Jack Howard Entertains For His House Guest

Mr. Robert Means, of Winston-Salem, who spent the week-end as the houseguest of Mr. Jack Howard at his home near Wilkesboro, was feted at a watermelon feast at the Howard home Saturday night with about 30 young people present. Mr. Means and Mr. Howard are schoolmates at Wake Forest College. Mr. Howard will spend next week-end with Mr. Means in Winston-Salem before they resume their studies at Wake Forest college.

T. E. L. Class Has Meeting

The T. E. L. Class of the First Baptist Church held an interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. W. M. Darlington Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Ada Bumgarner as co-hostess. It was the regular meeting for the month of August. Following the business session, the hostesses served melon.

Current Topics Club Met With Mrs. Starr

The members of the Current topics club and four additional guests, Mrs. C. D. Coffey, Sr., Mrs. J. Q. Adams, Mrs. Edd F. Gardner, and Mrs. Tal Barnes were delightfully entertained by Mrs. Weaver Starr at her home on Ninth Street Friday. Luncheon was served at one o'clock after which rook was played at four tables. The top score prize in the game, which was defense stamps, went to Mrs. Adams.

Pruitt-Church

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pruitt announce the marriage of their daughter, Cora Ella, to Mr. Hansford Church, of North Wilkesboro and Wilmington. Mr. Church is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Finley Church. They were married on August 24 at Wilmington, by W. F. Carpenter. Mr. Church is employed by the North Carolina Shipbuilding Company. After a few days visit in North Wilkesboro, Mr. and Mrs. Church will make their home in Wilmington.

The members of the Y. W. A. of the Wilkesboro Baptist church went to Moravian Falls Friday evening for a delightful outing. Around twelve girls, with their leader, Mrs. H. C. Colvard, enjoyed a picnic supper after which games were played and a period was spent in singing.

Funeral Is Held For Louis Ulrich

Funeral service for Louis Ulrich, 79, who died Monday at Rutherford, N. J., was held on Thursday at Prospect church in Yadkin county. Rev. E. C. Norman conducted the service and burial was in the church cemetery.

Mr. Ulrich for a number of years was a prominent citizen of North Wilkesboro. Here he was superintendent of Oak Furniture company and was active in civic and church work.

Mr. Ulrich was twice married, the first time to Miss Bettie L. Hayes, of Raleigh. One daughter, Mrs. Harry F. Warnke, of Rutherford, N. J., survives of this marriage. He was married the second time to Miss Flora S. Taylor, of East Bend. She survives, together with one daughter, Mrs. Robert T. Ross, Rutherford, N. J.; one brother, Paul T. Ulrich, Miami, Fla.; two sisters, Mrs. Mamie Howard, Portsmouth, Va.; and Mrs. John L. Cooper, Oaklyn, N. J.; and six grandchildren.

State to Use Tab-sized Auto Plates in 1943

Raleigh, Aug. 24.—North Carolina's 1943 license plate will be a small tab containing only four square inches. Motor Vehicle Commissioner T. B. Ward said today.

Automobiles will be equipped with only one of the tabs, attached to the rear license plate. The serial number on the tab will not correspond with the 1942 license number, Ward said.

Ward estimated that the State would save about 200 tons of metal by substituting the small plate for the larger ones now in use, and said enough metal is now on hand from previous purchases to make enough of the tabs for next year.

The midget-sized plate will be manufactured at Central prison and most of the machinery needed to process them has already arrived.

Proper Stages For Cutting Legumes For Hay Purposes

By J. B. SNIPES, County Agent

Hay making time is here and quite a few farmers are inquiring as to the proper stages in cutting legumes in order to make the best quality of hay.

Hay should be cut when you can save the most leaves, because the leaves contain much of the nutrition.

1. Lespedeza should be cut in early bloom or when 12 inches high, whichever occurs first. To leave it longer results in loss of the lower leaves and in a poorer grade of hay. Lespedeza is very easily cured and may be stored in a barn or shelter or stacked a few hours after cutting.

2. Soybeans should be cut when the pods begin to form and before the stalks get too tough and dry. By cutting early you save more leaves and get more proteins.

3. Cowpeas should be cut when first pods begin to turn brown. Waiting until later will result in more peas and a poorer grade of hay. Cowpeas and soybeans are harder to save than is lespedeza therefore, it requires more work.

Cowpea and soybean hay should be left on the ground a day or two after cutting, then stacked on racks or poles. The racks can be made out of poles or strips. Nail three poles or strips together at the top, then spread the rack at the bottom and nail strips around the 3 poles about 1 foot above the ground, allowing the ends of the strips to extend a few inches beyond the poles. Putting hay upon the racks will allow the air to circulate in the center of the stacks, thereby drying it out from the inside as well as the outside.

Good Revival Is Held At Goshen

Rev. S. I. Watts recently closed a successful series of revival services at Goshen Baptist church, of which he is pastor. Ten were baptised at the close of the meeting.

Father Keeping Faith With His Captured Son

"Son, if you ever need me, I will go to you, no matter where you may be," Frank Hardt, Jr., of St. Louis, told his son, Frank, an army lieutenant. The young soldier was sent to the Philippine Islands and now is listed as missing in action in that area.

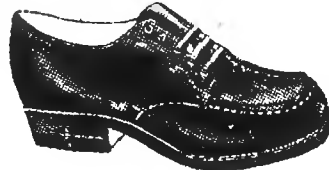

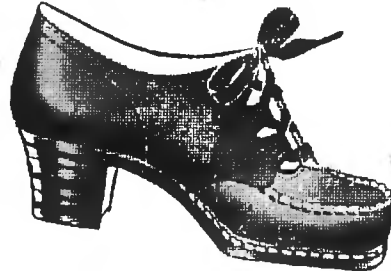

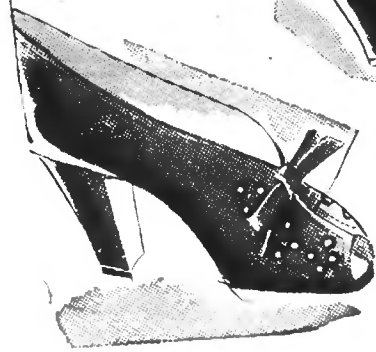

The 49-year-old father can't go to the Philippines right away, so he has done the next best thing. He has enlisted in the navy as a chief petty officer on active sea duty.
