Rev. Eugene Eller Writes About Dr. R. Paul Caudill

The Journal Patriot, North Wilkesboro, N. C. Dear Editor:

It is my desire to say a word to the friends of the State of Wilkes, and especially those in North Wilkesboro about a noble son of Wilkes who is to return for a revival in the First Baptist church of North Wilkesboro. I refer to Dr. R. Paul Caudill, pastor of the First Baptist church, of Augusta, Ga.

Of the many things and personalities of which the people of Wilkes may afford to be proud, there is none more deserving of their just pride than this man of God. I have known and loved him through the years. It is now my joy and privilege to have fellowship with him from week to week and we serve churches in the same city. I trust the people will fill the old First Baptist church to overflowing for every service while he is there.

Some months ago I was asked to write an editorial for one of the publications of his church which his young people were dedicating to him. I am attaching a copy of that editorial which is my estimate of Paul Caudill.

Most sincerely,
EUGENE ELLER,
EDITORIAL
Words and space are inadequate for me to give a full statement of my estimate of the life of my friend of the years. Brother R. Paul Caudill.
I remember him first as a lad in the majestic Blue Ridge mountains of North Carolina. He was handsome, clean, and consecrated, an ideal boy, he was my friend.
He was active in B. Y. P. U. I can see him now as he presided over the best union I have ever known. He was its president and he gave of his best in leadership. Those early associations with him will always be a blessing in my life. Through the years he has been a friend of Training Union, in his home church, in Mars Hill college, Wake Forest college, the Seminary, and as a pastor he has ever been loyal to this work.
To me his outstanding characteristics are his deep sincerity, his absolute consecration, his active prayer life, and his loyal de-

Noel Coward as Captain D in "In Which We Serve"

Noel Coward plays the part of the Skipper, Captain Kinross, in "In Which We Serve", a film written and produced by himself and dedicated to the Royal Navy, which is now showing at the Liberty Theatre thru United Artists release.

When you see Captain Kinross in action on the H. M. S. Torrin, the destroyer about which the story centers, you will notice that Captain D is written across his tin hat. Why? Because Captain D is the designation given to all leaders of a flotilla of destroyers.

votion to Christ at all times. No one was ever blessed with a truer, finer, more noble friend than I have in him. I can say of Paul what has been said about another Paul, "He is a man of the hour." But he is a man of the hour because he was a man before the hour. He will be a man after the hour, because he will remain a man during the hour. A man? Yes, what a man! He is a friend of man, a friend of God, a great scholar, a fearless preacher, but above all he is a great Christian. A Christian who is loyal, true, firm in his convictions, and a Christian who blesses the world by his life and ministry.
