her home near Mt. Pleasant, Miss Ve'varee Ellis became the bride of Joseph Sam Pierce on Saturday, June 15, at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. Atwell E. Watts, pastor of the bride, officiated, using the ring ceremony. Only members of the families and a few immediate friends were present.

The vows were spoken before an improvised altar arranged in the living room in front of the mantle, which was banked with greens and against a background of pines were silhouetted tall floor baskets of white double larkspur, maiden hair fern with seven branched candelabra on either side of the altar. The bride's only sister, Miss Faynetta Ellis, was her attendant. She wore melody pink lace and a shoulder corsage of pink roses and valley lilies. Preceding the bride and bridegroom to the altar was a nephew of the bride, Jessie Ellis, who carried the ring on a white satin pillow.

Wedding music was rendered by Miss Roena Bullis, of Wilkesboro. She sounded the bridal chorus from Lohengrin for the entrance of the young couple, and as the marriage vows were taken, played muted notes of "I Love You Truly." Mendelssohn's wedding march was used as the recessional. Miss Bullis, a cousin of the bride, wore cameo pink and a corsage of pink roses and valley lilies.

The bride, an attractive brunette, wore a Lelong costume of navy and white made along fitted lines with a fashionable swing skirt. Her accessories were of navy and white. She wore a shoulder corsage of white sweetheart roses with valley lilies.

For the closing benediction the bride and groom knelt on a white satin kneeling stool.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride and groom left on a motor trip to Washington and upon their return will be at home in North Wilkesboro on F Street.

Mrs. Pierce is the oldest daughter of Mrs. Kinsa Ellis and the late Jessie Ellis, of Mt. Pleasant. She attended Mt. Pleasant high school and for several years has been employed by the Wilkes Hosiery Mills in North Wilkesboro.

Mr. Pierce is the son of Mr. Walter Pierce and the late Mrs. Roxie Hayes Pierce, of Millers Creek. He was graduated from Millers Creek high school and holds a position with the Miller-Long Grocery Company, of this city.

Methodist Auxiliary In Monthly Meeting

Thirty members were present for the monthly meeting of the North Wilkesboro Methodist Auxiliary which was held at the parsonage Tuesday afternoon. The Gardner circle was in charge of the program and at the close served delightful refreshments. "Christian Brotherhood" was the theme and was presented under the leadership of Mrs. Edd F. Gardner. Mrs. James McCartney gave a most impressive devotional talk, and Mrs. Harry Pearson and Mrs. Arnold Kenerly told about the life of Nannie Holding—the Texas-Mexico Missionary. Mrs. W. D. Halfacre presided for the usual business session, at which time she gave an explanation of the new set up in the Missionary Society of the Methodist church.

Miss Harriet McGoogan Honored By Boomer Club

The Boomer Home Demonstration club gave a delightful party and linen shower Friday night, June 14, at the home of Mrs. Glenn B. Carlton, honoring Miss Harriet McGoogan, who will be married in August. The husbands of the club members and Mrs. Rosa Church, of North Wilkesboro were special guests. As the guests arrived they were greeted on the lawn by Mr. Carlton and on the porch by Mrs. Carlton, where an hour was spent by the older ones in conversation while the younger ones took a swim and boat ride on Mr. Carlton's lake. The members and guests were then invited into the living room which was beautifully decorated with great jars and baskets of Madonna lilies, pink snapdragons, and pink and blue larkspur. Several contests and games directed by Misses Eva German and Annie Lou Ferguson were enjoyed for awhile. In the "Wedding Necessities" contest, Miss McGoogan won the prize and in "Jumbled Flowers," Mrs. Carlton and Mrs. J. E. German tied and both received a prize. Miss Eva German then announced the next game to be "Follow the leader." Miss McGoogan was appointed leader and told to go to the dining room, which was massed with the same kind of flowers used in the living room. The dining table was lovely, with a snowy damask cloth covering it, and in the center a large white bridal cake, surrounded by a wreath of lilies, with a miniature bride and bridegroom on it. The large number of exquisite gifts were opened by Miss McGoogan, and after they had been looked at, and exclaimed over, ice cream and cake was served by Mrs. Carlton. Mrs. Ralph Swanson, Mrs. I. J. Broyhill, Mrs. Earl German, and Mrs. Herman Brookshire.—Reported.

Robert Samuel Shoaf requests the honor of your presence at the marriage of her daughter, Alma Elisabeth, to Gorman Atlee Johnson on Saturday, the twentieth of June at eight o'clock at First Baptist church, North Wilkesboro, North Carolina.

Plans have been completed for the wedding. Miss Shoaf will be attended by her sister, Mrs. J. Glenn Greene, as matron of honor, and her bridesmaids are to be Mrs. Doyle Hutcheson, of Burnsville, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Gladys Earl, of Shelby; Miss Hattie Lee Costner, of Lincoln; and Miss Ruth Sherwood, of Boone; the latter three being classmates of the bride-elect at the Appalachian State Teachers at Boone. Little Miss Beth Kirkpatrick, of Taylorsville, and a cousin of the bride, will be a junior bridesmaid. She will be given in marriage by Mr. Greene.

The groom will have as his best man, his brother, Mr. Neills Johnson, of McClellanville, S. C.; The groomsmen are Messrs. Paul Shoaf, brother of the bride; K. L. Johnson, of Crossnore; Nicholas Antonakas, of North Wilkesboro; and Cecil Shoaf, of Warrentonville. Rev. Eugene Olive, the bride's pastor, will officiate, and the wedding musicians are Miss Ruby Blackburn, organist; Miss Sara Deaton, of Kernersville, and John Kermit Blackburn, soloists.

The wedding reception will be given immediately after the ceremony at the bride's home on Main Street.

Mrs. James McCartney Entertains Her Club

Mrs. James McCartney entertained the members of the Young Matrons' Contract club at her home on Ninth Street Monday evening. The high score prize in the game, which was played at two tables, went to Miss Mamie McNeil while Mrs. S. T. Taylor held the traveler's award. When cards were laid aside the hostess served a salad course. A variety of summer blossoms made attractive decorations for the home.

The Job Is Being Done!

North Carolina law officers, accepting the help of the Brewers and North Carolina Beer Distributors Committee, have established a worthy record of weeding out the minority of objectionable beer dealers.

This program of industrial cooperation in law observance is continuing—without "fuss or feathers." Quietly, earnestly, the North Carolina Beer Industry is carrying out its "clean up or close up" pledge.

The dealers who will not be fair to their industry and their state are becoming fewer and fewer. We know, and so do they, that the job is being done.

The public can help by patronizing only legally operated places where beer and ale are sold—and by reporting any objectionable conditions to . . .
