Enemy Weapons Compared at Aberdeen, Md.

The foreign material branch of the ordnance department of the U. S. army has in its possession many enemy weapons that they have brought to this country for comparison purposes with our own weapons. At left, Lieut. Edwin Davis holds a shell at the breech of the "mystery" 88-mm. anti-aircraft and anti-tank gun that was talked about so much in the beginning of the war in Africa. Right: Colonel Jarrett holds a mortar for the German 81-mm. mortar, which almost compares with the American mortar in design.
