Navy Recruits May Begin Duty At Enlistment

Raleigh.—Rapid completion of construction work enlarging all Naval Training Stations has now made it possible for all North Carolinians enlisting in the Navy to be transferred to active duty at once. It was announced today by Lieutenant C. B. Neely, officer-in-charge of Navy recruiting in the state.

"Recruits will no longer have to wait at home on inactive duty until they can be transferred to a naval training station," the officer said. "Due to the huge increase of enlistments after Pearl Harbor, the training stations were not able to accommodate the flood of men and recruits had to be put on inactive duty. This period has ended now and men volunteering are transferred immediately."

The seven Tar Heel Navy recruiting stations have been called upon to furnish 300 men per week, one of the largest quotas assigned any state. "This is another testimony to the rapid order of naval enlistments in this patriotic state," Neely declared. "North Carolina enlistments were high during the period of the national emergency, leaped to unprecedented heights after Pearl Harbor and have held steady during these far months because Tar Heels realize that the Navy is our first line of OFFENSE."

The officer-in-charge pointed out that there is a place in naval service for every man within the age limits who can meet physical standards. Enlistments are being accepted in the regular Navy for men between 17 and 31—in the naval reserve from 17 to 50.

It is possible for skilled workers to enlist in the naval reserve with petty officer ratings with pay ranging from $60 to $99 per month, plus $34.50 quarters allowance for married men qualifying as second class officers or better. Applicants skilled in the following trades may now secure petty officer ratings: aerographers, firemen, ordnancemen, machinists, metal smiths, motor mechanics, painters, radio operators and technicians, seamen, ship fitters and cooks. Experienced hospital technicians, first aid men and pharmacists are also needed for service with the hospital corps.

Men without established trades who enlist in either the regular Navy or the naval reserve are eligible to be assigned to any one of the 75 Navy trade schools.

"Healthy, alert North Carolinians should take advantage of the multitude of opportunities offered by our Navy," Neely asserted. "They may now join their friends and neighbors for service with the fleet in America's greatest fight for freedom."

A-I-A

An A-I-A preference rating, the same given on Army and Navy contracts, has been granted manufacturers of certain types of farm equipment to get essential machinery in the hands of farmers.

VEGETABLES

About 79 percent of the 6,096,799 farms enumerated in the recent census reported farm gardens growing vegetables for consumption on the farm only, an average of $44 worth per farm.

"To the Shores of Tripoli" At Allen

Marines are tough, and Randolph Scott and John Payne are no exceptions in the Technicolor picture made by 20th Century-Fox, "To the Shores of Tripoli," which is scheduled to open Thursday and Friday at the Allen Theatre. Produced by Darryl F. Zanuck, the film stars Maureen O'Hara with them in the exciting story of the men behind the guns.

Ceiling Put On Price Of Items

Washington.—The government carried its campaign against rising living costs into the kitchen, cupboard and closet yesterday by placing price ceilings on china and pottery and a long list of cotton products including sheets, blankets, diapers, towels and gingham.

In addition, a permanent price lid was put on used egg crates, an element in the cost of eggs.

The two major orders affecting prices at the manufacturers' level and, in the case of cotton, should bring about "considerably lower" prices than those prevailing, OPA said. The chinaware order, covering hundreds of china and pottery items, including cups, saucers, dishes, plates and bowls, was in effect a denial of a price boost requested in February.

Supplementary Order

The cotton products action, supplementing seven existing price orders on cotton yarns and goods, brought practically every product of the cotton textiles industry under price control, price Administrator Leon Henderson said.

It is effective May 4, and bases prices on the levels prevailing July 21 to August 15, 1941. The ceiling is a flexible one, designed to let prices fluctuate with raw cotton quotations.

Additional finished articles affected include bedspreads, tablecloths, napkins, corduroys, flannels, cottonades and chambrays, and among the unfinished goods covered are shirting, satens, gabardine, industrial fabrics, ducks, and wide goods of 42 inches and over.

Price schedules on a "dollar and cents" basis are being prepared for the new items brought under ceilings. Henderson disclosed, but for the time being it was considered best to provide a method under which each seller would determine his maximum price for himself, even though this might result in a different ceiling price for each producer.

Price Formula

For this reason an elaborate formula was set out under which the sellers will use the "weighted average price" in effect during the July 21-August 15 basis period, adjusted by the differentials provided for changes in spot, cotton prices.

The china and pottery order imposes on manufacturers of vitreous ware a ceiling at the price levels of October 1-15, 1941, but allows producers of semivitreous ware to charge 5 per cent above the October 1-15 quotations.

OPA said this would allow a "fair margin of profit." Manufacturers, who granted two 10 per cent wage increases to employees last year, had scheduled a 10 per cent price boost last February, but voluntarily withdrew it in order to give OPA time to complete a study of costs in the industry.

Stoneware and art pottery were not covered by the new action.

Even under price control in the industry, which enjoyed sales of almost $50,000,000 last year, is expected to obtain more favorable dollar profits than in pre-war years, OPA said, because of increased purchasing power already reflected in mounting sales of china and pottery articles.

LETTUCE

This year the spring crop of commercial lettuce will probably add up to half again as much as in average years, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

American farm products costing $524,500,000 had been delivered to representatives of the United Nations for Lease-Lend shipment up to the first of April.

