The proposal to ban sales of beer and wine from 11:30 Saturday nights to seven a. m. Monday mornings has been presented to county and city boards of commissioners in resolutions from local and rural churches. It is expected that the resolution supporting the proposed ban will be presented before the entire club on Friday evening this week. It was reported in the directors meeting that 20,000 cigarettes have been shipped to soldiers in North Africa and that the next shipment will go to the Solomon Islands. ENEMY FIGHTS BITTER BATTLE TO HOLD AREA

Allied Headquarters in the Southwest Pacific, Thursday. —Japanese in two strongly dug in positions south and southeast of the Salamaua, New Guinea, airdrome finally have been overwhelmed by American and Australian jungle fighters now closing in on the enemy base. Several days ago, Allied forces approaching the airfield from the west and southwest, supported by artillery, were reported within rifle range but today's communique was the first in more than a week to tell of an advance along the coast. The communique did not elaborate on the Salamaua showdown battle but a spokesman for Gen. Douglas MacArthur said Japanese rearguards were contesting from long prepared positions the forward-moving Americans and Australians. From ridge positions overlooking Salamaua, Allied artillery commands most of the enemy's defenses.

TASK FORCES THRUST HINTS MAJOR ACTION

American air and sea powers struck a blow yesterday at Marcus Island, 1,000 miles from the Japanese mainland, in a daring thrust that may herald another air attack on Tokyo and the opening of a mighty offensive across the Pacific. The long-dormant Central Pacific exploded with fury at dawn when wave upon wave of American planes and big guns from an apparent huge carrier task force blasted the heavily fortified Japanese outpost in the second attack on that base since Pearl Harbor.

Double Blackout Well Done Here

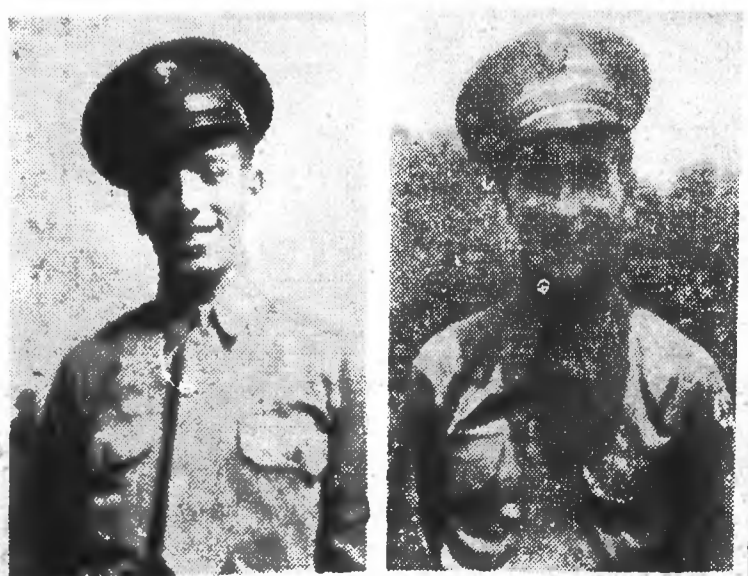

Last Night the District Headquarters of Civilian Defense Sprang a Double Blackout Maneuver over a Great Part of the State.

After the alert signal, the danger signal and complete blackout, the return to alert status was sounded and instead of the all-clear as might be expected the danger signal came on again for another complete blackout, which means that in case of a real raid the enemy planes would have been returning or there would have been a new wave of bombers. The maneuver was well carried out here, in spite of the fact that many people did not understand the many signals in consecutive blackouts.
