GOVERNOR BROUGHTON WITH GROUP VISITING COBLE PLANT

Governor J. Melville Broughton, the big man in the white suit near center of this picture, on Friday visited two of Wilkes county's most interesting and best known enterprises, the Coble Dairy Products company plant in Wilkesboro and Champion Poultry Farm at Champion. The picture above, including the party who accompanied the state's chief executive, was made on the lawn of the Coble plant in Wilkesboro after the Governor had gone through the plant while it was in operation. Left to right in the picture are: Dwight Nichols, editor of The Journal-Patriot and whose articles in the "Food For Freedom" edition attracted interest of the Governor to such an extent that he decided to visit the plant and poultry farm; J. B. Williams, local building and loan and insurance executive who was instrumental in having Mr. Coble to locate his big manufacturing plant in Wilkesboro; George S. Coble, president of Coble Dairy Products company; J. B. Snipes (behind Coble), Wilkes county agent whose work was highly peak ed by the Governor; Governor Broughton, Mrs. Broughton; Frank Buck, Coble company auditor and financial advisor; Capt. Jacob P. Mauney, of the U.S. army in charge of milk control for this territory; Ray Coltrane, general superintendent of Coble Dairy Products company; H. H. Cobb, superintendent of the Coble plant in Wilkesboro; Eddie Forester, egg drying department foreman. (Photo by H. Lee Waters).

More Pulpwood Is Needed

Journal-Patriot Enlists In U. S. Coupons Expire Pulpwood Drive

The Journal-Patriot has joined other weekly and daily newspapers of the na- expire on August 24th. tion in a campaign to aid the Government to help solve the serious pulpwood shortage situation.

It is the second time since Pearl Harbor that the nation's the new type at rationing board. newspapers have been called upon to overcome a serious wer material shortage.

Last fall it was the Newspapers United Scrap Metal Campaign, A that time scores of steel mills faced shutdowns for lack of vital materials. What the newspapers secomplished in that drive is his tory. The situation was saved with more than 6.000,000 tons of precious metal collected.

Now it is the pulpwood campaign and it is equally serious because hundreds of thousands of cords of the nation's pulpwood are required for war purposes.

The Victory Pulpwood Campaign was initiated by the War Production Board, with the cooperation of other Federal Departments, war agencies and industry. It is designed to relieve increasingly serious shortages in pnlpwood, the raw material which makes smokeless powder, reyon for parachutes, plastics for airplane parts, shell and bomb casings and shipping contamers for ammunition, foods, supplies, blood plasma and other necessities for our armed forces and our allies.

Last fail the weekly and daily press, responding to the call of Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, or ganized and conducted the memorable Newspaper Scrap Metal Drive Mr. Nelson described (Continued On Page Four)

Lentz, Scott FaceCharges Liquor Theft

Officials Are Charged With Responsibility For Shortage

Lieutenant W. B. Lentz, of Asheville, head of the state highway patrol in the western division of the state. and Guy Scott, an agent of the State Bureau of Investigation, were indicted by the grand jury in Wilkes court this week on charges of larceny and receiving in connection with the alleged disappearance of $3,000 worth of seized liquor, and for violation of the prohibition

The two high officials of law enforcement agencies are charged with larceny and receiving of a total of 90 cases of expensive liquor, which were alleged to have been part of 697 cases of tax paid liquor seized at Phillip Yates' home near Purlear on June 1, this year. After the true bills were returned by the grand jury, Judge J. Will Ples, Jr., who is presiding Dealers To Register over court, ordered that capias he issued for Lt. Lentz and Scott and that bonds be fixed at $500 each. l Highway patrolmen and SBI agents raided Yates' premises on June 1 and made the wholesale seizure of liquor, which Yates said was worth $40,000 and consisted of almost 700 cases. The liquor was turned over to the county commissioners and the inventory showed only 609 cases.

Newspaper stories of an alleged shortage in the amount of liquor attracted much attention.

On opening day of Wilkes court Judge Pless called attention to the reports and instructed the grand jury, of which E. M. Blackburn was foreman, to make a thorough investion and report to the ecurt.

Solicitor Avaion E. Hall, who Lad done much preliminary work No New Rationing had done much property, sent to investigating the reports, sent to he grand jury blank bills of indictment and the names of about 25 witnesses to be called before the grand jury for questioning. (Continued on Page Four)
