

ARMY WILL TAKE MANY NEXT YEAR

Draft For Every Fifth Man In '43

Washington.—Man Power Chief Paul V. McNutt, predicting 1943 draft calls for every fifth man in civilian work, last night unfolded his own solution of the man power problem—a sweeping, five-point program to apportion the nation's human resources among the armed forces and essential industries.

He told a press conference—his first since President Roosevelt gave him control over selective service and all other phases of the man power picture—that he will consider the entire population a "national pool from which the needs of the armed forces, agriculture, industry and essential civilian activities will be supplied."

The first step in this effective mobilization, he said, is determination of the basic military needs—a question he will discuss tomorrow in conferences with the joint chiefs of staff. The second is determination of the basic needs of industry and agriculture.

Once this is done, McNutt said the way will be cleared for implementation of this new, five-point man power program:

- 1—Allocation of man power to the armed forces, war industries, agriculture and other essential civilian activities.
- 2—Efficient use of labor for war industries.
- 3—Mobilization of the nation's labor reserves.
- 4—Transfer of workers from less essential activities to activities essential to the support of the war.
- 5—Supplying labor needed for essential agriculture.

Foot Platoon Here Cancelled

"Editor Journal-Patriot, North Wilkesboro, N. C.

"Dear Sir:
"Due to the action just taken by the War Manpower Commission and the Navy Department, it will be impossible for us to continue with plans for the 'Admiral Foot Platoon.' I have done everything possible to secure special authority to go on with the program, but this last action makes it impossible.

"I am advising everyone by letter, who made application to enlist with the Platoon, that due to the fact that they had made application for enlistment prior to December 5, that special permission has been secured for them to enlist prior to December 15, if they so desire. December 15 is absolutely the dead line, and enlistments must be completed before that date, instead of the original one as planned, and interested applicants should let this office know immediately.

"In behalf of the Navy Department Service, I want to take this opportunity to express our thanks to you and all the people of Wilkes county who cooperated so splendidly with us in carrying this program. It is with a great deal of regret that we advise it necessary to call it off.

"Very truly yours,
"J. C. FRIAR, CSP (R) USNR
"Navy Recruiter.
"P. S. The above mentioned applicants, desiring to enlist must come to the Winston-Salem Recruiting Station, Post Office Building, at their own expense for further information."

Fort Shafter, Oahu.—Hawaii today is not only prepared to repulse another expected Japanese attack, but is ready to take its place in the eventual offensive against Japan. Lieut. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, commander of the Hawaiian Department of the United States Army, declared.

A year of co-operative efforts by the Army, Navy and civilian population, he said, has made the island a stronghold from which American Army and naval forces will strike at the heart of the enemy.

"The striking power of the military and naval establishments has been greatly increased," General Emmons revealed, adding that the results attained have "been limited only by shortages of manpower and materials."
