

Dellaplane and Roaring River News In Brief

ROARING RIVER. Route 1, June 10. Services were held the 10th Sunday at Oak Forest, Cranberry, and the colored people's Union Grove. A communion meeting at Oak Forest. The colored people had children's

Mr. B. L. Johnson spent the 10th Sunday in Asheville, where his husband has been employed in the park service a few years.

Rev. L. T. Younger and Mr. L. M. Jarvis visited Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Mathis, Sunday.

L. M. Jarvis, Jr., spent Sunday afternoon in the Wilkesboros.

Mr. and Mrs. Avery Couch, of Elkin, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Pardue, Saturday.

Betty Mastin, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Mastin, was painfully, but not seriously, injured late Friday evening when run over in front of Jonah Portner's store, at Roaring River by a car owned by Horace Hayes and driven by his cousin, a Church youth, of Elkin. Treatment at the Wilkes Hospital revealed that she was only bruised and shaken-up.

Miss Zelle Harris visited at Mrs. Ransie Staley's recently.

Many from this section attended court all last week on account of the celebrated calf trial, which was not held because of more momentous cases.

Mrs. Avery Couch, of Elkin, has been spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Pardue.

Miss Fay Staley recently paid two visits to Miss Louise Parks, who has been the house-guest of her sister, Mrs. Zenith Melver, in Salisbury, this summer. Miss Parks is planning to attend Catawba College this autumn. Mrs. Melver is said to be superintendent at a hospital in Salisbury and keeps a housekeeper and retinue of servants.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Luffman, of Elkin, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Pardue, last Sunday.

Mr. Joe Love was not well last week and had to lie down a while every day. He said he was unable to attend court, where he was a calf witness.

Mr. J. S. Pardue is planning to live his house, the old James and Augustus Martin place, repaired soon. The rear portion of the house was built by James Martin about 1806 and the front part by Augustus Martin about 1858.

Miss Lou Parks was said not to be as well as usual lately.

Mr. Joe Love has never unblocked the road near Mansfield Parks, but Mr. Glenn Edminston built a road Saturday via the "cold spring" at the old Tilley place to haul out the lumber belonging to the American Furniture Co. from the old Strawberry patch place.

Mrs. Noah Jarvis, Jr., and Miss the son, Tommy, visited Mrs. Laura Linney a short time Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. L. M. Jarvis went "summiting" Sunday afternoon. She was accompanied by Mrs. Ransie Staley who had not been to the old Tilley place before in more than 30 years.

Messrs. Glenn Mathis, of the Brier Creek family, and Jim Frank Roberts, of the Cranberry section, have been employed for sometime at the Chatham Manufacturing Co. in Elkin.

Mrs. Nannie Salmon and daughter, Miss Lynnette, returned recently to High Point, after spending a few days at their home at Roaring River, but expected to come back in about two weeks.

Rev. N. T. Jarvis was taken to church at Cranberry Saturday afternoon, but was not taken out of the car. There is said to be little change in his condition.

Mr. Glenn Edminston was in this section Wednesday morning of last week buying poplar trees, while en route to Mr. Joe Mathis to buy pigs.

Mrs. Laura Linney was confined to her bed Monday.

Miss Ruth Linney has been sick two weeks but was able to be up part of the time.

Ye scribe spent a few minutes late Saturday evening in the Brier Creek vicinity with Mrs. Worth Sale and Misses Mattie and Armisa Sale. She also saw one of the little disputed cows.

At a tea given Thursday afternoon at the Vance Hotel, in Statesville, for Mrs. J. S. Hollbrook, whose husband, Dr. Sam Hollbrook, is widely known in Wilkes, a number of other persons related to Wilkes residents played a part. The tea was given by Mrs. Arthur Glenn Corpening, Jr.

An ice course was served by Mrs. Louis G. Bowles, Miss Julia Fowler, Mrs. John Cooper Fowler and Miss Rosalie Steele. Presiding at the punch bowl were Mrs. John L. Paylor, of Raleigh; Mrs. C. L. Corpening and Mrs. D. M. Furches. Goodbyes were said to Mrs. Augustus B. Raymer and Mrs. Fuller Sams.

The mother of the Fowlers, the late Mrs. Mattie Beck Cooper Cowler, grew up at Dellaplane where W. G. Benton now lives, being the daughter of the late Capt. John Cooper. Arthur G. Corpening, Sr., Clifton L. Corpening, and Mrs. D. M. Furches are all first cousins of Mrs. Laura Linney, while Mrs. Dewey Raymer, mother-in-law of Mrs. Augustus B. Raymer, is a first cousin in once removed.

Miss Gordon Planning To Attend National Meet Of Educators

Officials of The North Carolina Education Association today announced that Miss Nonie Gordon of North Wilkesboro had booked reservation on the special bus leaving Raleigh June 26 en route to the National Education Association convention to be held in Boston on June 29, 30, July 1, 2, and 3.

