WITH THE CHURCHES

"IMMORTALITY" BAPTIST THEME SUNDAY MORN'G

"Why I Believe in Immortality" will be the sermon subject of the pastor, Dr. John W. Kinche-loe, Jr., at the 11 a. m. worship service in the First Baptist church this Sunday. This is the final in a series of four sermons on the general theme "Why I Believe". Other sermons in the series have been: "Why I Believe in the Bible", "Why I Believe in Christ", and "Why I Believe in The Church".

At the 7:30 P. M. worship service the pastor will speak on "The Deacon And His Church". All deacons of the church are especially urged to be present at the service.

A friendly invitation is extended to the public to attend the Sunday services.

Wilkesboro Methodist Church Notice

At the 11 o'clock worship hour the pastor will preach from the subject: "Wilkesboro's Greatest Evil". Other services scheduled for next Sunday are Church School, 10 a. m., Youth Fellowship, 6 p. m., Evening Worship, 7 p. m.

What, in your opinion, is the greatest evil which exists in your town, in any town? All Methodists of Wilkesboro are invited to hear one preacher's answer to this vital question. Visitors are cordially welcome.

THEY WANT TO SERVE— Petticoat Forces Gaining Support

Washington.—Ready to trade the glamour of peacetime for the grime and grind of behind-the-lines army jobs, America's women today won powerful backing in their demand for a petticoat branch of the nation's fighting forces.

Representative Andrew Jackson May (D), Ky., chairman of the House military committee, said that the committee would approve next Tuesday a bill for creation of a women's army auxiliary corps of volunteers between the age of 21 and 45. "There has been no opposition," he said.

"We don't want glamour—we want to work," said silver-haired Frances Bolton (R), Ohio, one of the seven women in the House, in a sharp retort to speculation by some members of the all-male committee that women soldiers would not like "menial" jobs.

The country's women, she said, wanted a recognized part in the nation's "fight for freedom," and felt they could be of service by taking over many of the jobs now held down by soldiers.

"We don't want your jobs," she said. "But the women should walk side by side, shoulder to shoulder, with men. We want to make this a fighting world for you, an assisting world for us."

She scoffed at the possibility that women in the army would quarrel among themselves over differences in rank and the types of work they would be called upon to handle, such as working in a camp laundry or taking over K. P. assignments.

"Lots of women washed for the army last time, and there was never a scrap," she said.

New Jap Thrusts At Burma Likely

Rangoon.—New Japanese thrusts into Burma during the next ten days almost certainly may be expected, an official announcement warned today.

"During the next 10 days... it is almost certain that the Japanese will make thrusts into the Burma territory," the director of news services said in a bulletin. He added that enemy activity in Burma depends "on the fortunes in South Malaya" where the enemy "has made remarkable progress."

Burmese territory already has been penetrated by both Japanese and Siamese forces.

Uncle Dan and Polly Jenkins and Her Plowboys on the Liberty Stage

Possibly one of the very best bookings at the Liberty theatre this season will be the engagement of Polly Jenkins and Her Musical Plowboys for an engagement of one day, Monday at 2:45 and 9:00.

With Polly and the Plowboys is good old "Uncle Dan" who is too well known to go into detail. Dan is the same good-natured old rural boy who has a million jokes up his sleeve and knows how to pass them out at the right time. Dan's comedy has always been clean and wholesome and never gets on the "Blue Side" of the book.

Polly Jenkins and Her Plowboys are and always have been great stars of Radio, Screen and Vaudeville. Their great screen successes with Gene Autry have made them famous, to say nothing of their broadcasts with the National Barn Dance in Chicago for several seasons.

Polly and the Boys, together with Uncle Dan, have been a headline vaudeville attraction for years playing all the large vaudeville circuits in America. They are known from Nova Scotia to Florida and from coast-to-coast. The company last season traveled over 26,000 miles in filling engagements in various parts of the country.

There will be no advance in prices. The management advises that a "Tip in Time, Saves Standing In Line"—Go early.

Reins-Sturdivant Mutual Burial Association is Large Organization

Announcement of the meeting was made by J. B. Williams, secretary-treasurer. Directors for the ensuing year will be elected and the secretary will give his annual report.

The year was a most successful one for the association and resources showed substantial increase. All stockholders are urged to attend the meeting.

