

Class Initiation Moose Sunday

Elizabethon Lodge Degree Team Will Exemplify Ritual At Meeting

North Wilkesboro Lodge number 143-Loyal Order of Moose will hold its final class initiation in the Patriotic Campaign on Sunday, January 16th, at two p. m. at the Moose Hall, 310 C Street in this city.

One of the outstanding degree teams of the eastland will be present to exemplify the ritual—Elizabethon Lodge number 360-Loyal Order of Moose, Elizabethon, Tenn. This degree team will take part in the international degree team contest to be held at Indianapolis, Indiana, the last week in August during the 53rd international convention of the Loyal Order of Moose.

Regional Director Chas. A. Kirby, who is in charge of North and South Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee, will be the principal speaker for this occasion.

Visiting Moose are expected from Hickory, Lenoir, Winston-Salem, Mt. Airy and other points. All Moose and candidates are requested to be present. Governor Shoun Kerbaugh of the local lodge will preside.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to thank each and everyone of our neighbors, friends, doctors and nurses, for their many deeds of kindness, help and sympathy during the sickness, death and burial of our dearly beloved wife and mother. We appreciate from the depths of our hearts all that was done for us and for the beautiful floral tribute. May God's richest blessings come to each and everyone of you.

MR. F. F. BUMGARDNER AND CHILDREN.

28 Flags Given To Schools Here

Presentation Of Flags For Each Classroom By Order Of Moose

Loyal Order of Moose Lodge presented North Wilkesboro schools with a large United States flag for every classroom.

The presentation was made at high school assembly period Tuesday by Charles A. Kirby, regional director of Moose for four states, and the flags were accepted for the schools by Paul S. Cragan, superintendent. Also present on the stage at the exercises were A. Jack Mount, Moose membership director, Shoun Kerbaugh, governor of the North Wilkesboro Moose lodge, and W. Bryan Collins, industrial arts instructor and a member of the lodge.

Twenty-eight of the flags were given to the North Wilkesboro schools.

Following is the presentation address of Mr. Kirby:

The definition of the Flag: A light flexible cloth—oblong—bearing 13 stripes representing the 13 colonies—and 38 stars representing the 48 states. To we, of the Loyal Order of Moose, it is the Flag of our Country, Symbol of Unity, Emblem of Liberty, Justice and Brotherhood.

We, of the Loyal Order of Moose are very proud to make this boast—that out of the 3000 children that have graduated from our "Child City" not one has ever been convicted of a felony, and that no graduate from Mooseheart has gone forth into the world believing and teaching the doctrines of Communism. The children at Mooseheart are taught to work, and they are taught our theory of government—that the government is the agency and not the master of the people. The children at Mooseheart are taught to believe in human freedom, and to reverence the philosophy of the Declaration of Independence which declares that human beings have the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. They are taught in plain American language that the Constitution of the United States is liberty's safeguard. Under it the right of people to own their homes and raise families and acquire property is protected. Under this Constitution all children are entitled to an education, and under this same document the right of people to worship God in their own way finds a safeguard.

In these days when Russian Communism is spreading over the United States, financed by foreign emissaries from Moscow, it is a pleasure to tell the world that the Loyal Order of Moose has nothing to do with this tyrannical and un-Christian theory of government. Under Communism the State is supreme. It thinks for its people. It feeds its people (if it does not starve them). It regulates their conduct and habits of life. It says what education, if any, they are to receive. It censors the press. It furnishes its people with places to live. It abolishes religion because that is inconsistent with the theory that the state is supreme. The Communist state tells its subject where and when they are to work, how long they are to work and what compensation they are to receive. It selects the particular kind of work each individual is to do. Life is one continuous experience in the line of regimentation. If there is any protest against the Soviet Communist regime, the victim is arrested by the secret police and that is all that is ever known about his fate.

Opposed to all this if our great Fraternity—the Loyal Order of Moose which believes in the American Flag and the American form of Government. Long may our Flag wave.

Franklin Bills At Buildin g and Loan Friday, Jan. 17th

Every piece of paper money which goes across the counter at the North Wilkesboro Building and Loan Association Friday will be a Benjamin Franklin bill, whether it is a $100 note carrying his picture or some smaller denomination, declares J. B. Williams, secretary-treasurer. Not only was Franklin one of the first effective advocates of paper money in the American colonies but he was also a prominent publicist for thrift. Friday is his 235th birthday, so every dollar put aside for future use is in a special sense a Franklin dollar. Mr. Williams points out. He said the association didn't expect many bills actually carrying the Franklin picture ($100 ones) but many a smaller one to be set aside today in a new or old share account.

Ten years ago the savings and loan industry, which came into being in this country after Dr. Franklin's death, adopted him nonetheless as their patron saint, along with the printers, fire insurance men, circulating librarians, popular scientists, and numerous other activities in which he had a beginning finger. The first savings and loan association was founded in Philadelphia where the teachings of Benjamin Franklin about thrift and financial foresight had taken strong root and spread to become a characteristic of the generation which followed him. There is an annual observance of National Thrift Week dating from Franklin's birthday and the savings and loan associations are joining in this.