Thirty-seven North Carolina teachers plan to attend the national meet in a group, going by bus from Raleigh to New York, and by boat from New York to Boston, with stop-overs in Washington and New York. In addition to those making the trip in a group, more than one hundred other Tar Heel teachers, principals, and superintendents plan to make the convention trip in their own cars, officials said.

While in New York the group will be guests of Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company on Friday evening, June 27, to hear "Chesterfield Pleasure Time" and guests of The American Tobacco Company to hear "Information Please."

Little Miss Sylvia Church Honored On Birthday

Mr. Vernon Church entertained a number of small children on Tuesday afternoon, June 3, honoring her small daughter, Sylvia, on her second birthday.

After a most delightful period of play, the little guests were invited into the dining room, where the birthday cake with two candles was placed in the center of the table. Little Sylvia blew out the candles and the guests were served delicious lemonade, cake, and cookies by Mrs. Church and her sister, Mrs. Brooks.

The small honoree received many lovely presents.

The following children were present: Marie Brooks, Bobby Roy, and Raymond Delp, Shirley and Melba Jean McNeil, Morris and Billie Wade Lovette, Max Bumgarner, Ralph McNeil, and Kay Thompson.

Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Duncan Hosts At Dinner Bridge

Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Duncan entertained Monday evening at a dinner bridge. A three course dinner was served at small tables in the living room, which was arranged with carnations and snapdragons. Awards for high score went to Mrs. J. G. Bentley and Miss Thelma Laws.

France Must Favor Nazis Or "Perish"

Vice-Premier Darlan Indicates Belief In Eventual Axis Victory

Vichy, Encouraged France. Vice-Premier Admiral Jean Darlan last night warned the nation that France must choose to Germany or perish.

By emphatic repetition, Darlan indicated he believed eventual German victory was assured and that France must wholeheartedly play the role of "loyal" collaborator in order to merit a favorable peace settlement and a secure place in a Nazi-dominated new Europe.

The vice-premier, in a speech broadcast to the nation, made no mention of the British invasion of French-ruled Levant states—although in a preceding address he scathingly attacked France's former allies.

Darlan appealed for unreserved support in his collaboration policy and declared the government had three essential tasks:

"One, to ease the present situation of the French people.

"Two, to prepare for peace insofar as the vanquished can.

"Three, to prepare for France's future in a new Europe."

Of the first, he emphasized that France's immediate aim was to modify the armistice in order to secure increased supplies of food and the return of war prisoners now in German hands.

The keynote of Darlan's address was "Preparation for Peace," he repeatedly emphasized the necessity of creating "a favorable climate for the establishment of an honorable peace."

I. E. Pearson Store Now Open

I. E. Pearson, for decades one of North Wilkesboro's most widely known business men, has opened a wholesale and retail grocery store in the building formerly occupied by Pearson Brothers firm, of which he was a member.

Mr. Pearson has a well stocked store of groceries and feeds for wholesale and retail trade.

He said today that he is happy to be in business at the same location and to greet his friends of Wilkes and adjoining counties whom he has served for many years as a wholesale and retail merchant.

The building Mr. Pearson is occupying, has been repainted, and his merchandise is all fresh, new stock.

BOOHER CLINGS TO STORY OF ASSAULT ROBERTY MAY 28th

as though I heard hammering but I couldn't speak, see or get up. Then the next thing I remember was in the hospital and could not see. And yet as I write this I still cannot see out of one eye; and my back and head are still sore.

"I do not blame Mr. Doughton for having me moved from the hospital to the jail, as it seems all evidence leads to me. There have been only a very few of my friends to see me here, and I don't wonder why. I think if you would ask Mr. Byers he would tell you.

"I have been left alone many times before this and with much more money than was taken; and why should I want to take my own money and pocketbook? I was there all alone, wouldn't I have taken the money some place away from the service station? And I think it would be very hard for anyone to beat himself over the head until he knocked himself out.

"To my many friends I once had; there are always two sides to a board. I am 24 years old and have been arrested only one time before. That was for speeding in Bristol, Va. I was reared in a good Christian home and I couldn't bring anything like this down on my mother. And I hope she never knows about a charge like this. There is only two knows of my innocence. That is me and God above.

"I don't think there was a rabbit in the holdup. I would rather call them three skunks."

Johnnie wrote the above statement in his cell Wednesday night. He is booked in jail on a charge of embezzlement. The service station was the property of Phillip Yates, of Purllear. Johnnie said he was working for Webb Byers, who had leased the station from Yates.

Seven 4-H Club members of Greene county are carrying one-half acre onion plots as projects this year and are planning to sell their harvest cooperatively, says Assistant Farm Agent J. W. Grant.

Farmers received an all-time record cash income from the sale of turkeys in 1940, reports the State Department of Agriculture.
