New Manager At Hub's Bee Line

Mr. Ernest Ashley, formerly of Elkin, is the new manager of Hub's Bee Line which has been in operation in the rear of the Auto Parts building for the past several months. He succeeds Mr. E. L. Shulenberger who recently went to Burlington to take charge of Hub's Bee Line in that city.

Mr. Ashley has just returned from Knoxville, Tenn., where he took a course at the factory. While there he specialized in frame and axle straightening, wheel alignment and balancing.

Mr. Ashley cordially invites local car and truck owners whose tires are wearing out unnecessarily on account of the frame, axle or wheel being out of line, to drive in for a free inspection at their first opportunity.

Hog Campaign

By J. B. SNIPES, County Agent

We are holding two feeder demonstrations on Wednesday, September 23. We need to grow more pork for home consumption and then some to help feed the rest of the world. Our pork supply is short. Let's help speed up the Victory Program by growing more hogs. You can double the price of your corn and small grain by feeding it to hogs.

E. V. Vestal, Extension Swine Specialist, State College, will be present to help conduct the demonstrations. We would like for all the farmers who are interested in growing hogs or building self feeders to be present at one of the following demonstration:

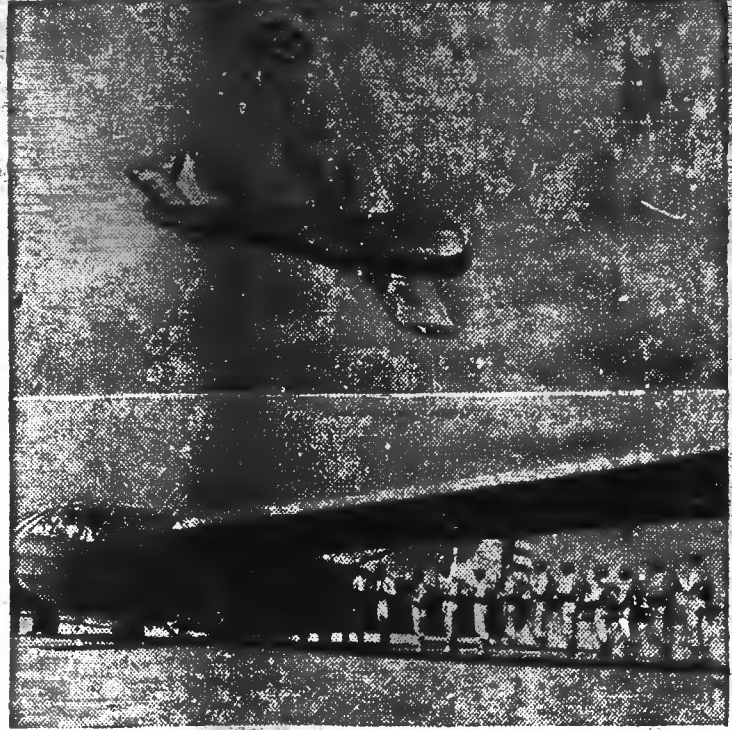

The first demonstration will be held on Wednesday morning, Sept. 23, at 9:00 o'clock on the farm of T. W. Ferguson, in the Ferguson community.

The second demonstration will be held on the farm of Effner Duncan, who lives about half way between Oakwoods and Moravian Falls, Sept. 23 at 2:00 o'clock p. m.

Seventy per cent of Turkey's shipments to the United States normally consist of leaf tobacco.

One hundred thousand acres of American land yield cucumbers for pickling each year.

New Troop-Carrying Glider for U. S. Army

Shown above in the air and on the ground is the army's 15-place troop-carrying glider, the CG-4A, now in quantity production at Wichita, Kans. In the hands of a skilled pilot the glider can be landed in almost any small field or pasture. The glider has a wing span of 83 feet and 8 inches, and weighs only 3,000 pounds. Note troops boarding glider in lower picture. Gliders of this type may be used against Axis when invasion time comes.

Moose Chapter Night Sept. 21st

Publicity chairman, co-worker Vivian Kerbaugh of the Women of the Moose, Chapter No. 476, will have her Chapter Night Program next Monday, Sept. 21, at 8 p. m. This is an open meeting, and a program has been planned which will interest both the members and the non-members. The subject of the program will be "Publicity—What It Is and How It is Presented."

By following the recommendations for Publicity work, established for the Women of the Moose in 1927 by their Grand Chancellor, Miss Katherine Smith of Washington, D. C., the Women of the Moose have come to recognize publicity as one of the most fascinating activities in their Development Program. Members without any previous experience in this work accept the chairmanship of Publicity for their Chapter, and in most instances, later express their appreciation for the opportunity of handling for the Women of the Moose bases its such interesting work. Because program on the object of serving the needs of homes and communities everywhere, they endeavor to make the Mooseheart Standards available to every person in the community.

Mooseheart—the world's most famous "Child City"—is represented the acme of scientific care and training of the normal child. Located thirty-seven miles west of Chicago, Ill., this "City of Childhood" provided for every need of the normal, growing child possible to provide in substitution of its natural home. Founded and built in 1913 by U. S. Senator from Pennsylvania, Honorable James J. Davis, for dependent children of deceased members of the Loyal Order of Moose, Mooseheart has given to the world practical proof that its program for the care and training of the child is the answer to preventive and protective measures against retardation in the Child's growth physically, educational, spiritually and morally, in its progress from infancy to adulthood. Furthermore, it is the answer to corrective measures for any lack found in the normal child's experience in relation to its natural development. Mooseheart sends its graduates out into the world fully equipped to serve as useful, self-governing citizens, trained academically as well as vocationally.

As a correlative department to Mooseheart's administration program, this "Child City" has its own scientific Laboratory for Child Research under the supervision of a leading psychologist. It boasts further of a modern, fully-equipped Hospital, a scientific Foods Laboratory, its own farm, cannery, bank, post office, stores, indoor swimming pool, and every other requisite of complete home and community life.