Woman Killed While Eating

Smithfield, Jan. 19.—Mrs. Bessie Brewer, 46, supervisor of the Smithfield Salvation Army home, was struck in the head with a hammer and killed while eating dinner today about 1:30 o'clock.

Nellie Peele, 16, who has been living at the home since May, came in from school about 3:30 o'clock, went into the kitchen and found Mrs. Brewer on the floor in a pool of blood and a bloody hammer nearby.

Nellie said she called Dr. Watson Wharton, who notified officers. Chief of Police J. A. Massey, who is helping investigate the murder, says indications were that Mrs. Brewer had been dead two hours when found. He notified S. B. I. men of Raleigh, who are investigating the crime.

Police are looking for Joseph Ellis, a young man who said he was from Pennsylvania and whom Mrs. Brewer had been befriending for several weeks. They said she stole Mrs. Brewer's purse containing about $29 collected Saturday, and her car and skipped. He was reported to have been seen backing the car out during the rain about 1:30 o'clock.

Coroner E. N. Booker, of Selma, probably will hold an inquest Tuesday.

Food found in Mrs. Brewer's mouth indicated that she was killed while eating dinner.

Policeman J. V. Peterson later got a call from Raleigh police saying that Ellis had been picked up there and had confessed.

Due to increased costs and scarcity of leather goods, farmers are being urged to extend the usefulness of harnesses by repairing and oiling them frequently.

District Poultry School, Jan. 27 Bare's Fair Store To Have Fire Sale

By J. E. NIPES, County Agent Last year the Poultry School for this section of the state was held in Wilkes county and we invited the poultrymen and agricultural leaders in the surrounding counties in for the meeting. This year the school will be held in Yadkinville and Yadkinville for this section of the state and the Extension agents have invited us to their counties for the meetings. Our poultrymen have an invitation to attend both meetings, but they may wish to attend the one nearest them for convenience. The meeting in Yadkinville will be on February 16th.

These schools which have been held over the state in the past few years have been very much worth while to the thousands of poultrymen who have attended them. The poultrymen are asked to carry their problems to these meetings and have them discussed openly for the benefit of all present.

The program reads as follows and I hope a large number of our poultrymen will take advantage of this first school.

9:30, Registration.

10:00, "Meeting Our Quota of Poultry and Eggs in 1942," by C. F. Parrish, Extension Poultryman.

10:30, "The Poultry Situation in North Carolina," by Dr. R. S. Dearstyne, State College.

11:00, "Our poultry Breeding Problems," by Dr. Boston, State College.

11:30, "Production and Handling of Higher Quality Poultry Products," by T. T. Brown, Extension Poultryman.

12:00 to 1:15—Lunch.

1:15 to 2:30, Round Table Discussion of Poultry Problems.

2:30 to 3:30, Visit Egg Show and Exhibits.

EGG SHOW

Many valuable prizes have been secured for the show. Plates will be furnished for each entry. The eggs for the show should be selected for uniformity of weight, size, shape, color and shell texture, and should be free from stains. Eggs should weigh from 24 ounces to 28 ounces per dozen. One dozen eggs constitute an entry.

Bare's Fair Store To Have Fire Sale

Bare's Fair Store, which was badly damaged by fire on Thursday night, will have a big fire sale soon and all are asked to watch for the date.

The sale will be held at the store's regular place of business on Ten's Street and a $25,000 stock of clothing, shoes, and other merchandise will be offered for quick sale at exceedingly low prices.

The stock has been salvaged and cleaned and it was found that a great part of it was only slightly damaged or soiled and that much is in good condition.

However, prices will be made very low in order that the vast stock of merchandise can be sold in a very short time. Those who buy will reap the benefits.

All are asked to watch this newspaper for the announcement of the date of the sale, which will be within the next few days.

Edgecombe County farmers are losing no time in getting tobacco plant beds ready and having their seed cleaned and treated, reports C. W. Jackson, assistant farm agent.

A hog cholera scare in Halifax County turned out to be, upon examination, cases of foot poisoning, caused by hogs eating decayed soybeans and peanuts, reports Assistant Farm Agent M. E. Starnes.

NIGHT COUGHS

YOUR CHILD'S coughing at night—caused by throat "tickles" or irritation, weak breathing, or a cold—can often be prevented by rubbing throat and chest with Vicks VapoRub at bedtime.

VAPORUB'S soothing and-vapor action loosens phlegm, relieves irritation, helps clear upper air passages, thus tends to stop mouth breathing and invite restful sleep. Try it!