BEGINS TODAY—Sparkling Fun Headed Here In New Film

With three popular stars occupying the leading roles in a story that stirred many laughs as a book, "The Remarkable Andrew," new Paramount comedy, arrives Monday at the Liberty Theatre, to delight movie goers as a film.

Brian Donlevy, William Holden and Ellen Drew are the starring trio, playing parts completely different from any they have previously done. From the skyway drama of "I Wanted Wings" Donlevy and Holden go directly into their comedy roles in "The Remarkable Andrew." For pretty Ellen this marks the third comedy in succession in which she has appeared. Ellen gave a good account of her talents for raising laughs in "Reaching for the Sun" and "Our Wife."

"The Remarkable Andrew" casts young Holden as a systematic and high-principled bookkeeper in the purchasing department of a small town, who discovers that a ring of political crooks is looting the treasury and who is framed by them when he tries to expose their depredations. In the midst of his battle to save himself from going to jail, and his romance from crashing, he receives a visitation from one of his historic idols — General Andrew Jackson. The General, two-listed with a lusty sense of humor, is visible only to his young friend, Andrew Long. So are the pals the General brings along for assistance in getting young Andrew out of his scrape — pals like George Washington, Benjamin Franklin and Jesse James.

Hot-tempered, fun-provoking Andrew Jackson is played by Brian Donlevy, and the role ought to fit the popular star like his own skin. Likeable William Holden enacts the part of Andrew Long, the obscure, romantic bookkeeper, whose own heroism brings heroes out of the past to help him. Ellen Drew is the girl friend, who finds it hard to believe Holden sane in the face of all the goings-on.

Directed by Stuart Heister, "The Remarkable Andrew" has a first-rate supporting cast in addition to its leading players, including Montagu Love, Porter Hall, Richard Webb, Rod Cameron, Frances Gifford and Martha O'Driscoll.

Fewer Deaths On N. C. Roads

73 Persons Die In 61 Fatal Accidents During the Month of March

Raleigh, April 16.—Death seems to have taken a half-holiday on North Carolina highways for the duration.

The Highway Safety division, in its monthly report, said today that 73 persons died in 61 fatal accidents last month. Its figures for March of 1941, however, showed that 94 persons were killed in 86 accidents.

In a further break-down of accident statistics, the Safety department asserted that during the first three months of this year, 318 persons had been killed in 181 fatal accidents. For the same period of last year, 276 persons died in 231 fatal accidents.

Johnston county with two accidents and eight deaths had the bloodiest record last month. Cumberland, with four accidents and four deaths, and Onslow, Wake and Rowan each with three and three, follow Johnston. Sixty counties had perfect records for March.

For the three-month period, Cumberland county had the highest fatality rate. Sudden death came to 24 persons in 19 accidents in Cumberland in the first quarter of 1942.

Wake county, with eight deaths in seven accidents had questionable privilege of finishing second, and Rowan, with a score of seven and seven, was third.

Thirty-seven counties had perfect records for the three-month period.

They were Alexander, Alleghany, Anson, Avery, Beaufort, Bertie, Camden, Catawba, Cherokee, Chowan, Clay, Dare, Davie, Forsyth, Gates, Graham, Greene, Hoke, Hyde, Jones, Macon, Madison, Martin, McDowell, Mitchell, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Person, Polk, Rockingham, Rutherford, Surry, Tyrrell, Washington, Watauga, Yadkin and Yancey.

Of the six North Carolina cities with populations over 50,000, only Charlotte and Winston-Salem had perfect records for January, February and March. Winston-Salem had a flawless record in the same period in 1941, but Charlotte was leading all cities in the state with eight fatal accidents and nine deaths.

The record of the cities taken as a whole, showed an increase

Farmers Turn To Legumes

Nitrate of soda, scarce to North Carolina farmers but even more vital to United States in the manufacture of munitions, may be replaced to some extent by the growing of more winter legumes, says E. C. Blair, Extension agronomist of N. C. State College.

Nitrate of soda is scarce this year and has been placed on the ration list by the War Production Board. Next year, Blair said, farmers may expect to find an even smaller supply of this crop food.

At a recent series of winter legume field meetings, the State College agronomist explained to those present that legumes must be allowed to make a heavy growth if they are to be of value to the soil. Such a growth is equivalent to approximately 250 pounds of nitrate of soda an acre.

The nitrogen added to the soil is in direct proportion to the amount of growth turned under. This is contrary to a widespread belief, Blair pointed out, that legumes store up nitrogen in the root nodules formed by the nitrogen-gathering bacteria. It has been shown that these nodules are simply the points at which the nitrogen enters the plant, to be stored in its stalks and leaves.

Before North Carolina farmers can derive a maximum of good from winter legumes, the practice of growing seed in this State and preferably on the home farm must be learned. At the present time, most of such seed come from the Far West.

Blair told farmers at these field meetings that early planting is absolutely necessary for best results.

In auto deaths this year over last. Last month, 15 persons died in 13 accidents, in contrast to nine and nine in March of 1941. For the three-month period, 38 persons were killed in 34 accidents this year; and 37 died in 35 auto mishaps during the same time last year.

Greatest increase among all cities was registered by Fayetteville which had a record of two deaths for two accidents in last month and six deaths for six accidents during the three months period. In March of 1941, Fayetteville had one death for one accident; and for the three-month period last year, two deaths and two accidents.
