Child Is Safe; Kidnaper Held

Abductor Is Captured By Lumberman In Sierra Foothills

Hillsborough, Calif.—Kidnaped three-year-old Marc de Tristan was safe last night and Federal Bureau of Investigation agents announced that the man with whom the golden-haired child was found in the rough Sierra foothills yesterday had confessed the crime.

FBI agents identified the man as Wilhelm Jacob Muhlenbroich, a German alien who entered the United States by way of Vancouver, B. C., January 18, 1935.

He confessed after a lumberman had captured him in the Sierra Nevada foothills and is now held at an unidentified location, G-men said.

"The child is being returned to his family, unharmed, perfectly safe and in good condition," said Agent Howard Bobbitt in a statement authorized by Chief J. Edgar Hoover in Washington.

The son of Count and Countess Marc de Tristan, gurgling happily and asking for his "mumsie," was rescued from the kidnaper by Cecil Wetzel, of River Pine, in the storied mother lode country of California, 16 miles south of placerville.
