Cold Comfort

Sloux City, Iowa. — Mrs. Blanche Fredette, 37, is learning the good and bad things about ice. A 50-pound piece of ice slipped out of her hands and injured one of her feet. Ironically enough, a doctor told her to keep the injured foot surrounded by—yes, ice—to help the bruise heal.

Preaching Service

Rev. Leroy Eller, of Moravian Falls, will preach at the Second Baptist church in the eastern part of this city on Sunday night, July 21, 7:45 p. m. The public has a cordial invitation to the service.

Britain Abandons Evacuation Plans For Its Children

London.—Great Britain, menaced by German sea raiders prowling Atlantic waters, tonight abandoned plans for the evacuation of British children to the United States and Canada and left 100,000 or more of them stranded on this potential island battlefield.

The decision to shelve the government scheme for evacuating the children to safety was made because of a lack of convoys and the dangers of intensified sea warfare.

The government announced that it will not prohibit independent evacuation, but it was believed that few parents would agree to sending their children out to sea without convoys in a dash for the North American continent.

Old Glory Breaks Even in Massachusetts Schools

The American flag made headline news in two Massachusetts schools recently. Left: Brothers Beecher, 14, and Hollis Green, 12, willingly salute the flag, but their sisters, Wanda, 14, and Geneva, 11, members of Jehovah's Witnesses, refuse the patriotic gesture. Other pupils in the Bangor school, also members of the religious sect, refused to salute the flag. School officials have instructed parents to explain their children's refusal. Right: Kathleen E. Ross, 12, Norwood, Mass., received permission from probate court to change her name to Daisy E. Ross, after the young Philadelphia woman who designed the first American flag.

NICKEL-A-BALE WAR CHEST FOR COTTON ON WAY

Cotton firms and cotton farmers of North Wilkesboro and surrounding area were called on today by President Oscar Johnston of the National Cotton Council for "100 per cent allegiance in cotton's total war for increased consumption."

In a message addressed to local producers throughout the county President Johnston declared that "the raw cotton industry is arming as never before in its history to smash down the blitzkrieg of substitutes, surplus, and foreign competition."

The message came simultaneously with the National Cotton Council's announcement of a "universal service" plan to provide funds with which to carry on the fight during the coming year. The new plan, to go into effect August 1, calls for a defense fund of five cents on every bale of lint and three cents on every ton of seed, mobilized with the help of each of the five pri-

DUCKS

Starting with nine ducks two years ago, L. E. Chenault, Buies Creek, Harnett County, marketed hundreds of the birds this year, saying there is more money in ducks than in chickens.

SEED

As a result of the European War, United States farmers may be called upon to produce a larger portion of their seed supplies than they have for many years, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Questions Answered By State College

Question: When should seed Irish potatoes be selected?

Answer: Seed potatoes should be selected at harvest time. Go through the field just before harvesting and dig separately a large number of hills keeping the potatoes from each hill to themselves. Then select the seed tubers from those hills containing the largest number of uniform potatoes typical of the variety. Be sure that the potatoes selected are free from disease spots and bruises. Extremely large tubers or those that are pointed at the ends should be discarded.

Special Invitation Farm-Home Week

A special invitation to mountain and piedmont farm people to attend the thirty-seventh annual Farm and Home Week program at N. C. State College July 22-August 2 is extended by John W. Goodman, assistant director of Extension, and Miss Ruth Campbell, State home agent. They are co-directors of the event.

"Whereas, the largest attendance at previous Farm and Home weeks has been from North Carolina, we are hoping this year to have more rural people from the western part of the State," Goodman said. "The program has been designed to attract more delegates from the piedmont and mountains."

For instance, he said, the agronomy and horticulture conferences on Thursday will be all special interest to farmers of the Western part of the State. Discussions of legumes, such as lupinosa and the clovers, will be held under the leadership of competent agronomists and farm agents. Then L. R. Neel, associate editor of the Southern Agriculturalist and superintendent of the Middle Tennessee Experiment Station, will tell "What Legumes can Mean to North Carolina."

The horticulture program will feature discussions of peaches, sweet potatoes, beekeeping, and vegetable and fruit disease and insect control.

"Of course the major part of the Farm and Home Week program will be of interest to farmers and farm women in general, no matter what part of the State they come from," Goodman said. A few of the headline speakers are: Governor and Mrs. Clyde R. Hoey, Governor-Nominate J. M. Broughton; R. M. Evans, administrator of the AAA; and Jonathan Daniels, outstanding North Carolina editor and author.