"In these times when statesmanship and international relations are of so much concern to the American people, a little attention to Benjamin Franklin and his great service to this country, is very much to the point," said Mr. Williams. "Franklin was a business man who knew that without strong financial support the best cause in the world could be lost. His stay in France from 1776 to 1785 was one of the principal reasons for the financial and material aid which France gave to this country in its stand for freedom, the 10 million livres donated and the 45 million loaned, and it should be remembered that this great American obtained this aid, not from the French Republic, but from one of the most absolutarian monarchs in Europe, Louis XVI. "But he was equally of service to his country in the shaping of the economic thought of the individual over a long range period. He taught not only by example but also by precept, in such popularizations of thrift as 'Poor Richard's Almanac', that the individual's caring for his own future, his ability to meet emergencies financially prepared and opportunities financially able, was the only course of wisdom. In 84 years of living he so impressed that thinking upon people who came to look upon him as a sage, that the result was the honor and homage which this country pays to thrift."

Benjamin Franklin, speaking through the words of Poor Richard broadcast such sayings as: "A ploughman on his legs is better than a gentleman on his knees."

"It is hard for an empty sack to stand upright."

"Idleness and pride tax with a heavier hand than kings and parliaments. If we get rid of the former, we may easily bear the latter."

all of which are familiar to school children of the past 150 years. Mr. Williams recalled that Franklin signed all four of the important documents having to do with the start of this nation, the Declaration of Independence, the Treaty of Alliance with France, the Treaty of Peace with England, and the Constitution of the United States. He was born in 1706 and died in 1790.

Jay J. Anderson Highly Praised

The "Colonel Anderson" column in the Anderson (S. C.) Daily Mail carried the following comment about Jay J. Anderson, a son of Mrs. Annie Anderson, of North Wilkesboro: Jay J. Anderson:

I have heard a great many Andersonians speak most highly of your willingness to lend your musical talent and ability toward the promotion of any worthy cause.

In the comparatively brief time that you have been a resident of Anderson you have come to occupy a very useful place in the community. At the beginning of the New Year I am therefore happy to wish you continued health and great happiness in your chosen field.

COLONEL ANDERSON.

Seven 4-H Clubs Active In County

The seven 4-H clubs which were reorganized in the following schools: Wilkesboro, Ronda, Mountain View, Mulberry, Millers Creek, Champion, and Trap Hill, have been meeting monthly since school began.

The general theme for the year is "Dairying." The clubs were reorganized in the September meetings and the new officers are in charge. Breeds of dairy cattle were discussed in the October meetings. Feeding the dairy calf from birth to one year of age was discussed in the November meetings. "Care and Management of Milk" was discussed in the December meetings. For the January meetings—"Making butter on the Farm," will be discussed. Also in January meeting the club members will discuss what projects they wish to carry out on their farms for the year 1941 and record books will be given them according to the project they wish to work with.

The boys may select one or more of the following projects: Beef calves, Dairy calves, Poultry, Swine, Garden, Forestry, Home Beautification, Horses, Small grain, Corn, Hay crops, Tobacco, and Soil Conservation.

Announcement has been made of a revival to begin on Sunday night, January 19, at Phillips' building on Forester Avenue in this city. Rev. Ralph Miller will conduct the revival and there will be music by local quartets. Services will be held each night at seven o'clock and all are invited to attend.

Funeral service was held at Damascus church for James Carlton Williams, age 63, local colored man who died on January 8. He was a well known colored resident and had many friends.

The survivors are his widow, Addie Williams, and eight children: Floyd Williams, Irene Majors, Ralph, Mary, Archie, Roy, Ophelia and Wrenn Williams.

Varied Program At Kiwanis Meet

Lieut. Governor Morris Shuford, of Lexington, and Pat Williams, of this city, combined oratory Friday noon to make up a splendid program for the Kiwanis club meeting.

Lieutenant Governor William Morris Shuford, reappointed in place of Dr. Edwin J. Cadden, resigned, was introduced by President Carter. He made a short talk, stating he is making an informal visit just to get acquainted. He wanted to visit this club first as Charlie Barber had told him that it was one of the best in the district. He said "I find no headache here."

Pat Williams took charge, presenting Miss Ellen Robinson in a vocal solo, "Trees," by Joyce Kilmer. Pat used the balance of the program period making a very eloquent, humorous and interesting talk on "Trees." He closed by asking the club to sponsor a project; each member to contribute $1.00 toward planting trees along some selected strip of highway, in memory of deceased Kiwanians.

The annual congregational meeting of St. Paul's Episcopal church will be held at the church Sunday afternoon, January 19th, at four o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

The formal invitation was handed to the President by Joseph E. Davies, chairman of the inaugural committee, and Melvin Hildreth, chairman of the committee on inaugural invitations.

Across the face of the handsome invitation, Mr. Roosevelt wrote this message to his secretary, Major General Edwin M. (Pa) Watson:

"Pa—Tell 'em I will go if I can arrange it.—F. D. R."
