A SOLDIER TO HIS MOTHER

Dear Mom:
Because by letters are few,
Don't think that I've forgotten you;
For no matter how far we are apart,
You still hold top in my heart.
Each night when I get back to camp,
Tired from my long day's weary tramp,
I always mean to drop a line,
But the sandman always beat my time.

But, mom, you know I mean to write,
Why, I think about you day and night,
Each night the very last thing I do,
Is pray to God to care for you.
— CARRIA HAYNES

That Is All

Roosevelt Kills W. P. A. Project

Washington.—The works project administration, which provided depression relief for millions and an ever bitter controversy for Congress, was ordered out of existence by President Roosevelt.

War-time increases in private employment make the agency unnecessary now, he said in a letter to Major General Philip B. Fleming, the federal works administrator. Some individuals remain on the rolls, he added, but they can be provided for by the states and localities. Uncompleted building projects are to be taken over by other federal agencies.

Death Sentence Feb. 1
In "many states" the death sentence is to become effective by February 1; in others "as soon thereafter as feasible." The whole is to be liquidated by June 30 at the latest, for Mr. Roosevelt observed there would be no necessity for WPA appropriations for the next fiscal year, which begins on that date.

During its career, WPA spent more than $10,000,000,000, providing relief for some 38,000,000 people.

To the end, the President stoutly defended the agency, its record, and the policy which guided it. It displayed "courage and determination in the face of uninformal criticism," he said. It had "asked for and earned an honorable discharge."

WPA began its existence seven years ago as the works progress administration. It was a successor to the old federal emergency relief administration. Its program was rooted in the theory that it was better to make work for the jobless, than to provide them with an outright dole.
